OBREGON ARRESTS BONILLAS, BARRAGAN AND TWELVE OTHERS

Leaders Who Were with Carranza When Killed Are Put in Prison.

BROUGHT WITH CHIEF'S BODY

DE LA HUERTA IS PRESIDENT

Elected Ad Interim Chief Over Gonzalez—Herrera Slew Carranza for Vengeance.

MEXICO CITY, May 24 (Associated Press).—The body of President Venustiano Carranza, who was killed at Tlaxalantongo Thursday morning, arrived here at 5:30 o'clock this morning, and the funeral was held at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Only a few people were at the station when the train arrived as a result of several false announcements which had disappointed waiting crowds. George T. Summerlin, Chargé d'Affaires at the United States Embassy, was among the foreign diplomats who escorted the body from the station to the Carranza home.

Several persons, including Ignacio Bonillas, were taken early this morning from the train bearing Carranza's body and lodged in the military prison of Santiago Tlaltetongo.

Others were Manuel Berlanga, Paulino Fontes and Generals Barragan, Murguia, Mariel, Montes, Gonzales, Sanchez, Meyra, Perez, Villela, Urquizo and Alcocer.

Louis Cabrera was not on the train.

Herrera Tale of Carranza Suicide.

According to a telegram given out this afternoon at the headquarters of General Gonzales, President Carranza committed suicide rather than be taken prisoner. It purports to have been sent from Cerro Azul, State of Puebla, on the morning of May 20, by Colonel Rodolfo Herrera, who, previous reports stated, was responsible for Senor Carranza's death.

Adolfo de la Huerta, Governor of Sonora, was named President ad interim of Mexico by the extraordinary session of Congress this evening. He received 224 votes against 28 for Pablo Gonzales. General Antonio Villareal was the only other candidate.

After one hour and a half of balloting Governor de la Huerta received the necessary two-thirds majority.

The new incumbent holds office under the "Agua Prieta Plan," and has already postponed the Presidential elections from July 24 to Sept. 5, under authority of the "Agua Prieta Plan," which makes him Supreme Chief of the Liberal Constitutional Army.

EL PASO, May 24.—Roberto Pesqueira, Border Representative of the Revolutionary Government of Mexico, received tonight a dispatch from General Obregon telling of the arrest of those Mexicans who were with Carranza when he was assassinated. Ignacio Bonillas, former Ambassador to Washington; Paulino Fontes, former Director General of Railroads; General Francisco L. Urquizo, General Manuel A. Berlanga, General Francisco Mariel, General Bruno Neira and Citizen Gerjain Ugarte.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, May 23.—Congressman David Vilchis, who arrived at Obregon's headquarters this morning (Sunday) from Villa Juarez, near which Carranza was killed, has given THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent an account of events up to May 18, two days before the murder of the President.

Señor Vilchis made a report to General Obregon, who expresses great bitterness toward the men who failed to save the President. "Poor Carranza, he deserved a better fate," Obregon remarked several times during his interview with Vilchis, at which your correspondent was present.

Says Mariel Vouched for Herrera.

"I had an opportunity of talking with General Mariel in Cuautempan and also at another town named Totomoaltla. In both places General Mariel was advised by people living in the mountains or accompanying Carranza that it was known that Colonel Lindoro Hernandez, Lieut. Colonel Balderrama and General Rodolfo Herrera had joined the revolutionary movement, and that Carranza should not make the trip through this district, where these soldiers, once under command of General Mariel, were located.

"Although this advice was given to Mariel several times, he insisted that Carranza make the trip as proposed, although he knew that the men named were not loyal to Carranza.

"In Cuautempan, Carranza called a conference to decide on the route to be taken and also to inquire into the assistance of Mariel, to proceed as planned.

"General Mariel, in order to assure Carranza that the trip would be safe, said that these men had joined the new movement with his consent in order to secure arms and ammunition.

"Colonel Barrios advised both Mariel and Dr. Cabrera, who accompanied Carranza, that Hernandez and Herrera had revolted and advised them to be careful. Mariel again insisted that there was nothing to fear, as Hernandez and Herrera were working in agreement with him.

"All this was known to Congressman

Obregon Assures Wilson He Desires Our Friendship

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Assurances were given to the White House today by Luis M. Morones, Secretary of the Mexican Labor Party, that the revolutionists desire the most harmonious relations with the United States. Señor Morones called at the White House, accompanied by Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, who introduced him to Secretary Tumulty.

Morones left with Secretary Tumulty a message addressed to President Wilson, prepared by General Alvaro Obregon, assuring the President that the revolutionary régime contemplates the most harmonious relations with this country, and it was supplemented by certain verbal representations which Morones delivered by direction of Obregon.

Morones asserted that the revolutionists were not in any way responsible for the assassination of Carranza, and that explicit orders have been given by General Obregon that Carranza should not be harmed.

X. CONDITION OF THE COUNTRY.

When we speak of Mexico and of the absurd things which occur there, many people imagine that that country is a half-savage nation whose normal condition is a state of violent revolution; a nation, in short, that has no conception of the duties of civilized peoples.

Those who hold this opinion of Mexico are wholly mistaken, though their error is not at all surprising. All nations, however advanced they may be, always misunderstand the real character of the neighbors across their frontiers. It would seem that nations feel in duty bound to misunderstand and slander one another. It is not strange, then, that Mexico should be misunderstood. The Mexicans, themselves, and I include among them the ruling classes, also lack a proper understanding of foreign countries.

It may be stated that Mexico is as civilized as any of the other countries of Spanish-speaking America; but she has been extraordinarily unfortunate.

The history of Mexico during the last fifty years may be summarized as follows: those who tried to civilize her either did not know how or else did not care to complete their work; and their successors not only failed to complete the work of civilization, but, blinded by political fanaticism, they destroyed a great deal of what their predecessors had accomplished.

I have never been an admirer of Porfirio Diaz. He was simply a tyrant. The peace that he maintained for thirty years was secured by wholesale executions, ordered without due process of law, and by violations of the liberties of the individual. During his thirty years of rule he caused the death, by secret and underhanded ways, of more people, perhaps, than have fallen in all the battles of revolution. Moreover, although with his dictatorial powers he could have given a great impetus to public education in his illiterate country, he preferred to keep the people ignorant. Politically and spiritually, the long reign of Porfirio Diaz was a misfortune for Mexico; but we must admit, in all justice, that so far as material progress goes, Mexico never had another ruler that could compare with this m. .

SMITH APPROVES 2.75 BEER BILL, MAKING IT LAW

SAYS EXPERTS ARE DIVIDED

But He Accepts Legislative Declaration That Such Beer Is Non-Intoxicating.

RESTAURANTS CAN SELL

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, May 24.—New York State declared today for 2.75 per cent. beer by weight when Governor Smith, subscribing to the action of the Legislature in passing the beer bill, approved the measure.

"If representative democratic government means anything, it surely means that when a substantial majority of both houses makes its declaration upon a matter of this sort, it is representative of the majority sentiment of the State," the Governor declared in signing the measure.

The bill, introduced by Senator James J. Walker, minority leader of the upper house, permits the manufacture and sale of 2.75 per cent. beer, not to be drunk on the premises except in restaurants in first and second class cities, and then only with meals. It defines a restaurant as having at least 600 feet of floor space and accommodations for forty guests. Restaurants in New York City will be required to pay a tax of $500 for selling the beverage which the law declares is "non-intoxicating."

Druggists selling liquor on doctors' prescriptions are taxed $10 a year; wholesale liquor dealers, $250 a year; manufacturers, 10 cents a barrel; 10 cents a gallon when the percentage of alcohol is between 3 and 14 per cent; 20 cents a gallon when it is between 14 and 21 per cent., and 50 cents a gallon when over 21 per cent.

"In January, 1919," declared the Governor, "the Legislature of this State ratified the Eighteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution, which amendment was commonly known as the amendment providing for prohibition. One year later the same Senate and the Assembly, under the identical leadership, has now declared beer containing 2.75 per cent alcohol by weight to be non-intoxicating.

"In the opinions of experts laid before me there is a sharp division of opinion, those declaring it to be intoxicating being about equal in number with those declaring it to be non-intoxicating, and I feel that I am placed in the position of having before me the legislative declaration that such beer is non-intoxicating. If representative democratic government means anything, it surely means that when a substantial majority of both houses makes its declaration upon a matter of this sort, it is representative of the majority sentiment of the State.

"In the absence of anything concrete and definite upon which I could predicate reasons for disagreement with the legislative declaration, I feel that this bill should be approved."

Midnight tonight ended the thirty-day period after adjournment of the Legislature in which the Governor could act on legislative bills passed. He has approved since the start of the session about 1,000 new laws, and still has quite a number which will be included in his omnibus veto, which will be made public tomorrow, together with action on the remaining appropriation bills before him.

No "Kick" in Beer Here Yet.

Broadwayites who expected that the signing of the 2.75 beer bill by Governor Smith would have an immediate effect in putting a "kick" into the beverages that are being handed out in hotels, cabarets and saloons under the name of beer were disappointed last night when they tried to find some of the "real stuff." Everywhere the same tasteless, flat one-half of 1 per cent. variety was being served.

"There are ten reasons why we are not serving any 2.75," said one cabaret manager. "Nine of them are that we cannot get any. The other doesn't matter."

Wartime prohibition is still an obstacle to the sale of 2.75 beer, one saloon owner pointed out. "Until the Government decides that the war is over the brewers can't make any beer, anyway."

Three Artists "Do" Hoover at One Time To the Delight of the Publicity Men

Herbert Hoover, former Food Administrator, according to an announcement sent out from his headquarters last night, gave simultaneous sittings yesterday forenoon to three noted illustrators. Publicity purveyors for other Presidential booms showed unusual interest and admitted that Mr. Hoover had done something that probably no other candidate for the Presidential nomination ever had attempted.

At the headquarters of Mr. Hoover in the Grand Central Palace it was intimated earlier in the day that a noted sculptor and three noted illustrators would take advantage of the brief period Mr. Hoover had consented to remain stationary. It was also suggested that the novel scene might be filmed. There was nothing in the announcement made later to indicate whether the sculptor and the camera man had been on the job while Mr. Hoover sat for his portrait.

"Herbert Hoover," this bulletin read, "has consented to tear himself away from his work as head of the Administration of American Relief long enough to sit for his portrait to three famous artists. In the studio of Miss Neysa McMein, at 57 West Fifty-seventh Street, this morning he bravely faced the brushes and pencils of Miss McMein, Charles Dana Gibson and James Montgomery Flagg. It took energetic persuasion to get him to do it. Mr. Hoover protested that he had had his 'picture taken' only four years ago."

Efforts to communicate with Miss McMein and Messrs. Gibson and Flagg last night were unavailing.

Johnson's Lead in Oregon Over Wood Drops Now to 872

PORTLAND, Ore., May 24.—Returns from the State primary election held Friday, as compiled by the Oregonian tonight, gave Senator Johnson a margin of 872 votes over General Wood for the Republican Presidential preference.

The vote included complete unofficial returns from fourteen of the larger counties and incomplete returns for mail but one of the remaining twenty-one. The totals were: Johnson, 42,049; Wood, 41,177; Lowden, 15,053; Hoover, 14,828.

This was a loss of 521 from the early night lead of 1,393, as compiled from returns to The Portland Telegram from thirty-five out of the thirty-six counties.

The count is far from complete in several counties, although most of the counties with large populations have completed the unofficial canvass.

ELIOT SAYS SOCIETY RESISTS DRY LAWS

RAPS DRINKERS AT HARVARD

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, May 24.—Dr. Charles W. Eliot, President emeritus of Harvard University, stirred his big audience to applause at the annual meeting of the Unitarian Temperance Society today when he charged that so-called "good society" was the element that was furnishing a large part of the resistance to the prohibition amendment and that by its tactics it was "teaching lawlessness to our youth.

Dr. Eliot also charged that there was much drinking among Harvard students, and added that "the young women of our community evidently do not object to meeting the students when they are woozy."

"They meet these young men," he said, "at balls and such affairs given by our matrons who to all appearances countenance this sort of thing. And I know whereof I speak by reason of my intimate knowledge of the Harvard undergraduate body."

In the audience of more than 1,000 men and women were hundreds of Greater Boston's "best people," but his statements were frequently interrupted by applause.

Dr. Eliot made a strong plea to the members of the temperance society to work with the voters, the Legislatures and Congress to halt forever the sale of liquor, including beer and wines. Even beer and wines, he said, were unsafe.

"The existing prohibitory laws can be enforced," he declared. "State prohibition laws were difficult of enforcement because there was unlimited manufacture and sale in neighboring States, but under national prohibition the question is not whether the law can be enforced; the question is whether it shall be.

"In the South there has been an enormous change of sentiment in favor of prohibition on the part of men who until very recently were totally indifferent or strenuously opposed. Their present opinion in favor of prohibition comes from their own observation of the improvement to all classes.

"These so-called 'best people,' who are doing so much to interfere with the prohibition enforcement, are causing a great deal of trouble in nearly all parts of the country, and they are teaching lawlessness, especially to the young men of the country."

Dr. Eliot outlined ways in which employers of labor and social workers in hospitals, churches and charity organizations can help the temperance cause by disseminating knowledge of the harmful effects of liquor and by emphasizing the generally improved conditions which, he said, have resulted in consequence of the passage of the Eighteenth Amendment.

POLES HOLD REDS, ATTACKING IN WAVES

Warsaw Reports the Fiercest Battle for Months on a Ninety-Mile Front.

WARSAW, May 23 (By Associated Press).—The Bolsheviki are attacking in waves on the northern fighting front in a thrust to break the Polish lines and open communication with East Prussia. The fiercest fighting in months is raging along the ninety-mile battlefield. Villages are changing hands daily, and the lines are swaying to and fro.

The fighting has mostly been infantry encounters through the open swampy country. The latest official statement says that the Bolsheviki were thrown back at most places in a two-day battle, suffering heavy losses in men killed.

The fighting spirit of the Poles was stimulated by the finding of the bodies of Polish soldiers who, it is declared, had been wounded and then killed by the Bolsheviki with rifle butts. The Bolsheviki were aided in the fighting by aviators, two of whom were brought down by Polish fliers. The Bolsheviki also brought up armored trains. All the trains on this front are reported to be officered by Germans with many trained machine gunners.

Since the Bolshevist offensive began twelve divisions have been identified among the reinforcements constantly appearing. The Bolshevist division numbers about 4,000 men.

Dvinsk, one of the objectives of the Bolsheviki, is a railroad junction on the Dvina, whose capture would give the Bolsheviki a direct rail line to East Prussia across Lithuania.

$414,984 SPENT IN LOWDEN FIGHT; JOHNSON $72,000

PROCTER AS WOOD "ANGEL"

SENATORS QUIZ HITCHCOCK

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The cost of getting delegates to the nominating conventions of the two leading political parties was disclosed to some extent today by testimony given before the Senate committee investigating the preconvention campaign expenditures of all the Presidential candidates. It was the committee's first session.

The inquiry started off with promise of interesting developments. Rapid progress was made with respect to some of the candidates, whose representatives appeared armed with facts and figures showing contributions and expenditures in detail. As to General Leonard Wood, however, the committee got comparatively little information, for the reason that none of his managers who had to do with finances was on the stand.

Summarized, the first day of the investigation disclosed these things:

Governor Frank O. Lowden's campaign has cost to date $414,984, of which the Governor personally contributed $379,159.

Senator Hiram Johnson's campaign has been financed with $72,000, except as to California and Oregon, figures on which were not available.

Governor Cox of Ohio spent about $22,000, of which $10,000 was used in Kentucky, the only State outside of his own in which Mr. Cox made a fight for delegates.

Senator Howard Sutherland's supporters collected and spent less than $500 until General Wood invaded the Senator's home State, West Virginia, when additional expenditures of about $3,750 were incurred.

Names Lowden Contributor.

The testimony concerning Governor Lowden's campaign fund was by far the most illuminating of the day. It was given by Lewis L. Emerson, Secretary of State of Illinois and the Governor's campaign manager. Mr. Emerson said at the outset that the Governor determined when he entered the race for the Presidential nomination that he would pay for his own campaign very largely.

"All but $35,885 of the money used for Lowden came to me in the form of checks signed either by the Governor or his wife," said Mr. Emerson. "Not a dollar was raised outside Illinois. When I needed money I sent over to the Governor and he gave it to me, $25,000 or $50,000 at a time."

The $35,885 was contributed, Mr. Emerson said, in sums ranging from $75 to $2,500. He submitted to the committee a list of contributors, as follows:

E. L. Call, editor	$75	W. B. Wilson	1,000
A. Kelly	500	W. Wrigley, Jr.	1,000
A. J. Miller	500	W. L. Brown	1,000
H. L. Sunny	500	S. H. Strawn	1,500
D. R. McLennan	500	G. M. Reynolds	1,500
D. F. Shanahan	500	James Deering	2,000
O. Logan	750	J. A. Patten	2,500
B. A. Eckhart	1,000	Samuel Insull	2,500
F. W. Lawson	1,000	C. G. Dawes	2,500
C. T. Boynton	1,000	F. W. Upham	2,500
J. A. Spoor	1,000	W. H. Wilson	2,500
R. D. S. Butler	1,000	Lemuel Small	2,500
C. T. Wheeler	1,000	S. C. Curtis	2,500
A. W. Cutten	1,000

Mr. Emerson said that from the Lowden fund these amounts were distributed in various States:

Georgia, $9,000, to Henry Lincoln Johnson, a negro politician, who is leading a contest against the Wood delegation there.
Alabama, $1,000.
Oklahoma, $7,500.
Texas, $5,000.
South Dakota, $9,788.
Michigan, $39,141.86.
Wisconsin, $7,800.
Oregon, $11,000.
North Dakota, $3,000.
Indiana, $18,000.
Illinois, $5,983.
Missouri, $38,008.

Read Asks of Missouri Methods.

"Who got the money in Missouri?" asked Senator Reed.

"E. L. Morse of Excelsior Springs got some of it," replied Mr. Emerson.

Senator Reed then asked a series of questions which brought out the fact that no advertising for Governor Lowden was used, and that there was no campaign of speechmaking, such as was conducted in States having primaries. The work was done through small caucuses, it developed. Senators were greatly interested in finding out, if possible, just how the $38,000 was expended, in view of the absence of the usual features of a campaign.

"I wonder what you did with that $38,000," Senator Reed said.

"It was used to stir up interest in Governor Lowden's candidacy, in the various counties, I suppose," said Mr. Emerson.

He said that Robert Moore of St. Louis received $2,500 of the Lowden fund.

"Is that the usual price?" asked Senator Reed.

"A little under," said Senator Spen-

Big Constantinople Meeting Denounces Treaty; Demands Revision Based on Wilson Principles

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 24 (Associated Press.)—"We shall never consent to be separated from Thrace and Smyrna, with their historical monuments. The cross shall never be raised over our mosques. We believe in the Wilsonian principles and are confident that adequate application of them will be made eventually," said Fatima Hanem, a woman teacher, who swept aside her black veil and addressed an open-air mass meeting today in the park adjoining the Mosque of St. Sofia.

President Sodjar Assimavnu of the Turkish Islamic Academy declared:

"We shall never be governed by the cross. The crescent will always remain aloft despite the broken sword.

"We can repulse the Bolsheviki, but we hope the great powers will do us the justice to help us in that fight. We trust that there will be modifications of the unjust treaty. If there are not, I prefer to see the red flag tinged with black."

Resolutions were adopted declaring that the annexation of Thrace and Smyrna by Greece constitutes a violation of the principles of President Wilson, and that the independence of Turkey is nullified by the treaty terms.

The resolutions conclude with an expression of the firm belief that Europe will realize the injustice done Turkey and grant such modifications that Turkey will not be made to suffer to a greater degree than Germany and Austria.

The meeting was attended by about 5,000 Turks of all classes.

PARIS, May 24.—A trackwalker on the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean Railroad was trudging along a hundred miles south of Paris last night. It was a few minutes before midnight. The air was chill. The moon had gone down. Down the track toward him came a white figure.

The figure drew nearer. The trackwalker—Lotty was his name—saw that it was a man of slight build, clad in silk pajamas and limping. He swung his little lantern high and gazed upon the face, half covered with blood and topped with matted gray hair. Then the trackwalker's strange nocturnal visitor said:

"I am Deschanel. I was in the Presidential train and I fell off on the track. It may surprise you, but I am Deschanel, President of the Republic."

The night worker told the man that he was crazy. The figure in pajamas asked Lotty to take him to the nearest guard post, regardless of his mental state, and side by side the overall-clad figure of the track walker and the pajama-clad figure of the man who said he was Deschanel walked northward toward the little station of Lorey. The workman had his right arm beneath the left arm of his charge and with the other hand he swung his little lantern to show the smoothest path.

In the meanwhile the Presidential train, which had left Paris at 9:20 o'clock bearing M. Deschanel to Montbrison on an official visit, sped south. From the window of the President's car a green curtain fluttered in the night wind.

Suite Ignored Warning.

At St. Germain des Fosses, where the train arrived just before 8 o'clock, a message was brought by the station master. It had been sent from Montargis and read that "a man who says he is Deschanel fell from the train near Lorey." But the members of the President's entourage informed the station master that there must be some mistake, that no one was missing from the Presidential train.

To make sure, they looked in all the compartments until they came to that of M. Deschanel. It was remembered that the President had left word not to call him until 7 o'clock, and so his compartment was not searched.

The train reached Roanne at 7 o'clock, and M. Deschanel's valet went to wake him. He opened the President's compartment. The President was gone. His bed was disturbed and the window was open. Through it waved in the wind the green curtain.

Consternation spread. Some one remembered the message from St. Germain and it dawned upon the consciousness of the President's suite that it might indeed have been he who was found, pajama clad, upon the tracks some hundreds of kilometers to the north seven hours before.

Just after 8 o'clock Mme. Deschanel was at breakfast in the Elysée when the telephone bell rang. She answered and heard the voice of her husband, telling her that he had had an accident.

GENERAL RAIL TIEUP MENACES IRELAND

Union Will Order Walkout Should Dismissals Follow Refusal to Move Munitions Train.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

DUBLIN, May 24.—A general strike of railwaymen is threatened in Ireland.

The crisis arises out of the refusal of railwaymen to handle the railway luggage containing military stores which was unloaded by soldiers from a ship in Kingstown harbor yesterday morning.

It is stated that two engine drivers refused to draw the train, which was destined for Cork, and that if they are dismissed all the railway workers will strike.

Men on the Great Southern and Western Railway Line held a meeting and ordered the drivers on that line to refuse to draw any military train. The matter was referred to fully at the Kingstown Railway meeting, at which Bassington, Secretary of the Northwest of England Branch of the National Union of Railwaymen, who is on an organising tour, was present. James Berringham, Secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen in Ireland, and other prominent officials also were present. Bassington said that if the Government used troops in England or Ireland to convey these munitions, and if when members of the trade unions refused to carry them the government should announce that they would do without railwaymen and would get soldiers to do it, he would reply: "All right, and you will have to get your soldiers to manufacture them too."

Hennessy, a member of the Irish Executive Committee of the National Union of Railwaymen, declared that the "triple alliance" had passed a resolution that members of the Railway Union were not to touch munitions or anything like that for Poland. Now they had munitions coming to Kingstown. If munitions were handled by British workers to prevent them being taken out to Poland for the purpose of sacrificing lives, they in Ireland also claimed the right to determine munitions were not to be distributed about Ireland to sacrifice lives.

The holdup of the military train at Kingstown continues. No engines have arrived from Dublin and none is expected unless worked by the military.

The railwaymen who refused on Sunday to draw the train were brought before the Superintendent in Dublin, but nothing has transpired so far, and it is quite uncertain what may happen. Possibly the military may remove the stores from the railway cars and convey them to Cork in motor lorries, and thus the impending crisis may be averted.

BALLINAMORE, County Leitrim, May 24 (Associated Press).—After three men had been caught raiding a house near here for arms on Saturday and remanded to the Sligo jail the engine driver of the train on which the police intended to transport the men declined to move the train.

The police were forced to keep the prisoners here until Sunday, when a military lorry was sent for. Every road into Ballinamore was then barricaded with trees or stone obstructions, and the lorry had great difficulty getting into and out of the town.

MESSAGE SENT TO CONGRESS

President's Proposal Received in Silence by Legislators

GENERAL VIEW UNFAVORABLE

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—President Wilson sent a special message to Congress today, urging that it grant to the Executive power to accept for the United States a mandate over Armenia. Congress was at the same time informed by the President that he considered it his duty to accept the task of arbitrating the difficult question of the boundaries between Turkey and Armenia.

The President's course follows the action of the Senate earlier this month in passing a resolution expressing the hope that the Armenian people would attain full realization of their nationalistic aspirations, and requesting the President to send a warship with marines to the Georgian port of Batum for the protection of American lives and property. It was almost at the same time that the President received the invitation, framed by the allied Premiers in the San Remo Conference, definitely appealing to the American Government to accept a mandate for Armenia, and inviting the President, regardless of the mandate invitation, to determine the Armenian boundaries by arbitration. Announcement was made on Saturday that the President had accepted the invitation to arbitrate.

No action was taken in either branch of Congress today on the President's message, beyond referring the communication to the respective Committees on Foreign Relations and Foreign Affairs. Careful canvass of the Congressional situation indicates that Congress will not grant the authority sought by the President for the exercise of a mandate. Every indication is that Congress is not at this time disposed to undertake the cost and responsibilities of the undertaking involved in the critical choice the President has asked Congress to make.

It is not believed that the President has any real hope or expectation that Congress will favor an Armenian mandate, but this has not deterred him from his determination to do his utmost to try to persuade Congress that this country should undertake the responsibility of endeavoring in definite and practical fashion to aid the Armenians to work out their salvation.

Senators for the most part received the President's message in silence. A few Republicans commented on it, all of them adversely, but even in that party the disposition was to wait until the message had been carefully read before discussing it.

Some Democrats Oppose Acceptance

Democratic Senators would not be quoted on the question. Privately some of them expressed their opposition to acceptance of a mandate by the United States. They said the country does not desire it, and will be even less in favor of it when it realizes what the undertaking would cost.

Senator Underwood, the Democratic leader said he had not had time to read the message. "And, even if he had, would, probably have no comment."

Senator Lodge, Republican leader, said that the Foreign Relations Committee naturally would take up the message, but did not fix any date for its consideration.

"The United States won't assume a mandate for Armenia," said Senator Poindexter, of Washington. "The people of this country are against it. Congress will not commit the country to such a colossal undertaking without submitting it the country."

Senator Borah of Idaho said:

"I do not care to discuss at this time the question of a mandate of Armenia on its merits. I only desire to say that, before America even considers the question of a mandate at all, England and France should restore to Armenia the territory and resources without which to take Armenia would be like taking a poorhouse. I think it is perfectly unconscionable to strip Armenia as it has been stripped, and then turn it over to be looked after by another nation. Armenia would always be a foundling under present conditions."

Wilson Cites Senate Resolution.

Here is the President's message:

"Gentlemen of the Congress:

"On the 14th of May an official communication was received at the Executive office from the Secretary of the Senate of the United States, conveying the following preambles and resolutions:

"Whereas, the testimony adduced at the hearings conducted by the sub-committee of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations has clearly established the truth of the repeated massacres and other atrocities from weigh the Armenian people have suffered; and

Whereas, the people of the United States are deeply depressed by the deplorable conditions of insecurity, starvation and misery now prevalent in Armenia; and

Whereas, the independence of the Republic of Armenia has been duly recognized by the Supreme Council of the Peace Conference and by the Government of the United States of America; therefore be it

Resolved, that the sincere congratulations of the Senate of the United States are hereby extended to the people of Armenia on the recognition of the independence of the Republic of Armenia, without prejudice respecting the territorial boundaries involved; and be it further

Resolved, that the Senate of the United States hereby expresses the hope that stable government, proper protection of nationalistic aspirations may soon be attained by the Armenian people; and be it further

Resolved, that in order to afford necessary protection for the lives and property of citizens of the United States at the port of Batum and along the line of the railroad leading to Baku, the President is hereby requested, if not incompatible with the public interest, to cause a United States warship and a force of marines to be dispatched to such port, with instructions to such marines to disembark and protect American lives and property.

"I received and read this document with great interest and with genuine gratification, not only because it embodied my own convictions and feelings with regard to Armenia and its people, but also, and more particularly, because it seemed to me the voice of the American people, expressing their genuine convictions and deep Christian sympathies and intimating the line of duty which seemed to them to lie clearly before us.

Sees Allies' Note as Providential.

"I cannot but regard it as providential, and not as a mere casual coincidence, that almost at the same time I received information that the conference of statesmen then sitting at San Remo, for the purpose of working out the details of peace with the Central Powers which it was not feasible to work out in the conference at Paris, had formally resolved to address a definite appeal to this Government to accept a mandate for Armenia. They were at pains to add that they did this 'not for the smallest desire to evade any obligations which they might be expected to undertake, but because the responsibilities which they are already obliged to bear in connection with the disposition of the former Ottoman Empire will strain their capacities to the uttermost, and because they believe that the appearance on the scene of a power emancipated from the preposessions of the Old World will inspire a wider confidence and afford a firmer guarantee for stability in the future than would the selection of any European power.

"Early in the conferences at Paris it was agreed that, to those colonies and territories which, as a consequence of the late war, have ceased to be under the sovereignty of the States which formerly governed them, and which are inhabited by peoples not yet able to stand by themselves under the strenuous conditions of the modern world, there should be applied the principle that the well-being and development of such peoples form a sacred trust of civilization, and that securities for the performance of this trust should be afforded.

"It was recognized that certain communities, formerly belonging to the Turkish Empire, have reached a stage of development where their existence as independent nations can be provisionally recognized, subject to the rendering of administrative advice and assistance by a mandatary until such time as they are able to stand alone.

"It is in pursuance of this principle, and with a desire of affording Armenia such advice and assistance, that the statesmen conferring at San Remo have formally requested this Government to assume the duties of mandatary in Armenia.

He Has Agreed to Arbitrate Boundaries.

"I may add, for the information of the Congress, that at the same sitting it was resolved to request the President of the United States to undertake to arbitrate the difficult question of the boundary between Turkey and Armenia and the vilayets of Erzerum, Trebizond, Van and Bitlis, and it was agreed to accept his decision thereupon, as well as any stipulation he may prescribe as to access to the sea for the independent state of Armenia.

"In pursuance of this action it was resolved to embody in the treaty with Turkey, now under final consideration, a provision that Turkey and Armenia and the other high contracting parties agree to refer to the arbitration of the President of the United States of America the question of the boundary between Turkey and Armenia in the vilayets of Erzerum, Trebizond, Van and Bitlis, and to accept his decision thereupon, as well as any stipulations he may prescribe as to access to the sea for the independent state of Armenia; pending that decision, the boundaries of Turkey and Armenia to remain as at present.

"I have thought it my duty to accept this difficult and delicate task.

"In response to the invitation of the Council at San Remo, I urgently advise and request that the Congress grant the executive power to accept for the United States a mandate over Armenia. I make this suggestion in the earnest belief that it will be the wish of the people of the United States that this should be done.

Asks Congress To Meet People's Hope.

"The sympathy with Armenia has proceeded from no single portion of our people, but has come with extraordinary spontaneity and sincerity from the whole of the great body of Christian men and women in this country, by whose free-will offerings Armenia has practically been saved at the most critical juncture of its existence. At their hearts, this great and generous people have made the cause of Armenia their own.

"It is to this people and to their Government that the hopes and earnest expectations of the struggling people of Armenia turn as they now emerge from a period of indescribable suffering and peril, and I hope that the Congress will think it wise to meet this hope and expectation with the utmost liberality. I know from unmistakable evidence, given by responsible representatives of many peoples struggling toward independence and peaceful life again, that the Government of the United States is looked to with extraordinary trust and confidence, and I believe that it would do nothing less than arrest the hopeful processes of civilization if we were to refuse the request to become the helpful friends and advisers of such of these people as we may be authoritatively and formally requested to guide and assist.

President Aware He Urges "Critical" Step.

"I am conscious that I am urging upon the Congress a very critical choice, but I make the suggestion in the confidence that I am speaking in the spirit and in accordance with the wishes of the greatest of the Christian peoples. The sympathy for Armenia among our people has sprung from untainted consciences, pure Christian faith and an earnest desire to see Christian people everywhere succored in their time of suffering and lifted from their abject subjection and distress and enabled to stand upon their feet and take their place among the free nations of the world. Our recognition of the independence of Armenia will mean genuine liberty and assured happiness for her people, if we fearlessly undertake the duties of guidance and assistance involved in the functions of a mandatary.

"It is, therefore, with the most earnest hopefulness, and with the feeling that I am giving advice from which the Congress will not willingly turn away, that I urge the acceptance of the invitation now formally and solemnly extended to us by the Council at San Remo, into whose hands has passed the difficult task of composing the many complexities and difficulties of Government in the one-time Ottoman Empire, and the maintenance of order and tolerable conditions of life in those portions of that empire which it is no longer possible in the interest of civilization to leave under the Government of the Turkish authorities themselves."

Estimates as to Cost of Taking Mandate.

The cost of undertaking an Armenian mandate, it was explained in official quarters today, would depend on the conditions existing at the time of the mandate, if that were undertaken, and depend also on the size of the territory yet to be determined as belonging to Armenia. The report of the American Military Mission to Armenia, headed by Major Gen. James G. Harbord, as submitted to the Senate by President Wilson on April 13, 1920, stated, reasons both for and against the acceptance of a mandate for the Near East. General Harbord then declared that estimates of the number of mandatory troops varied greatly from 25,000 to 200,000 men. Conditions change so rapidly, he said, that plans made at the time the report was prepared (Oct. 16, 1919) might be "obsolete in six months."

Under conditions as they existed in October, General Harbord estimated that a force of two American Divisions, with several hundred extra officers, or a total force of 59,000 men, would be ample. This force, he said, should include an airplane squadron, a regiment of artillery, four regiments of cavalry and other units. This force might be substantially reduced at the end of two years, and reduced to one division at the end of three years.

The annual cost for the force of such an army General Harbord estimated as $88,500,000 for the first year, $59,000,000 for the second year and $44,250,000 for the third year.

Besides the cost of the army and navy, the Harbord report estimated that a mandate for a large Armenia would cost many millions more for general government, communications, railroads, relief, repatriation, education and sanitation. The total cost was estimated by General Harbord as being $756,014,000, of which $213,500,000 would represent the cost for the first year, $174,264,000 the second year, $123,750,000 the third year, $86,750,000 the fourth year and $85,750,000 the fifth year. This cost, he said, would have to be borne by the United States, less such amount as Turkish and Transcaucasian revenues could afford. General Harbord estimated it would take five years to put the country into order and that if the United States undertook the task it would "be involved in this adventure for at least a generation."

These were among the reasons advanced in the Harbord report against the mandate. Strong reasons, however, were also advanced in favor of the mandate. General Harbord pointed out that America had strong sentimental interests in the region; including missions and colleges; declared that, as one of the chief contributors to the formation of the League of Nations, the United States is morally bound to accept the obligations and responsibilities of a mandatory power; that such a mandate would insure the world's peace at the world's crossways, "the focus of war infection since the beginning of history;" declared that the Near East presented the greatest humanitarian opportunity of the age; emphasized the fact that it would stop the massacres of Christians and Armenians, and said it might be better to spend "millions for a mandate than billions for future wars."

LONDON SEES ACTION UNLIKELY

Daily News Says President Shows Deep Concern for Armenia.

LONDON, Tuesday, May 25 (Associated Press).—President Wilson's request that Congress sanction acceptance by the United States of the mandate for Armenia is attracting great interest here. The story is prominently displayed in the morning newspapers, but the news was received too late for editorial comment.

Some of the newspapers, however, print short explanatory notes, which reflect doubt as to whether Congress will comply with the President's suggestion.

The London Times remarks that recent dispatches from Washington have shown that the people of the United States just now have a strong distaste for any foreign commitments.

The Daily News points out that, since acceptance of the mandate would virtually imply indorsement of the covenant of the League of Nations and membership in the League, it is hardly conceivable that Congress will fall in line with the President's wishes.

"The President's action," The Daily News adds, "doubtless has tactical bearing on the impending election campaign, in which the Peace Treaty and the issues arising from it will figure largely.

"There also are some grounds for reading in it a desire on the part of the President to manifest his own concern to the fate of Armenia."

The Daily Telegraph says the President's step will cause considerable surprise in Peace Conference circles, and that the decision of Congress will be awaited with deep interest.

ASK HEARING FOR ALBANIA.

Ninety-eight Societies Here Appeal to Senate for Compatriots.

BOSTON, May 24.—Protests against the attitude of the United States Senate toward the rival claims of Greece and Albania in Northern Epirus were voiced and embodied in a resolution at a general convention today of delegates from ninety-eight Albanian societies in the United States. The Lodge Resolution adopted by the Senate without discussion on May 17, declaring that the Provinces of Koritza and Argyrocastro should be awarded to Greece, was attacked as an injustice to Albania, and this was coupled with a request that the matter be reopened and the Albanians have a chance to be heard.

Bishop Theophlan Noli, of the Albanian Church in America, in an address, said the Foreign Relations Committee had "refused even to give a hearing to Albania's side of the matter before rushing the resolution through."

The delegates applauded when he added:

"Albania has one champion here, President Wilson."

The provinces in question, the resolutions adopted by today's convention said, were solemnly recognized by the London and Florence conference of 1912-13 as part and parcel of the already mutilated Albanian State. The Greeks were further accused of having befogged the issue "by camouflaging the provinces of Koritza and Argyrocastro with the name 'Northern Epirus.'"

At no time, it was asserted, were the Albanians permitted to gain a hearing before the Senate Committee.

Albert H. Putney, formerly of the Division of the Near East in the State Department, attacked the Senate for "favoring isolation in a peace treaty and then standing sponsor for a resolution that ceded the territory of a friendly nation to its enemies."

George Fred Williams, formerly Minister to Greece, said that the award of Valona to Italy was contrary to the principle of self-determination of nations, and was the first confession of the Peace Conference that future events must be based upon war. He held such a peace was "as bad as the war itself."

He dwelled then Albania's fight to the last man against the invaders of their land, whether Italians, Greeks or others.

$81,780 Raised to Arm Armenia.

A fund of $81,780, with which to purchase arms and ammunition of the United States Government for use by the Armenians in their defense against the Turks, Tartars and Bolshevists, was raised at a meeting of the Armenians of New York City at Carnegie Hall on Sunday afternoon, according to an announcement yesterday by the Near East Relief. The meeting was held at the instance of the Armenian Army Fund Committee, and the gathering was addressed, among others, by the Armenian Minister, Dr. Pasdermadjian.

WHITE WHEEL SAVES BABY.

It Attracts Police to Carriage and Infant Taken by Stranger.

Mrs. Bessie Koenigsberg, who keeps a news store at 2,384 Eighth Avenue, between 126th and 127th Streets, stepped outside at 10:30 o'clock last night to take a look at her three-months'-old baby that she had left there in a baby carriage.

The carriage and baby were gone. Her screams brought a crowd to the store and a few minutes later Lieutenant Malcolm Rice of the West 123d Street Station sent out his reserves to hunt for a baby carriage with three black wheels and one white one.

Half an hour later Policemen Norcott and Lennon, thanks to the telltale white wheel, noticed a baby carriage containing a baby and wheeled by a man at 117th Street and Manhattan Avenue. The man asserted at first the child was his but later explained that he had heard the infant crying in front of the news store and had taken it for a walk. He was taken to the 123d Street Station, where he said he was Louis Canonski, thirty-four years old, an ironer, of 1,644 Amsterdam Avenue. He was locked up on a charge of kidnaping.

FUND DISCLOSURES STIR UP MANAGERS

'EXTRAVAGANCE' CRY RAISED

Chicago Paper Report of $200,000 Offer for Wood Votes Denounced by General's Backers.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 24.—Disclosures before the Senate sub-committee in Washington investigating primary campaign expenditures provided the political sensation in Chicago today. The campaign managers of Senator Hiram Johnson, including Hiram W. Johnson, Jr., and Meyer Lissner, one of the principal Johnson aids in California, gave out tonight a statement asserting that if the sub-committee really means business it will be easy to unearth a "saturnalia of extravagance" in connection with the campaign made by General Leonard Wood. Lowden also is attacked bitterly by the Johnson forces for spending more than $400,000 in the primary campaigns and is charged with an attempt to buy the Presidential nomination.

So far as the expenditures in behalf of Lowden are concerned, it is stated in behalf of the Illinois Governor that he simply instructed his campaign manager, Louis L. Emmerson, to go to Washington with every book and account at his command and make a straightforward statement of how every cent was collected and spent. The Lowden forces hold that the expenditures even called do not represent extravagance when the situation is fairly faced; that the conduct of a campaign in 1920 is a much more expensive affair than it was four years ago; that in fact it cost actually 50 per cent. more because of the high cost of everything.

The Chicago Daily News, which has been regarded as more or less independent in the primary fight, provides the most sensational story tonight. It calls attention to the fact that Eugene R. Pike, who was treasurer of Mayor Thompson's campaign fund in the recent primary battle, has been summoned to Washington to testify before the investigating committee and adds:

"Reports that certain leaders of the Wood Campaign Committee offered to put up $200,000 for campaign expenses for the Thompson-Lundin Organization if that faction of the Republican Party in Cook County would support General Wood and put up candidates for National Convention delegates pledged to General Wood were in circulation in Chicago and Washington today. These reports are said to have reached the Senate committee in Washington which is investigating campaign expenditures, and subpoenas were issued today for Eugene R. Pike, friend and political adviser of Mayor Thompson, Colonel William Cooper Procter, Wood campaign manager in charge of the Chicago headquarters, and Major A. A. Sprague, National Treasurer for the Wood Committee."

Pike Enters Denial.

The Chicago News report goes on to give circumstantial evidence about the alleged offer, and Mr. Pike is quoted as declaring:

"I have been served with a notice to appear before the Senate Committee, and that is all I know about the matter. I have not been identified with any of the Presidential campaigns. I have no information regarding the campaign expenses of the different candidates. I know of nothing that I can tell the committee."

George Sunday, in charge of publicity at the National Wood Campaign Headquarters, made the following statement:

"Mr. Pike has denied the story, and his denial itself stamps the story as untrue and unworthy of credence or further discussion. The Wood headquarters has no knowledge that Mr. Pike has been subpoenaed and is not interested in the matter."

Colonel Procter started for New York early this afternoon with General Wood, and the subpoena for him to appear before the investigating committee in Washington reached the Wood headquarters later. Efforts were then made to reach Colonel Procter by telegraph.

Call for Thorough Inquiry.

When the reports from Washington reached the Johnson headquarters the leaders immediately went into conference. Later Meyer Lissner, speaking officially for the Johnson managers, said the most thorough investigation of the expenses of Senator Johnson was invited.

"We hope," said Lissner, "that every book and account that we have in our possession will be requested by the committee. We only ask that every cent we have collected shall be traced to its source and the nature of every expenditure investigated. It is our hope that the Senate Committee will do this not only in connection with the expenditures in behalf of Senator Johnson but in regard to the expenditures for every other candidate—where the money came from and where it went. That is our open challenge."

The formal statement which the Johnson campaign managers made after a conference between Lissner, Hiram W. Johnson, Jr., and Edgar Cook reads as follows:

"If the Senate Committee investigating campaign funds is able to pierce the smoke screen being thrown out by the Wood managers and arrive at the truth, there will be developed a story of expenditures which will stagger the entire nation. No campaign in the history of this country has ever even distantly approached the saturnalia of extravagance which has characterized the 1920 race for the nomination.

"The campaign of Governor Lowden, while by no means as extravagant as that of General Wood, has admittedly cost $400,000, a princely fortune in itself. The Wood forces have proceeded on the theory that the Presidency of the United States is for sale and that a candidate's qualifications are measured solely by the wealth of his supporters and the size of the campaign treasure chest.

Not Disbursed By Managers.

"Of course, the able and astute managers have seen to it that they themselves did not actually dispense the funds. They will innocently proclaim that independent organizations scattered throughout the various States, whose membership has since disintegrated and whose books were either destroyed or never kept, 'volunteered' to take care of the State contest.

"The facts, however, exist and it is to be hoped that the committee will be able to obtain the expenditures of the Wood organization in States like South Dakota, Indiana, New Jersey, Illinois and Ohio, to say nothing of the amounts thrown into the Western States, such as Oregon and California.

"More money was spent by the Wood forces in the State of Oregon in an attempt to defeat Senator Johnson than has been expended by us throughout the entire campaign, and this was done notwithstanding the fact that Oregon has but ten delegates.

"The time has not yet arrived in this country when offices are sold to the highest bidder. The people throughout the primary States have shown that principles and fitness are still the main consideration. They have demonstrated that a candidate without a campaign back of him, no organization, whose only reliance is a direct appeal to the plain people, may still successfully aspire to the Presidency."

It was reported here tonight that the managers of the various campaigns expected the sub-committee in Washington would make a pretty thorough job of it before its task was completed. The Johnson supporters were suggesting that Fred M. Alger, Wood manager of the Michigan campaign, be called and all of the other State contests gone into thoroughly.

Lowden Men Ready to Testify.

The Lowden managers, while making no formal statement, were asserting that they were prepared from the first to place their cards on the table and that Governor Lowden had given instructions that there was to be no thought of withholding any item of expenditure, direct or indirect, which had been made in connection with his campaign. They were prepared, the Lowden people said, to tell how every cent was collected and spent, and every one connected with the campaign was ready to testify before the committee.

The contention was made that the expenditure of somewhat more than $400,000 in behalf of Governor Lowden would appear small by comparison with the sums which had been spent by some of the other candidates. Chairman Emerson, of the Lowden Committee, it was said, had been instructed to give every detail of the campaign at his command, to tell where the money was spent and to what purpose it was put.

Eugene R. Pike, who figures in the sensational story published in The Chicago News, was formerly City Controller and resigned about one year ago. There was much speculation here today as to the nature of the testimony he would be called upon to give. It also was reported that National Committeeman Rudolph Heinicke of Cincinnati would be called to give evidence concerning the fight between General Wood and Senator Harding in Ohio.

Arrangements for handling the crowds at the National Convention were pretty well completed today. General James A. Ryan, chief of staff for General Pershing in the punitive expedition into Mexico, and commander of a brigade in the World War, made a survey of the Coliseum today, and is preparing to drill the ex-service men who will act as doorkeepers. He has insisted that the police force co-operate with him, and has received assurance to that effect.

EUGENE MEYER QUITS WAR FINANCE BOARD

President Accepts His Resignation and Commends His Three Years of Service.

LEAVES HIS POST MAY 31

Letter to Wilson Asks Release as Houston Rule Cancels Further Advances by Corporation.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The resignation of Eugene Meyer, Jr., of New York, as Director of the War Finance Corporation has been accepted by President Wilson. In a letter to the President, written May 17, Mr. Meyer took the ground that as Secretary Houston had cancelled further advances from the corporation, that body would have nothing more to do other than to wind up its pending business and, therefore, Mr. Meyer asked to return to private life.

In reply President Wilson wrote a warm letter of thanks to Mr. Meyer for his three years of service.

Mr. Meyer will leave his post on May 31.

Stories have been circulated about Washington that Mr. Meyer did not agree with Secretary Houston's idea that the War Finance Corporation should not make further loans. But no hint of this appeared in the two letters released at the White House. Mr. Meyer in his letter of resignation said:

"At the request of the Secretary of the Treasury the War Finance Corporation has suspended the making of further advances in aid of exports except pursuant to commitments heretofore made. Some time ago, the corporation discontinued the exercise of any of its powers with respect to advances to assist industries and enterprises necessary or contributory to the prosecution of the war. As a result of its latest action in terminating further activities for the purpose of assisting in the financing of the foreign trade of the country during the period of readjustment, the work of the corporation will be confined largely to the closing up of commitments already made and the caring for its assets until such time as it goes into liquidation. Under these circumstances I feel that the time has arrived when I may properly retire, and I therefore respectfully tender my resignation as a director of the War Finance Corporation, effective May 31."

President Wilson's letter of acceptance said:

"You have served the Government in various important capacities, during the war and since, in a fine spirit of unselfish patriotism. You assisted the War Industries Board, served as a member of the National War Savings Committee, acted as special representative of the Secretary of War in aircraft work, made a special trip to Europe in connection with financial matters during the peace conference, and, finally, you have served as a Director of the War Finance Corporation since its organization, or for a period of two years, during more than half of which time you have been the active executive officer of that body in the capacity of Managing Director.

"I have known, particularly from the Secretaries of the Treasury with whom you have been associated, of your readiness ever to place your talents and time at the disposal of the Government in the solution of many perplexing problems that have confronted the nation during the last three crowded years. The War Finance Corporation, with no precedents to guide it, has efficiently and successfully fulfilled the important mission for which it was created, and credit for the results achieved is attributable in no small degree to your effective leadership and signal service. I cannot permit the occasion of your resignation to pass without expressing my deep appreciation of the notable and loyal service you have rendered to your country, with the single aim of performing the duties of a patriotic American."

At midnight Sunday a sergeant proceeding home saw an armed mob around his house. He notified the patrol on duty, the mill siren was sounded and church bells rung and the villagers turned out in a body. The Sinn Feiners promptly decamped and did not renew the attack, although shots were fired at belated pedestrians in some districts.

DUBLIN, May 24.—Sir Hamar Greenwood, new Chief Secretary of Ireland, has begun the clean sweep of the personnel of Dublin Castle so long demanded by Nationalist Irishmen.

It is announced today that Sir John Taylor, Assistant Under Secretary, has retired. Taylor was adviser for many years to one Chief Secretary after another, and recently has been acting as Under Secretary, succeeding James McMahon, nominal holder of the office.

Greenwood's first act on assuming office a month ago was to send Taylor on a month's leave, restoring McMahon to full exercise of his office. Taylor's successor is A. W. Cope, who is a British civil servant without Irish entanglements, and was transferred from the Pensions Ministry.

At the same time Sir John Anderson, financial expert, was appointed joint Under Secretary to relieve McMahon of much of the financial work in connection with the Home Rule bill.

Mr. Watt, principal private secretary to the Chief Secretary, who has held this post under successive chiefs, is also retired. His successor, C. J. Gregg, is a Kilkenny man who has been employed in the civil service in London.

SMITH APPROVES 2.75 BEER BILL

he said. "And if they could we couldn't sell it. So we are no better off than we were before. Of course, the Governor's action will have a great moral effect, however."

William H. Hirst, counsel for the New York State Brewers' Association, said last night:

"No comment is necessary on the enactment of the Walker bill legalizing the manufacture and sale of a beverage having an alcoholic content not to exceed 2.75 per cent. by weight. If the concurrent power which was given to the State in the second section of the Eighteenth Amendment to carry out the amendment has any meaning or significance, the Walker bill certainly gives effect to it. About twenty reliable and eminent experts, who are familiar with what is known as a beverage, having an alcoholic content not to exceed 2.75 per cent. by weight, and who have made experiments as to its effects, especially in reference to intoxication, have under oath in pending litigations stated as their opinion that a beverage containing 2.75 per cent. of alcohol by weight is not intoxicating.

"This array of proof certainly more than offsets the ridiculous statement of the Rev. Canon Chase and Dr. Wiley that a beverage of the kind described is poisonous. I might add that the most eminent physicians the world over have approved of beer as not only healthful but as an aid to digestion and the absorption of protein from food. It strikes me that we have reached the height of disingenuousness and absurdity when the Rev. Canon Chase and Dr. Wiley ask people who are not bereft of their reason to believe that Congress was dealing with 'invisible' intoxication and not with intoxication in its common acceptation when it submitted the Eighteenth Amendment to the States. Congress has meddled itself with many things which do not seem to properly belong within its domain, but no one except these two gentlemen have gone so far as to charge it with dealing with any such subtleties and mysteries as 'invisible intoxication.'"

Mr. Hirst added that the brewers had decided not to make any 2.75 beer while the technical state of war with Germany caused the wartime prohibition act to remain in force, but that they would start making beer as soon as a state of peace was declared.

Connecticut Board Favors Increase.

HARTFORD, May 24.—Richard T. Higgins, Chairman of the Public Utilities Commission, has written to John E. Benton, general solicitor of the National Association of Railway and Utilities Commissioners at Washington, to the effect that the Connecticut Commission was in favor of an increase in freight rates, and believed that it was vitally important that the New England industries and their transportation facilities should be carefully considered.

cer, Mr. Reed's Republican colleague from Missouri, who is also on the investigating committee. "Mr. Moore is a very good man," he concluded.

"Well, who got the delegates?" continued Senator Reed.

"That will be determined at the Chicago convention," said Mr. Emerson. "They are uninstructed. It was our plan all along to get delegates friendly to Governor Lowden, but uninstructed."

"Then you spent $38,000 to get an uninstructed delegation?" went on Mr. Reed.

"Well, you can't do any more than anticipate in politics," was the reply.

"I don't get your plan yet," said Senator Reed, shaking his head in a puzzled way. "I can't see why you didn't try to get the delegates instructed."

"The campaign was conducted by Missourians," said Mr. Emerson. "If I understand, the delegates are friendly to Gov. Lowden."

"How many delegates?" inquired Mr. Reed.

"Thirty-six."

"A little more than $1,000 apiece," commented Senator Reed.

Edmond H. Moore, campaign manager for Gov. Cox, of Ohio, in the contest for the Democratic nomination, followed the hearing by his comments upon expenditures made in that state in behalf of rival Republican candidates, Senator Harding and Gederal Wood.

"If I know a chicken hawk from a handsaw," said Mr. Moore; "there was more money spent by those candidates in the primary campaign than ever before in the state. They made the money spent in behalf of Newberry look like a piker's sum. It was a matter of public scandal in Ohio."

Pressed by the committee for more information, Mr. Moore said that he could give the names of 50 men who could tell about expenditures in behalf of Messrs. Wood and Harding. He asked to be excused on the ground that many of them were his friends and to expose them would embarrass him.

"Senator Pomerene, a member of your committee can tell you," said Mr. Moore.

"You ought not to have made your first statement if you were not prepared to back it up," said Senator Spencer.

"I should have made it," said Mr. Moore. "It is a matter of public knowledge. Call John H. Price of Cleveland who was manager of Wood headquarters there. He is one who can tell you."

"Who was the treasurer there?" asked Senator Reed.

"I don't know, but I know who the angel was," replied Mr. Moore.

"Who was the angel?"

"William Cooper Procter."

Mr. Moore also said that he could tell the name of a man who gave $50,000 to the Wood fund in Ohio, but withheld the name for the present. He said that if the committee could not get information about the Ohio campaign anywhere else he would disclose all he knew.

But you can get it. Call Harry M. Daugherty, Senator Harding's manager. He will be delighted to tell you about the Wood expenditures," said Mr. Moore as a laugh went up. "And I know the Wood men will be glad, very glad, to tell about Senator Harding's campaign."

Mr. Moore said that $22,000 was collected for the Cox campaign, of which $10,000 was spent in Kentucky.

Governor Cox contributed $2,500 to his own campaign. Other contributors included former Congressman J. J. Whitacre, $2,000; former Governor James E. Campbell, $1,500; H. S. Firestone, rubber manufacturer, $1,000; W. A. Julian, a Kentuckian living in Cincinnati, $1,000, plus $3,000 additional for the Kentucky campaign.

Mr. Moore further suggested that the committee call John T. King of Connecticut, concerning a story that a group of wealthy men had met and agreed to underwrite General Wood's campaign for a large sum, reported to be $1,000,000.

Hitchcock Denies Knowing of Finances.

Frank H. Hitchcock appeared for General Wood. Mr. Hitchcock said at the outset that as he had joined the Wood forces late in the campaign, and in a purely advisory capacity, he had no knowledge of financial details.

Frequently in the course of his testimony Mr. Hitchcock criticised the use of elaborate headquarters in various cities by Wood managers.

"I think a very grave mistake in a campaign of this kind," he said, explaining that General Wood's various headquarters had been reduced in size, and the office forces curtailed. He said that General Wood's campaign, as conducted from Eastern headquarters in New York, Western headquarters in Chicago and Southern headquarters in Washington was "unnecessarily large." It consisted mostly in circularizing the country, he said. The Wood campaign fund was always at a low ebb, he declared, and the lack of money caused curtailment of some activities.

Asked about specific contributions, Mr. Hitchcock said that he did not have personal knowledge of any. Lists of contributors could be obtained, he suggested, from those in charge of the finances at the various Wood headquarters. He stated positively, however, that the Dupont interests did not contribute to the General's campaign in Delaware.

"They would have informed me had they contributed," he said.

Mr. Hitchcock said that the largest amount used in any State in behalf of General Wood out of the treasury of the Eastern headquarters, was $15,000 in New Jersey.

"In most of the States where we sent money, it was less than $10,000," he said. "In some States we sent nothing."

He could not tell how much was raised by local organizations.

Says Wood Data Is Scattered.

In response to repeated queries by committee members, trying to learn where and how to get some aggregate figure on the Wood expenditures, Mr. Hitchcock said that if the committee wanted that, it would have to get the figures from the Eastern, Western and Southern headquarters, then get reports from all State organizations working for General Wood and finally take in any other organizations working independently. He said that $2,000 was sent to Alabama, $5,000 to Massachusetts, less than $5,000 to Vermont, and nothing to Pennsylvania, Connecticut or Rhode Island.

The campaign in Ohio and all States west of Ohio were conducted from Chicago and he knew nothing about them, Mr. Hitchcock said. He was equally uninformed concerning the publicity campaign in charge of Billy Sunday's son, which was managed from Chicago.

Mr. Hitchcock was asked what if anything he knew about contests begun in behalf of General Wood.

"General Wood's managers have begun no contests," he replied. "We are in some contests, but as contestees, not as contestants. I am against that sort of thing."

He said that the contest in Georgia led by Henry Lincoln Johnson, was against General Wood.

Pressed for more details concerning finances, Mr. Hitchcock again said that he had joined the Wood forces with the understanding that he was to have nothing to do with collecting money. His work was to be purely advisory, he said, and while he did not agree with what had been done before he joined, he let alone the workers he found when he entered the service of General Wood.

He knew nothing whatever, he declared, concerning the reported coalition of wealthy men in behalf of General Wood. He suggested that the treasurers of the various headquarters be called, and this will be done.

Lists Johnson Contributors.

Angus McSween submitted a list of contributors to the Hiram Johnson fund. He said that the California and Oregon campaigns were handled on the Pacific Coast, but exclusive of those States $69,000 approximately had been collected and $72,000 spent. This did not include amounts raised in Michigan and other States where the Johnson headquarters in New York did not send any money.

The largest contributor to Mr. Johnson's fund, Mr. McSween said, was R. B. Strassburger of Gwynne Valley, Pa., who gave $27,000. He said that Mr. Strassburger was interested in but not directly connected with the management of the Singer Manufacturing Company that Mr. Strassburger strongly believed in Mr. Johnson and desired to do what he could to advance his candidacy.

A complete list of contributors as submitted by Mr. McSween was:

William Flinn, Pittsburgh	7,800
Mayor James Cousens, Detroit	5,000
J. L. Calary (no residence)	5,000
J. C. Treen (through W. Flinn)	2,500
Ralph M. Bullow, 33 Broadway, New York, and friends	2,000
J. L. Wilhelt, 50 West 12th St., N. Y.	1,000
Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, Philadelphia	1,000
Adr. Bijur, 145 Water St., New York	1,000
S. O. Levinson, 76 West Monroe St., Chicago	500
W. J. Poland, Scranton	500
H. P. Woodworth, Bay City, Mich., for advertising	500
Bruno Schwill, 116 E. 86th St., N. Y.	250
Mrs. Adelaide Lewisohn, 923 5th Av., New York	200
S. J. Bowne, Capitol Theatre, N. Y.	100
G. L. L. Mayer (sent by Adr. Bijur)	100
Dr. Bernhard Lazarus, 440 Central Park West, New York	50
Michael Epsilanty, New York City	50
Arthur H. Geissler, Oklahoma City	50
Irving K. Taylor, 29 Broadway, N. Y.	5,000
San Francisco headquarters	5,500
Total	$69,190

The money contributed by Mr. Taylor, Mr. McSween reported, was for use in New Jersey and was in addition to money he spent there himself before he turned over the direction of affairs to the headquarters. Contributions received from $1 to $10 did not exceed $1,000, he said.

In New York Mr. McSween said, the Johnson campaign cost $15,686; in New Jersey, $13,207; Maryland, $4,100; Indiana, $8,780; Montana, $1,300, and North Carolina, $2,800. He said that in South Dakota about $3,000 was raised and spent locally; Michigan, $4,000, and Nebraska, $2,000.

Sutherland Sent to Meet Wood.

Dr. Randolph Hersey of Wheeling, W. Va., submitted as the total of expenses of Senator Sutherland's campaign $465 for printing, which was paid out of contributions of $473, collected in sums ranging from 50 cents to $100 and the only contributions so far received.

"We wouldn't have had to spend as much as we did if it hadn't been for General Wood's invasion," said Dr. Hersey in explaining that in addition to the $445 bills had been contracted to the amount of $200 for printing, $2,000 for newspaper advertising and $1,500 for airplane distribution of circulars.

"General Wood came into the State just like a circus," said Dr. Hersey. "His workers had bands, theatres, special street cars, posters and buttons. They pinned buttons on man, woman and child, and when there was nobody to pin them on the just threw them away.

"There was gross extravagance in the way of publicity. Newspapers and magazines were sent in from New York, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Cleveland and other places. Advertisements were used in the local newspapers."

The Wood headquarters were established in the State Auditor's office, he said, Auditor Darst being the Wood manager.

Louis Selbold, a member of The New York World staff, was asked by the committee to give information concerning an article he wrote naming wealthy men as financial backers of General Wood. Mr. Selbold declined to reveal the source of his information, but suggested that the men he named be called as witnesses.

Howard Rice, manager for Senator Poindexter, said that $60,029 was contributed and spent, mostly for publicity. J. F. Pache of New York gave $25,000, he said, and William H. Todd of Brooklyn, who has shipping interests on both coasts, gave $20,000. F. F. Alexander of Tacoma, Wash., gave $5,000.

The committee received a telegram from Walker Vick representing Governor Edwards of New Jersey, who by an oversight was left out of the list of candidates in the committee summonses. Mr. Vick is to appear tomorrow, at which time the committee

RUSSIAN NOBLES PAUPERS IN TURKEY

Many, Utterly Destitute, Are Fed by Allied Charity in Constantinople.

OTHERS LIVE THE GAY LIFE

Pay for Expensive Pleasures with Jewels, Since Their Rubles Are Worthless.

By SIR PHILIP GIBBS.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 24.—Among all the varied nationalities and races which crowd this fantastic city of Constantinople and its neighboring islands, I find the Russians most attractive as a human study.

Before Denikin's army melted away, and with a recognition of absolute defeat, he took refuge on a British ship lying out here in the Golden Horn, Constantinople and the islands of the Sea of Marmora already had been invaded by Russian people in flight before the Red advances a few months ago.

Now the Russian colony at Constantinople has been joined by the last of the refugees—Denikin's disbanded officers, with their wives and children; landowners who had lived on the edge of the Red tide until its wave threatened to engulf them, professors, university students, dancing girls, singers, Admirals without a fleet, Princesses who had served under the Red Cross, women of adventure who had followed the troops and political agents of the counter revolution which was washed out in blood and tears.

I meet all these people now in the Grand Rue de Pera, in the hotel where I am staying, in little restaurants where I like to dine because of the strange company at the tables, and in cabarets, where some of them sing for a livelihood. Many of them still live luxuriously and with a strange fatalistic gaiety, not counting the cost or glancing at the black shadows ahead.

They have no money of their own worth anything in the world's markets. The Russian ruble, of which there are many varieties on paper—the Romanoff ruble, Don ruble, Denikin ruble—is changed into Turkish money at a high discount. Whereas in the old days the ruble was worth about 1s. 2d. in Turkish money, it now requires 2,000 rubles to buy one Turkish pound, which itself equals only 4s. in England at present rates of exchange. That is to say, the Russian pays 2,000 times what he used to do for everything he buys in Turkey.

The cost of living in Constantinople is the highest in Europe, or I fancy in the whole world. A cup of chocolate and a little cake costs one Turkish pound. To the Russian paying in his own money it costs 2,000 rubles.

At the Pera Place Hotel the simplest dinner costs three Turkish pounds. To the Russian with Denikin money it costs 6,000 rubles.

The rent of a house hired by a group of Russians in a back street of Constantinople is 7,000,000 rubles, which before the war would have built a palace. Such exchange is so frightful that Russians who have nothing but their own money have no means of life, however rich. Some of them have other things, and live in luxury while they last. They escaped at the time of the revolution with their family jewels sewn up in their clothes, and, foreseeing the end, bought diamonds with all the money they had. Women brought away their furs, silk dresses, lace petticoats and the rings on their fingers. It is with these goods that they get the means of life and a little fun.

In this hotel where I am staying a Don Cossack gave a banquet to four friends. They drank champagne; there was laughter at the feast. At the end of the meal the Cossack officer called for his bill and after a glance took off his wife's fur-tipped, handed it to the waiter and said: "I pay with that."

It was valued by an expert on the premises, and the Cossack received fifty piastres, or about twenty-five cents, in change.

A rope of pearls worn at the court of the Romanoffs finds its way into the wooden shops of the Greek merchants in Constantinople pearl by pearl. There are quiet transactions in shady corners of the restaurants and coffee houses, where Russian officers put their hands in their pockets and take out some shining stone and say: "How much?" to some Levantine gentleman with sharp eyes under a red fez.

The thought of the day when there will be no other little stone in the leather pouch does not seem to worry some of these Russian notables. They are leaders of the night life in Constantinople. They sit at gambling tables in the night clubs, dance with their little ladies on the polished floors of crowded rooms where life is "gay." But they are few, compared with the mass of their compatriots, who, in this city and on the Island of Prinkipo and the other islands between the Bosporus and the Dardanelles, take in one another's washing, as it were, and struggle hard to make living by any kind of labor, and, failing that, live on the relief provided by the British, French, Italian and American missions.

At Prinkipo the British provide the poorest Russians with rations and billet them out in villas which have been commandeered for that purpose. There are many well born Russians who are utterly dependent on this charity, and Russian officers, still in patchwork uniforms with imperial decorations on their breasts, act as porters or do any rough labor they can get. There is one house in Pera which is called the Foyer Russe. It is a house rented at the equivalent of 7,000,000 Denikin rubles and has been organized as a home and eating-house for poor emigrés of the old régime by a group of Russian friends formerly of high social standing, now serving as cooks, plate washers, bed makers and waiters.

It was an ex-Admiral of the Russian fleet who invited me to breakfast at this place, where he does his share of work. With him was an ex-officer of high rank before the revolution. The waiters at the tables around were young men of aristocratic and middle class families. They provide a good meal for 50 piastres, which is a miracle of mercy in Constantinople. Tonight they gave a concert at suppertime, and a famous singer from the Imperial Opera and other good musicians entertained the company, while young ex-officers in the white blouses of Russian moujiks carried around plates of caviar, smoked salmon and Russian stew. The enemies of Bolshevism were reduced to an equality of poverty and bore it gallantly.

KILLS RESTRICTIONS ON NAVAL AVIATION

Senate Adopts Amendment to Army Appropriation Bill for Sale of Seven Transports.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The Senate, upon the motion of Senator Lodge, eliminated today from the annual Army Appropriation bill provisions restricting naval aviation to operations in connection with fleet movements and land bases. The eliminated provisions were opposed by both Secretaries Daniels and Baker.

Under House provisions, naval aviation would have been limited to operations with fleets, but the Senate Military Committee broadened it so as to include fleet shore bases.

The Senate adopted tentatively an amendment proposed by Senator Wadsworth authorizing the sale of eight former transports—the Herman, Sheridan, Thomas, Logan, Buford, Kilpatrick, Crook and Warren.

The Senate voted to retain House provisions appropriating $190,000 for the purchase of Selfridge Field, near Detroit, Mich., for the army air service. Action of the committee in eliminating appropriations of $1,004,000 for the erection and completion of motor training school buildings at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., was sustained.

Senator New introduced an amendment to the bill today which would prohibit foreign countries to dump surplus aircraft and motors in the United States at prices disastrous to domestic manufacturers. It will be considered tomorrow when Senator Wadsworth hopes to reach a final vote on the bill.

OPPOSE WILSON'S PROPOSAL

Mine Workers' Officials Against His Plan to Settle Dispute.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., May 24.—Anthracite mine workers were urged to reject President Wilson's proposal to submit their wage controversy to an arbitration commission in addresses made today by John L. Lewis, International President of the United Mine Workers, and Philip Murray, International Vice President, before a reconvened tri-district convention of hard coal miners.

They declared, however, that the dispute must be settled without a strike, referring to the acceptance of Secretary Wilson's tentative contract as the advisable course at this time.

The recommendation of the international officers is in opposition to the report of the miners' General Scale Committee, which urged the acceptance of the President's proposal and the rejection of Secretary Wilson's contract. The convention adjourned without action.

ASSOCIATE OF DAVIS EXTOLS HIS MERITS

HE SHONE IN GREAT CASES

Among the Most Notable Were the Income Tax, Selective Draft and Anti-Trust Suits.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The suggestion of John W. Davis, now Ambassador to Great Britain, as a Presidential nominee continued to attract attention in Washington today. Among Democrats the "old line Democracy" of Mr. Davis appeared to have a peculiar and strong appeal. Republicans consider the Ambassador as a man of force, and one whose name and personality would give much strength to his candidacy.

Attracted by the editorial of Sunday in THE NEW YORK TIMES, suggesting Mr. Davis as a fitting candidate, a former close associate of the former Solicitor General prepared an appreciation of him for THE TIMES. The writer preferred that his name be not used on the ground that his close friendship might make it appear that Mr. Davis was an active seeker for the nomination. Mr. Davis's friend wrote:

"To the Solicitor General of the United States is especially confided the preparation, presentation and control of all Government litigation in the Supreme Court of the United States and in other appellate tribunals. The vast amounts and the general importance of the interests involved in such litigation makes the selection of a Solicitor General of corresponding importance.

"From the first appearance of Mr. Davis before it, the Supreme Court of the United States felt assured of the proper presentation of all Government cases. His reputation grew with each successive appearance until at the time of his resignation (to become American Ambassador at the Court of St. James) he was generally recognized as one of the very ablest of the many able incumbents in that office.

"Among the important revenue cases which Mr. Davis presented to the Supreme Court were the income tax cases, the 5 per cent. discount customs cases and the 'first corporation tax' dividend cases. He also argued three important anti-trust suits, involving, respectively, the Reading, Harvester and the United States Steel Corporations.

"He presented the Government's view of the constitutionality of the child labor law in a case which, more than any other of recent times, aroused discussion among lawyers as to the powers, under its Constitution, of the Federal Government in its relation to the States. Other cases presented by him to that court which involved constitutional questions of more than usual interest and importance were those dealing with the validity of the section of the Federal Reserve act which empowered member banks to act as trustee, as well as the oil tank car cases, dealing with the power of Interstate Commerce Commission to order railroads to increase their tank-car equipment; while late in his incumbency he argued to that tribunal for the constitutionality of the selective draft law, than which no question ever more vitally affected the interests of all classes of the citizens of this country.

"It has been said of him in the circles of the Supreme Court that none was uniformly more prepared, more adequate in presentation or more thorough in his mastery of law and facts. Felicity of expression was a characteristic of his briefs. Not infrequently in its opinions—and notably in the selective draft cases—that court availed itself of Mr. Davis's language and paid him the rare compliment of quoting apt phrases with appropriate references.

"Dignified in appearance, facile in expression, impressive in delivery and always courteous, he was able to realize to the fullest extent his profound legal learning and to impress his auditors with his unusual clarity of clear thinking. These distinctive traits earned for him an exceptional reputation as a great Solicitor General.

"Of the man himself, his admirable qualities make it hard for a friend to speak in moderation so as to avoid the charge of partiality. As firm as he is gentle, as purposeful as he is considerate, as charitable to the frailties of others as he is sternly critical of his own; vigorous, but never harsh; wholly without mannerisms or artifices; patient toward the erroneous; tolerant of extremists; deferential to the aged; loyal to friends; always ready to meet responsibilities in his earnest moments, be merry as a boy in his hours of relaxation; with a sense of humor together with a faculty of pithy expression, all the more engaging because of the composure of his features meanwhile); breathing, thinking, and acting in a spirit of highest patriotism; ever responding in full measure to every known test of a manly man, and with a natural charm that cannot be overstated; the elements are so mixed up in him as to attract acquaintances and to endear him to his friends.

The human side of Mr. Davis was picturesquely illustrated by another friend who often played golf in Washington with the Ambassador. This man said:

"I never knew him to lose his self-poise, except after a second successive poor drive against Colonel Boyce, and then, it may be added, that the least said about what he said the better—though perhaps it may be truthfully characterized as awesome. I never saw him manifest any extreme temper except when he carefully laid his driver on a rock and jumped on the middle of it to break the shaft, with the remark that it would never deceive another man."

URGE DAVIS IN HOME STATE.

West Virginia Papers Advise Democrats to Indorse Him in Primary.

Special to The New York Times.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 24.—Primary elections will be held in West Virginia tomorrow, when complete State tickets for both parties will be nominated and sixteen delegates each to the Republican and Democratic National Conventions will be elected.

General Leonard Wood, who closed a week of personal campaigning in the State Saturday night, will receive the indorsement of the Republican voters by a large majority over Senator Howard Sutherland, conservative Republican leaders here predicted tonight.

There are no Presidential candidates on the Democratic ballot, but strong pleas have been made by Democratic newspapers of the State in the last few days for Democratic voters to write in the name of John W. Davis, Ambassador to England. It is predicted that he will receive a large complimentary vote in his home State.

Chief interest centres in the Republican Gubernatorial fight. Sentiment is divided along clear-cut lines among three candidates. Samuel B. Montgomery, State Labor Commissioner, is the labor candidate and has the indorsement of the State Federation; Colonel Fred Paul Groseup has the support of the oil and gas interests, while Judge F. Morgan is backed by the coal interests.

Democratic leaders agree that Arthur B. Koontz, Charleston lawyer and banker, will be the Democratic nominee for Governor over his only opponent, Adam B. Littlepage, also of Charleston and former Representative from the Sixth District.

It is predicted that about 75 per cent. of the Republicans and 50 per cent. of the Democratic voters of the State take part in the primaries.

BOND QUEST HELD UP AGAIN BY ARNSTEIN

'Nicky' Continues to Refuse to Answer Most of Questions at Bankruptcy Hearing.

HIS COUNSEL ADMONISHED

Prompting of Client by Fallon Angers Commissioner—Case Adjourned to June 10.

The examination of "Nicky" Arnstein in the bankruptcy proceeding instituted against him by the National Surety Company was resumed before United States Commissioner Gilchrist in the Federal Building yesterday, but it failed to develop information of value in tracing stolen securities. As on the preceding days of his examination Arnstein refused to answer 90 per cent. of the questions asked him on the ground they might tend to incriminate and degrade" him.

At the beginning of the proceeding William F. Fallon protested against his client, Arnstein, being placed on the witness stand, saying it had been agreed that no further questions would be advised by counsel for the petitioner until Judge Knox of the Federal Court had ruled on the application of Saul S. Myers, counsel for surety companies, to have Arnstein adjudged in contempt of court for refusing to answer questions as to his whereabouts from the time he and "Nick" Cohen, still a fugitive, fled the city on Oct. 12 last.

Commissioner Gilchrist ruled that the examination must continue. "Nicky" angered Commissioner Gilchrist when he said he could not answer the question whether he had retained the law firm of Fallon & McGee to represent him in the bankruptcy "on the ground it might incriminate me."

"It is absurd for you to refuse to answer that question," said Commissioner Gilchrist. "You could not incriminate yourself by retaining counsel. I direct you to answer."

While the Commissioner was talking Mr. Fallon turned to Arnstein and said something which could not be heard distinctly across the table, where sat the Commissioner and Selden Bacon, associated with Mr. Myers. Commissioner Gilchrist and Mr. Bacon protested against Mr. Fallon talking to the witness. The Commissioner admonished the lawyer not to speak to the witness again when an answer was expected of him.

"Are you conducting these proceedings, Mr. Commissioner?" asked Mr. Fallon, after Mr. Bacon had substantiated the Commissioner's statement that Mr. Fallon spoke to his client.

"No," replied the Commissioner; "but I am presiding. If you continue this way, Mr. Fallon, your client will have to get another lawyer."

"As long as I do represent him," retorted Arnstein's counsel, "I'll protect his interests."

Mr. Bacon then demanded that Mr. Fallon's remarks to his client be included in the record of the proceeding, but it was discovered that neither Mr. Bacon nor the Commissioner heard what Mr. Fallon said. Mr. Bacon then said he intended to apply to Judge Knox to compel Arnstein, who had declined to answer the question which started the row, to state whether he had employed Mr. Fallon in the bankruptcy. He said he would ask the Court to hold Arnstein in contempt, and also said he would ask Judge Knox to declare Mr. Fallon in contempt for prompting the witness.

"Oh, you're always making applications to punish people for contempt," returned Mr. Fallon.

The hearing then was adjourned until 2 P. M., June 10, by which time Judge Knox's decision on the contempt charges, it is expected, will be made public.

AUTO THEFTS LAID TO GANG.

Washington Heights Has Lost 200 Cars in Last Few Months, Say Police

In asking in Washington Heights Police Court yesterday morning that two defendants be held in $10,000 bail each, Assistant District Attorney Lorenzo Carlino said that nearly 200 automobiles had been stolen on Washington Heights in the last few months and that detectives of the automobile squad believed an organized gang was making off with them, shipping many abroad. Eight cars stolen in Manhattan, he said, however, had been recovered in Brooklyn.

The men arraigned were Philip Erhardt, a garage owner of 1,462 Ninety-second Street, Canarsie, charged with receiving stolen goods, and Michael Estrick, a chauffeur, of 129 Myrtle Avenue, Brooklyn, charged with having stolen an automobile from William C. Moore of 129 East Sixty-ninth Street, Secretary and Treasurer of St. Luke's Hospital. Detectives said they found Moore's car in Erhardt's garage, and that Erhardt identified Estrick as the man who stored it there. Both men were held for the Grand Jury.

WILL NEVER FORGIVE SON, CROKER SAYS

Former Tammany Chief Puts Into Record His Resentment of Attack on His Wife.

TELLS OF IRISHMAN'S HATE

Gains Point When Judge Refuses to Release Tied-Up Papers So He Can Answer Questions.

Special to The New York Times.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., May 24.—Richard Croker, while he was being examined here today by opposing counsel in the suit concerning his competence to manage his estate, obtained leave to put a statement into the record before he forgot the subject, and proceeded to say:

"The other day you asked me if I would forgive Richard, if, in this or the six suits in New York, he was shown to be right. I want to say that there is one charge made here against my wife that I will never forgive. He has tried to scandalize her, to make out that she is a bad woman. I will never forgive him for that as long as I live.

"I am like an Irishman in the old country. Pat was going to die. He had an enemy, and the priest said Pat and his enemy must forgive one another. The enemy came to Pat and forgave him, but the enemy added: 'But you don't die the forgiveness don't go.' And that applies to Richard. I won't forgive him while he is alive."

The ex-Tammany chieftain and his son touched elbows as they leaned over a table examining maps of the Croker holdings at Palm Beach, but they did not exchange glances.

The father gained one legal point during the session. He pleaded inability to answer fully on certain subjects on the ground that his papers covering the subjects were in a safe deposit vault and that he had been enjoined from opening that vault. The opposing lawyer suggested a modification of the injunction on this point. Mr. Croker's counsel objected, saying:

"You got the injunction. Now you are holst by your own petard."

"You knew in your own heart," said Mr. Croker, interrupting the argument and addressing the opposing counsel, "that you are not proposing this to help me. Go ahead with the examination. I am willing to stand the torture. I am not playing the baby act. The injunction will stand just as it is until we have settled this whole thing."

Judge Donnell held that the proposal to modify the injunction having been made for the benefit of Mr. Croker and Mrs. Croker having declined the professed benefit, no modifying order would be made.

$46,205,054 Savings in Paterson.

PATERSON, N. J., May 24.—The savings deposited in seven local banks and trust companies totalled $46,205,054.47 on May 4, according to figures announced today. This shows an increase of $1,794,010.26 over savings on deposit in February.

Workman Telephoned for Help.

"When Lotty and his pajama-clad visitor reached Lercy the workman telephoned to Montargis. What he said may be gathered from the message which the station master at Montargis had sent to St. Germain. However, an automobile bearing the sub-prefect of Montargis came to fetch the injured man, who was taken to Police Headquarters and later to a hospital, where it was found that he was suffering from scalp lacerations and bad bruises of the left leg.

M. Deschanel himself told of the accident. Suffering from a severe cold when he went to bed on the train, he had had all the windows in his compartment closed to prevent draughts. Just after the train passed Montargis he was awakened by a sensation of closeness and decided to lower the window which was beside his bed.

The windows was difficult to move. The President tugged at it. It fell suddenly and he tumbled through the aperture, about two and a half feet long and a foot and a half high, on to the track.

As there was a branch line just ahead, the train had slowed down from a speed of seventy-five kilometres an hour to half of that, and to this fact and the sandy nature of the roadbed where he fell the President undoubtedly owed his escape from death. He said that he did not lose consciousness, but lay on the track for a short while—he did not know how long. Then he got to his feet and walked about two kilometres until he met the track walker.

After receiving medical treatment and borrowing some clothes, the President wished to return at once to Paris, but because of the shock he had received and because of the administration of anti-tetanus serum his doctor advised him to rest for awhile. At noon the following bulletin was issued by his doctors:

The President of the Republic is slightly injured on the face and on the left leg. His condition is as satisfactory as possible. It gives rise to no fears.

Mme. Deschanel and Premier Millerand left Paris at noon on a special train for Montargis.

Deschanel Returns to Paris.

PARIS, May 24 (Associated Press).—President Deschanel returned to the Elysée Palace at 7 o'clock this evening after a miraculous escape from death near Montargis, thirty-three miles east of Orleans, last night, when he plunged head first through a window of a special train on which he was traveling to Montbrison to dedicate a monument to Senator Reymond, a French aviator who was killed in the war.

The President looked not much the worse for his experience. M. Deschanel, who was accompanied on the return trip by automobile from Montargis by Mme. Deschanel and Premier Millerand, alighted from the vehicles in the Elysée yard without help. His face was not bandaged, but showed the marks of the accident.

Shortly after his arrival at the Palace, his physicians held a consultation and issued the following official bulletin:

"The contusions are without gravity. The President's condition is as satisfactory as possible.

"PROFESSOR ANDRE PETIT.

Millerand Tells of Accident.

Premier Millerand said to the correspondent:

"You may tell your people in America that the President is sound physically and mentally, only a few scratches remain of the terrible experience he underwent. President Deschanel is feeling so good that he insists on presiding over the Council of Ministers, which is scheduled to be held tomorrow."

"I have advised the President to retire to Rambouillet for a few weeks, because it is only on the morrow that he will feel the reaction from the strange experience he has gone through."

A communique was issued from the Foreign Office to the effect that the President would preside at the Council of Ministers tomorrow.

Throughout Paris and even in official circles the failing health of the President is ascribed as a cause contributing to the accident.

The President had a hearty meal this evening at the Elysée and chatted gayly with Mme. Deschanel and the children. He seemed to enjoy immensely the retort of the track walker to whom he said: "I am President Deschanel." The worker replied:

"Might you not be the late Czar of Russia?"

He was much embarrassed by his personal appearance, which was the first thought that flashed through his mind after his fall. M. Deschanel has been noted for his immaculate dress and dignity. His was the last word in fashionable apparel, and the picture of the President walking down the railroad track in pajamas, dishevelled and barefooted, has actually appealed to the Boulevard Parisian sense of humor.

The fact that the President remained for five hours on a gatekeeper's cot before the automobile from Montargis arrived has caused much discussion in the Ministry of Interior.

Because M. Deschanel escaped from his harrowing experience, virtually unhurt, the news of his adventure was received by a majority of Parisians lightly, while had the President been seriously injured it would have brought deep sorrow in view of his great popularity.

President Deschanel's condition being favorable, Minister of the Interior Steeg decided to carry out the monument unveiling ceremony, as he believed the President would wish.

Dr. Mayer, the German Charge d'Affaires, was one of the first to call at the Elysée, after hearing of the accident, to inquire regarding the condition of the President.

MEXICO THE VICTIM OF HER POLITICIANS

ways, harbor improvements, school buildings for the better classes—all these date from the time of Don Porfirio. One is amazed to see the amount of building done or half-completed during the time of this tyrant. He kept the spirit of his people in fetters, but he succeeded in giving the country the outward appearance of a nation.

In one particular he succeeded admirably well. Mexico is a country that has inherited from the Indian a certain tendency to hate all foreigners, to shun them with an irresistible aversion or to harass them whenever possible. But Diaz realized that his country would be all the greater and more enlightened in proportion as it kept in contact with the rest of the world.

His glorious predecessor, Benito Juarez, for whom every man of democratic ideals must feel a deep interest and sympathy, had, nevertheless, a great defect. He was an Indian, and through an irresistible racial instinct he distrusted all foreigners and tried to avoid them. As he was patriotic, and, after the imperial adventure of Maximilian, had misgivings about the possible effects of foreign influence on his country, he tried to keep his nation in the geographical isolation in which it had lived. The coastline of Mexico continued to be a mere coastline without ports, and the north of the republic continued a desert to constitute an almost impassable barrier between the United States and the vital centre of Mexican life.

Porfirio Diaz reversed the policy of Benito Juarez. He opened the ports and thus placed his nation in more frequent communication with Europe; he laid several railway lines which brought Mexico into contact with the United States. He took pains to develop the resources of the country favoring the creation of new industries, stimulating the development of the mines and aiding directly the discovery of the oil wells, an industry which grew in the last years of his rule.

During this period Mexico did not have liberty, but it had peace and prosperity.

The Cientificos.

A group of intelligent men whom the public sarcastically nicknamed los cientificos, who eventually adopted this title themselves, placed themselves at the orders of the former warrior, now become dictator, and cooperated with him. There were Ministers who held portfolios for thirty years without interruption. The people naturally found this tutelage too long—so long, indeed, that the annals of absolute monarchy scarcely show a similar example. The revolution had to come. When it did come the people of the whole country, some because they wanted liberty and others because they desired a change after such a long period of inertia, followed the revolutionary path.

Today, after ten years, observers begin to realise that the revolution has been of little use. There was no more liberty under Carranza than there had been under Don Porfirio, and, on the other hand, peace and prosperity had entirely disappeared.

The revolutionary Governments did not do anything new. What Mexico has today she already had under Diaz, except that now everything is older, almost in ruins, like a building which gradually deteriorates for lack of some one to take care of it and repair the damage caused by time.

Moreover, the country has not gained anything in morality. When General Diaz was in power the people complained, as they do now, about the lack of honesty of their rulers, and they called the cientificos of those days thieves just as sincerely as later they accused the revolutionists.

Perhaps the people were right. I have not seen at close range the men who ruled the country under Diaz. But it seems that poor Mexico is cursed with an endless succession of money-mad politicians.

But if the cientificos were really thieves they differed from their successors in a particular well worthy of consideration. The former were constructive in their thieving, while the latter have been nothing but vandals. The cientificos did not squeeze their money from private individuals; they enriched themselves with the commissions received from public works which rendered good service to the country. Moreover, they got rich slowly. They took thirty years to make their fortunes; as they were not in a hurry, they collected their graft with prudence and dignity, knowing full well that their Government was long-lived, and there was no need of any unseemly haste. But the latter-day thieves have been rapid-fire grafters, robbers of machine-gun rapidity, who knew they only had a few years in which to get rich, and so had to steal as fast as possible.

Mexico's Pitiable State Today.

Mexico today is in a pitiable plight. Of the former railways scarcely more than the tracks remain. The Government of Carranza took over the lines without compensating the owners. It operated them for several years, kept all the revenues and failed to renew any part of the rolling stock. The railway properties consist today of a few hundred old cars in very poor condition and some patched-up and asthmatic locomotives which serve sometimes to carry passengers who are not in a hurry, and other times to gratify the amazing genius the insurgents have for dynamiting trains. The sleeping cars are full of vermin, and their lighting apparatus is in such a state that it frequently fails to work and the trains have to be lighted with candles.

Many of the stations are mere shacks standing near a heap of black ruins, the ruins being all that is left of a former station burnt a few years before by the revolutionists. Further on, one can see dozens of wrecked cars, mere skeletons, their iron frames blackened and twisted as if they were still suffering the torture of the explosion that destroyed them.

The ports are losing their traffic more and more every day. In cities which were prosperous once, like Vera Cruz, you can see the stevedores standing about in the sun, their arms folded across the breast, with nothing to do.

That fertile country, one of the richest in the world, can produce three annual crops, and yet it is barely raising enough food to feed its population. Instead of advancing, agriculture has declined. Cattlemen, tired of raising cattle to feed the revolutionists, have gone out of business. The farmers frequently find themselves left in the lurch by their peons who believe that to shoulder a musket and follow Villa, Carranza, or Obregon, as the case may be, is better than to hoe the ground.

The only export industries of the country are the mines, which are little worked; the sisal, produced in Yucatan, and the Tampico oil wells. As these are the only sources of wealth which yield an income, the Government taxes them heavily. The oil companies especially, the majority of which are owned by American citizens, had been paying Carranza, in one form of taxation or another, about 40 per cent. of the value of their daily output. A General who is one of Obregon's lieutenants admits in one of his writings that the taxes paid by the oil companies are formidable. However, if the oil companies failed to paid their taxes for three months the Government of Mexico could not survive financially, because the oil taxes are the only reliable source of income that it has.

A really painful contrast between what Mexico is and what it could become if the country had a half decent Government strikes the most casual observer.

Peasants Starving in a Rich Land.

A common sight in Mexico is the peasant, with his large, umbrella-like straw hat and red poncho, squatting on the ground in an attitude of profound thought, although perhaps in reality he is not thinking at all. Hours later you go by the same spot again and find the man sitting in the same position and still thinking. He has not moved. He has not done anything. Perhaps he has eaten a corn tortilla, which constitutes the principal article of his diet. And this poor wretch, who is suffering material hunger and moral anaemia, sits upon one of the richest thrones of the earth. The soil beneath him treasures gold, silver and petroleum, and it can produce 90 per cent. of all the different agricultural products known to man.

That peasant is disillusioned; he is a fatalist resigned to his destiny. He has been shedding his blood for ten years in battle after battle, always in the name of liberty. And he does not see liberty anywhere. The men who govern his native village and province have the same vices as those who ruled them in the days of General Diaz. They made this illiterate believe that everything that Mexico contained was going to be distributed among the people. He saw how the property of the rich was confiscated; but he is still waiting to see it distributed among the poor. Those who were rich by heritage or tradition were succeeded by newly made men of wealth, by men whom he had known before as comrades in poverty.

All his! And the Mexican, thinking about these things, either remains passive the livelong day watching the trend of events, or else he joins those who have risen in the social scale, and hopes that civil war may last forever, that a revolution may break out every year, that no party may last too long in power, and that Governments may succeed one another frequently in order that all may eventually get a taste of the pleasures and profits of being "in."

OBREGON ARRESTS 14 MEXICANS

Salustio Cabrera, cousin of Luis Cabrera and of the Governor of Puebla.

"Colonel Barrios, who insisted that Carranza should not make the trip, is willing to make a statement at the trial of the staff officers accompanying Carranza, which will be held before a military court."

Private Revenge, Minister Indicates.

The Department of Foreign Relations has issued the following statement to all the Mexican Legations:

"With great sadness I have to inform you that on the 20th of May (Thursday last) at 4 o'clock in the morning, Venustiano Carranza was assassinated at the Town of Tlaxcalantongo, State of Puebla, where he was passing during his flight through the Necaxa Mountains, accompanied by forty persons, the majority of them being high military chiefs. The assassin, Rodolfo Herrera, belonged to a few forces under General Mérial, remaining loyal to Carranza, who were protecting him in his flight. Herrera commanded the escort in charge of the guard the night of the crime.

"After committing the crime the assassin fled to the mountains.

"Revolutionary headquarters immediately sent a strong column in pursuit, and upon capture the assassin will be haled before a summary court and executed.

"Generals Obregon and Gonsales have named a commission to proceed to the scene of the crime and make a complete investigation.

"To date all indications are that the crime was one of personal vengeance on the part of Herrera who, with premeditation, offered to protect the life of Carranza during his stay at Tlaxcalantongo, as it is reported that Herrera's father was executed by order of Carranza and Cabrera a few days earlier.

"The body of Carranza is due to arrive at the capital on the 23d instant, and on the 24th Congress will meet to name a Provisional President, as provided for by Articles 84 and 85 of the Constitution.

Report Carranza Alone Was Killed.

MEXICO CITY, May 24 (Associated Press).—President Carranza alone was killed during the misty morning hours of May 21 in the tiny mountain hamlet of Tlaxcalantongo, State of Puebla, it became known today. First reports stated that six others met death and later this was reduced to one, General Pascual Morales y Molina. It was confirmed today that the latter is still alive.

This shrinkage in the reported casualties is commented upon as conflicting sharply with the statements in telegrams sent by General Juan Barragan, signed by about thirty other companions of Carranza, in which the resistance offered by the President's escort was emphasized.

While scores of theories regarding Carranza's death are being aired here, among them assassination with intent to discredit the revolutionary movement and others in the same category, some even suggesting suicide, the report of the commission of investigation sent by Generals Obregon and Gonsales is being awaited with real interest in the expectation that it may make astonishing disclosures and result in unexpected arrests.

The main point stressed by the revolutionary leaders in interviews, and also in official statements, is the fact that repeated attempts were made to induce Carranza to accept safe-conduct, with the plain intimation that the leaders realized throughout the movement the importance of avoiding any act which might imperil recognition of the new government by the world powers.

Now, it appears, the Liberal Constitutionalist leaders are aghast at the tragedy and its possible consequences, veiled, as the exact circumstances are, with a mystery that continues to grow as new incidents come to light.

"Barbarism," was the characterization of the event made by General Ignacio Villarreal, who arrived in Mexico City Sunday from the North. General Villarreal has been among the most noted political and military figures in Mexico since the downfall of Diaz and has been prominently mentioned as possible provisional President.

"It is a terrible mystery; I can't explain how it happened," asserted General Obregon.

Meanwhile the obituary eulogies in the press indicate a reaction in popular sentiment with a cessation, at least temporarily of the savage criticisms of Carranza's policy which have been prevalent.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The attitude of the United States Government on the question of recognition of the de facto Government in Mexico will depend on the ability of the new political leaders to restore and maintain order and on the strength of co-operation shown by them, and the policy they adopt toward foreign interests and investments in Mexico.

The State Department today received from the American Embassy at Mexico City a report, dated yesterday, saying the latest reports in Mexico City indicated that Manuel Aguirre Berlanga, Luis Cabrera and General Murguia and Urquizo are safe.

The Mexico City press on Sunday, May 23, according to summaries received today, commented on what is referred to as "universal gloom" in the Mexican capital caused by President Carranza's assassination. The Heraldo said the city was stupefied on learning the end of the man who overthrew the tyranny of Huerta. The Excelsior said that the city, stricken with grief, demands that the guilty be punished. El Universal asserted that President Carranza deserved no such fate. This paper also criticised the fact that no flags except those on diplomatic missions were at half staff and that Carranza was to be buried without usual honors.

GIVE VILLA UNTIL TODAY TO DECIDE HIS OWN FATE

If He Does Not Accept Terms Offered, Army Will be Sent Against Him, Calles Asserts.

ABOARD THE SPECIAL TRAIN OF GENERAL CALLES, LA FLOR, Coahuila, May 22 (via El Paso, May 24), (Associated Press).—The de facto authorities of Mexico have served an ultimatum on Francisco Villa, giving him until May 25 to decide whether he is to be at peace or at war with the new Government, General P. Elias Calles announced late today.

In making the announcement General Calles gave The Associated Press his complete correspondence with Villa. Calles is Minister of War under the de facto Government.

In his ultimatum to Villa, telegraphed today, Calles said:

"I shall wait until May 25 to receive your final decision, so as to be able to give the necessary orders."

On May 20, at Chihuahua, General Calles announced that he had submitted to Villa the following proposition:

"First—That Villa declare his retirement to private life.

"Second—That, with an escort of 100 to 150 trusted followers, Villa should go to Sonora and quietly wait until after the general elections are held in Mexico.

"Third—After the elections Villa is to retire to private life permanently but with permission to go anywhere he pleased.

"Fourth—Such of Villa's men as desired to remain in the army would be attached to Calles's own forces, 'for their own greater security.'

The day after this proposition was made Villa telegraphed General Calles that he would consult with his chiefs and communicate a decision within a few days. In this communication Villa said he "was not the leader of a band, but head of a military and political party."

"If fate causes us to continue fighting and lose another forty-odd thousand of our brethren like those of yours I have killed in this beloved State, let God decide," he said. Villa thanked Calles for giving him "a few days of rest."

General Calles is taking vigorous measures for any eventuality concerning Villa, he said. A thousand cavalrymen already have been started from Coahuila to Torreon for operations in Durango, and another thousand from Coahuila for operations in Chihuahua.

Britisher Held by Villa is Released.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—George Miller, the British subject reported held by Francisco Villa for ransom, has been released, the State Department has been advised by the American Consul at Chihuahua and also by an official of the Alvarado Mining and Milling Company, of which Miller is superintendent.

WADSWORTH HEADS STATE DELEGATION

WOMAN FOR VICE CHAIRMAN

Call for New York Convention at Saratoga Last Week in July Expected at Early Date.

James W. Wadsworth, Jr., will lead the New York delegation to the Republican National Convention. This became known yesterday after a luncheon given by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler at the Metropolitan Club and attended by Republican leaders. Senator Wadsworth will be chosen after the delegation reaches Chicago.

Chairman Glynn of the Republican State Committee sounded delegates here and up-State, and assured the other leaders that there would be little opposition to the Senator.

It was reported that a woman might be selected as Vice Chairman. There are only two women delegates, Miss Helen Varick Boswell of the Thirteenth Congressional District and Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp of Syracuse.

The Republican leaders will go through with their program of electing Charles D. Hilles as Republican National Committeeman from this State. As already reported, supporters of General Wood are preparing to force a test of strength in the delegation by presenting the name of Congressman Norman J. Gould in opposition to Mr. Hilles. Chairman Glynn, however, said he believed this plan would be abandoned and Mr. Hilles chosen by unanimous vote.

Dr. Butler, who at recent Republican National Conventions, has been New York's representative on the Committee on Resolutions, told his guests it would be impossible for him to serve on that or any other committee, because of his candidacy. Former Senator Ogden L. Mills will take Dr. Butler's place on the Platform Committee. Former Judge Nathan L. Miller of Syracuse probably will be selected for the Committee on Credentials and Contested Seats, and Senator Calder probably will be assigned to the Committee on Permanent Organization.

Among those who attended the luncheon were Chairman Glynn, former Senator Mills, Colonel Herbert Parsons, Colonel Lafayette B. Gleason, who has been selected as Secretary to the National Convention, and Samuel S. Koenig.

The New York delegation will meet on Monday, June 7, to organize and outline its program. On the same evening, Colonel William Boyce Thompson, one of the "Big Four" who has been directing the collection of a campaign fund, will give a dinner at the Blackstone to members of the Ways and Means Committee of the Republican National Committee. It was reported also that Senator Wadsworth would give a dinner on that evening to members of the New York delegation.

Chairman Glynn said the call for an unofficial State Convention may be issued before the delegates depart for Chicago. He said the convention probably would be held in Saratoga the last week of July.

"We are going to hold our convention early, so as to shorten the period of personal rivalries among candidates and lengthen the period during which we can pull together toward the goal we all desire—a Republican victory in the Fall," said Mr. Glynn.

The plan to designate candidates, however, is likely to have a marked effect in the opposite direction, for it is bitterly opposed by Francis M. Hugo, Secretary of State, who wants the question left to the voters at the primaries.

ESCAPING GAS KILLS SISTERS, 90 AND 88

Women Found Dead in Bed After Policeman Smashes Door of Their Apartment.

Miss Margaret Boyland, 90 years old, and her sister Julia, 88, were found dead in their three-room apartment at 1,391 Second Avenue last night by Patrolman Michael Egan of the East Sixty-seventh Street Station. The rooms were filled with gas escaping from a tube accidentally disconnected from a small gas stove.

Miss Alice Young, who occupies an apartment upstairs, detected the odor of gas in the morning and notified the janitress. The odor, however, could not be traced. In the evening the janitress again investigated, finding that the odor came from the flat of the Misses Boyland. Patrolman Egan was called and broke down the door.

The bodies of the aged sisters were found in their bedroom. Dr. Miegan of Reception Hospital said he thought they had been asphyxiated some time Sunday night. The women had lived in the house six years. Little was known about them by neighbors.

4 GUNMEN REPRIEVED ANEW.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 24.—Further respite until Aug. 2 was today granted the four gunmen convicted of murdering Otto Fialo, Bronx elevated ticket agent, by Governor Smith. The Governor's action was taken because the case of James P. Cassidy, one of the convicted men, is now pending in the Supreme Court.

"I am advised by the attorney for Cassidy," said the Governor in announcing the further stay, "and by the Attorney General that any decision made by Justice Howard on the application for a writ of habeas corpus will be appealed to the Appellate Division in the Third Department, and that any decision which the Appellate Division may make in the matter will be appealed to the Court of Appeals."

Joseph Useto, Charles McLaughlin and Joseph Milano are the other men saved from the death chair with Cassidy.

SMITH SIGNS LAW BILLS.

Accepts Thirty Measures Approved by State Bar Association.

ALBANY, May 24.—More than thirty bills amending the Civil Practice Act, for the purpose of simplifying civil procedure in the courts of the State, have been signed by Gov. Smith, it was announced at the Executive Chamber tonight. Among the bills is one carrying an appropriation for the expense of a convention to be held for the purpose of preparing and adopting rules of practice.

"These bills came to me in the thirty-day period," the Governor said, "and were so voluminous that it was a physical impossibility for me, with the limited force at my command, to have them properly compared and checked as to errors in engrossing, or as to errors in the substantive matter.

"The only method open to me was to refer the matter in some way to the profession particularly affected thereby. I therefore sent for the President of the State Bar Association and turned the whole matter over to him. He called a meeting of the State Bar Association, and at that meeting a resolution was passed, of which I was furnished a certified copy, approving these bills. Acting upon that resolution, I approved the bills."

The Governor also called attention to the fact that the measures do not become effective until April 15, 1921, with a Legislative session intervening, at which they may be amended, revised or repealed.

BOARD NAMES MISS GILLEN.

Appoints Assistant to Principal of Public School 168.

The Board of Education, in secret session yesterday, approved the recommendation of the Board of Superintendents that Mary A. Gillen be made assistant to the Principal in Public School 168, 104th Street, east of Second Avenue.

Cecilia A. Francis, the Principal, has been absent from her duties for some time on account of illness. She left the school in charge of two assistants. One of them, Bertha Bloch, had some trouble with a pupil and sent for a policeman. District Supt. Nicholson, in whose district the school is, asked Miss Bloch for information as to sending for a policeman, and, it is claimed, she declined to give it. He reported the case to the Board of Superintendents, who recommended that she be transferred. Messrs. Joseph Yeska and George J. Ryan were appointed a committee by the Board of Education to investigate the case. Mr. Yeska reported in Miss Bloch's favor and against her transferral. The board, however, decided to transfer Miss Bloch and appoint Miss Gillen to fill the vacancy.

NORFOLK GAINS 71.6 P. C.

Has 115,777 Population—Meriden, Conn., Has 34,739.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The Census Bureau reports the population of Meriden, Conn., as 29,842, an increase of 2,577, or 9.5 per cent., over 1910. The town of Meriden, including the city, has 34,739, an increase of 2,673, or 8.3 per cent.

Norfolk, Va., has 115,777 inhabitants, an increase of 46,325, or 71.6 per cent.

A decrease of 267, or 1.1 per cent., is reported for Burlington, Iowa, which now has 24,057.

The population of Jersey City by wards will be announced tomorrow.

Gibbons Will Say Convention Prayer

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, May 24.—Cardinal Gibbons received today a formal invitation from Frederick W. Upham, Chairman of the Republican National Convention Committee, to offer the prayer at the convention session on Thursday, June 10, and has accepted it. He will arrive in Chicago June 8, the day the convention opens, to attend the seventy-fifth anniversary of the Chicago Diocese and the silver jubilee of Archbishop George William Mundelein.

OVERSEAS CLUB DINES.

Allied Envoys Celebrate Queen Victoria's 101st Anniversary.

A line of demarcation with barbarism on one side and civilization on the other was drawn during the Great War, said Gaston Liebert, French Consul-General, last night at a dinner of the Overseas Club, a patriotic league of British subjects, at the Hotel Commodore. M. Liebert expressed disbelief that the Germans ever could be included in the civilized group, for he asserted that they were now guilty of violating every term of the Peace Treaty.

Gloster Armstrong, British Consul-General, was toastmaster, and gave the cue to the representatives of the other Allies who spoke, when he asserted that Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium and the United States had cemented their bonds of friendship during the struggle against a common enemy. Responses to toasts were made by Robert Wilberforce, on behalf of Great Britain; Col. John A. Cooper, Dominion of Canada; Dr. M. F. Johnson, United States; Consul-General Romola Tritoni, Italy, and Lieut. Col. V. M. Fitz Hugh, British Army and Navy. The dinner was in celebration of the 101st anniversary of the birth of Queen Victoria.

An accounting filed yesterday in the estate of Captain Samuel W. Arnheim, head of Marks Arnheim, Inc., who was killed in an aviation accident at Fort Worth, Tex., in March, 1918, showed he left $483,740, the bulk of which was stock in his corporation. The chief legatees are his sisters, Sophie G. B. Untermeyer and Minnie Z. Arnheim.

Republican Women Discuss Bonus.

The proposed bonus to World War veterans was discussed yesterday at the weekly meeting of the Republican Women's State Executive Committee at the Hotel Vanderbilt. No action was taken, but the general feeling expressed was opposition, at least to the present form of the bill proposed in Congress. Miss Maude Wetmore spoke on "The Republican Party." Mrs. Arthur L. Livermore, Chairman of the committee, presided.

"Turnover"

Swift & Company has referred frequently to its small profit on sales. This has raised the question, "how many times do you turn over your capital?"

Last year Swift & Company turned over its invested capital (capital stock plus surplus) nearly six times.

This, together with our large volume of business, made it possible to operate on a profit of only 1 1/8 cents on each turnover. Since there were about six turnovers, our total profit amounted to about 7 per cent on capital and surplus.

This profit amounted to 11 per cent on capital stock alone. We include surplus as part of our total investment, because that is tied up in plants and equipment and huge supplies of products in process of manufacture and on the way to market, just as is our capital stock.

If the turnover had been based on inventory instead of on capital, the figures would have been about the same, because the average value of our stock of goods on hand was about equal to our investment.

The profit, from all sources, averaged only ¼ cent per pound on all products sold, and obviously had practically no effect on prices.

Our books are audited by certified public accountants, and are of course open to inspection by the U. S. Internal Revenue Department. We want people to know and to understand our business.

A HISTORIC PAINTING.

The signing of the Peace Treaty at Versailles by the Germans on June 28, 1919, was painted by Major William Orpen by authority of the Allies. This is the official picture of that historic event. It contains facsimile portraits of all the chief figures. It is reproduced in the etching by a space of 17½ feet by 14 feet in the MID-WEEK PICTORIAL, which is on news stands today ready for a frame. PREDICT DEADLOCK AMONG REPUBLICANS

THEN A KNOX COMBINATION

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The prediction is being made that the Republican National Convention in Chicago will result in a deadlock on the nomination of a candidate for President and compel a compromise. In some cases this prediction is a matter of the wish being father to the thought, but it is evident that in the minds of experienced politicians the situation promises a long period of balloting without result.

It is equally evident that any drive to nominate a compromise candidate will be against General Leonard Wood. In the opinion of observers here, conspicuous leaders of the Republican Party, with the exception of those who have espoused Wood's cause, are willing to pool their strength to prevent General Wood from getting the honor. Conservatives and radicals, representing the two extremes of party opinion, are declared to have in mind a combination that will enable them to name as the candidate one of their own choice. How these two extremes will get together is not clear, but a strong belief prevails in Republican circles that the situation favors Senator Philander C. Knox of Pennsylvania, who is credited with being almost as acceptable to the advanced progressive and radical groups as to the conservatives.

The expectation is that with several strong candidates in the running the balloting will be fruitless, as neither will be able to command anywhere near a majority of the total vote of the convention. This may continue, it is said here, for the better part of two days, and if such a condition prevails a group of leaders, it is predicted, will get together and decide upon a candidate of their own. The fact that Senator Knox is represented to be on the friendliest terms with Senator Johnson is cited as a reason for his acceptability as a compromise candidate.

The whole situation is viewed in Washington as showing that General Wood's managers must be on the alert to prevent a compromise against Wood that is already in the making.

Tactics of the Old Guard.

Senator Harding of Ohio is said to have been the first choice of the Old Guard leaders. When it became evident that Harding was not developing the strength that was hoped for, and that Wood was making great strides, the Old Guard found means to encourage Johnson to get out among the people with the object of "cramping Wood's style." Johnson succeeded better than was expected, and then, it is asserted, the Old Guard leaders began making overtures to him, deferring to his wishes in certain particulars concerning the organization of the National Convention.

While these overtures to the California candidate were credited to the rule of self-preservation and not to any sympathy with Johnsonian doctrines, the Old Guard leaders and Johnson found one thing in common—their opposition to General Wood. Nobody here who is informed as to the situation in the Republican Party doubts that Johnson will combine with the Old Guard if it becomes apparent that Wood has a strong chance of capturing the Presidential nomination.

Republican leaders of proved experience are expected to get together, according to the Washington view, if the Chicago convention becomes deadlocked, to find a compromise candidate. This expectation carries with it the prediction that leaders from New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, and other big States will enter the combination, which will also include leaders from California and Western States where the Johnson sentiment is strong.

Would Resent Combination.

It is not overlooked, however, that in all the States mentioned, with the exception of California, where General Wood did not enter the Republican primaries, the Wood sentiment is strong, and there would be resentment of any attempt to shelve Wood through a combination formed in some Chicago hotel room.

Another thing pointed out by politicians here is that much of General Wood's support comes from voters who regard him as representing the policies of Theodore Roosevelt. They declare Johnson gained much strength in the primaries because he was Roosevelt's running mate on the Progressive Party ticket in 1912, so that if it should become apparent that Johnson had no chance for the nomination, much of his following would prefer Wood to any other candidate. Wood is also declared popular among many Republicans of conservative leanings, and it is believed a considerable number of these might turn to him if it was demonstrated that candidates like Harding and Lowden could not carry the convention.

That the convention will be the most interesting national party gathering since 1880 is acknowledged on all sides.

SHIP, AFIRE, RACES TO PORT.

Blaze in Cargo of Soft Coal on the Buyo Maru.

The steamer Buyo Maru, which left Newport News, Va., for Rotterdam on Saturday, raced into port last night with a fire in her hold. Word of the fire was wireless to this city and the fireboat William J. Gaynor put out to meet the steamer in the lower bay.

The firemen found that the boat was in no immediate danger. The fire, according to Deputy Chief Worth, was in the cargo of soft coal. Members of the crew discovered the fire when the Buyo Maru was 300 miles out to sea. The steamer is owned by S. Suzuki & Co., Japanese importers and exporters, of 220 Broadway. She is in command of Captain Santo Sarto and carries no passengers.

GIRL SLAYER TESTIFIES.

Mariaria Tucci Repeats Story Blaming Dead Sister.

Maria Tucci, twenty years old, on trial in General Sessions on the charge of murdering her sister, Mrs. Angelina Conti, who was killed in her bedroom at 99 West Houston Street on March 4 by two revolver shots, testified in her defense yesterday, which she based principally on statements attacking the character of her sister. She declared she had objected to attentions Mrs. Conti had received from their "second cousin, Michael Mongiovi," and that this had caused quarrels and led to the shooting when, the prisoner declared, Mrs. Conti tried to induce her to accept the man's attentions.

MEN'S CLOTHING—REDUCED
Dependable Quality—Reliable Reductions

At the present time, when much inferior, factory-made Men's Clothing is being foisted upon the New York public, (eager to buy at lower prices) we announce this dependable event for a department that is comparatively young. We take this step simply and solely to show New York men the difference between Men's Clothing made in Best & Co. shops, in our own city, under our own direction, and the usual kind sold elsewhere.

TO MAKE NEW FRIENDS

We have been clothing manufacturers for 39 years. Before we opened our Men's Departments we made an exhaustive study of the problem, resulting in the decision to open our own Men's Clothing shops here in New York, to select at the Mills the patterns New York men want (all wool of course) and to direct the making ourselves.

The result has been Men's Clothing as dependable as gold coin.

The result has been the underselling of our competitors by $10 and more per suit, by eliminating the profit they must pay the manufacturer or middleman, and the building, in 2 short years, of a large volume of men's clothing business.

Commencing MONDAY—revised prices

"The Credentials of Christianity"
By MARTIN J. SCOTT, S. J.

Unbelievers seeking to destroy the world's faith in Christianity cannot stand up against the logic—the historical facts—the TRUTH of this great work.

The religion of Christ has been garbled, distorted, calumniated and assailed by that certain part of humanity who believe that other paths lead to happiness. This started in Rome the licentious, the bestial, the brutal, 1900 years ago when through the Teachings of Christ mankind was directed to true moral and spiritual happiness.

Answers All Doubts

To answer in an adequate manner the questions of these agents of doubt, of unbelief, of hatred and darkness who have been working to undermine the beautiful Word of God, "The Credentials of Christianity" has been written—a book of tremendous force. Get it at your bookseller's today.

JOHNSON HITS FOES, PARADES WITH BAND

QUOTES ROOSEVELT PHRASE

Refers to "Malefactors of Great Wealth" and Demands "One Law for Rich and Poor."

Speaking at a crowded meeting in the auditorium of the Morris High School, 166th Street and Boston Road, the Bronx, last night, Senator Hiram W. Johnson, candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination, vigorously defended himself from the charge of radicalism and told a cheering audience what he would do if he had the power to reduce the high cost of living.

The Presidential candidate, on his way from his headquarters in the Pennsylvania Hotel to the Bronx, was the centre of an automobile parade, with a band in the lead. Half a dozen automobiles were in line and at frequent intervals the Senator was cheered. On the speakers' platform in the hall sat several New York delegates to the Republican National Convention. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Bronx County Republican Executive Committee and County Chairman Richard Lawrence, a delegate to the National convention, presided.

Apparently nettled at recent criticisms of his radicalism, Senator Johnson declared with vehemence that that charge had been hurled at all "who will not bow to arrogant power or exploiting wealth." He said radicalism meant to some "a dreadful, vague, unexpressed desire to do some awful undisclosed wrong in some terrible unknown manner by a mysterious person hiding in a nebulous mist of red."

Assails "Special Privilege."

The clamor against him at the present time, the candidate said, is the "same old cry" of special privilege, "through its same old political agents and its same old journalistic flunkeys."

"Not only would I employ the power of the State against the extremist of the soap box, preaching overthrow of Government by force and violence," said Mr. Johnson, "but with equal vigor I would endeavor to reach, suppress and punish the radical of great wealth and power, who endangers the Republic by cunning and dishonest practices, and insidiously undermines society by illegitimate exploitation."

Senator Johnson quoted at length from Colonel Roosevelt's utterance on "malefactors of great wealth." His reference to Colonel Roosevelt was roundly cheered.

Recent researches have demonstrated, said the Senator, that profiteering is being practiced. He declared that every available law should be employed to protect the general public.

"The war trebled our millionaires," he shouted. "This is an arraignment of our system which in itself is terrible." He declared that during the three war years 2,080 corporations earned in net profits over 100 per cent., 5,724 showed net profits of more than 50 per cent and 26,000 earned from 20 to 50 per cent. Since the war, he said, industries engaged in the production of clothing, food, household supplies and other staple necessaries of life had made even greater profits. He quoted Mr. Lauck, economist, to show that the increase of $3.50 in a pair of standard shoes represented an increase for labor of only 15 cents, while the margins of the manufacturers and merchants was $2.75. "The mere mention of these matters, or the suggestion of a remedy," he added, "causes papers like THE NEW YORK TIMES to shriek radicalism."

Teaches on Stock Dividends.

Senator Johnson then took up the decision of the United State Supreme Court that stock dividends were not taxable as income under the present system. Since March, he said, corporations have declared dividends in some instances of 200 per cent. and in others of 100 per cent., to an aggregate value of approximately $500,000,000. These millions, he said, escaped their just burden of taxation.

"Had I the power," said the speaker, "I'd make high and low, big and little, rich and poor, obey the law alike. All should be on an equality before the law, none above it, none below it. And not only should all stand equal before the law, but that law should be impartially administered, with the same precision and exactness, without secret or special privilege. From the standpoint of the NEW YORK TIMES this is my radicalism."

In closing Senator Johnson said:

"If it be radical to demand one hundred per cent. service from public officials and to insist upon justice and decency and righteousness in government; if it be radical to preach that humanity have equal consideration with property, and that both be equally protected and conserved; * * * if, finally, it be radical to be just American—then I admit the charge and accept the challenge."

About 2,000 people were jammed into the auditorium. Afterward the Senator addressed about 2,000 more outside from a hastily improvised speaker's stand.

PENROSE IS IMPROVING.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Senator Penrose has not suffered any relapse but is making steady improvement and intends to go to the Republican Convention, according to a statement by his physicians made public here today. There has been no change in his condition in the last few days, although he has suffered slightly from fatigue due to prolonged conferences with political leaders.

The following statement, issued by his physicians, was given out at Senator Penrose's office:

"Senator Penrose is progressing satisfactorily, but exhibits constant tendency to work beyond the limit set by his physicians. With a desire to conserve his strength and prepare for the harder work approaching at the convention, it has been thought advisable still further to reduce the number of his callers during the next few days. The Senator continues to improve steadily and, if given sufficient time, it is expected that ultimately his health will be completely restored."

WHEELER TO NAME JOHNSON

Senator Picks San Francisco Man to Nominate Him in Chicago.

CHICAGO, May 24.—Senator Hiram Johnson will be placed in nomination for President at the Republican National Convention by Charles S. Wheeler of San Francisco, it was announced at Johnson headquarters today.

It also was announced that the twenty-two delegates from North Carolina, who will be chosen in a preferential primary June 5, have agreed to abide by the newspaper tabulation. Senator Johnson will be in North Carolina on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. General Wood also has filed in North Carolina.

SAILOR SENTENCED TO DIE.

Two Convicted, Trial of Third Is Begun, for Brooklyn Murder.

Guy Nichols of Trimble, Ohio, the naval seaman who was convicted last week of a part in the murder of Samuel Wolchock, an aged storekeeper of 208 Wyckoff Avenue, Brooklyn, was sentenced yesterday by Justice Manning to die in the electric chair in Sing Sing during the week of July 5. Jesse Walker of Evansville, Ind., a former shipmate of Nichols, is already in the death house as a result of his conviction for sharing in the murder.

Joseph F. Auth of Brooklyn, also a sailor, and the last of the trio charged with the murder of Wolchock, waited in an ante-room while his former shipmate was sentenced. As soon as Nichols was led from the courtroom the trial of Auth began. A jury was obtained and the taking of testimony had begun before court adjourned.

KID McCOY LOCKED UP.

Former Prizefighter Is Accused of Disorder in Cabaret.

Norman Selby, better remembered as Kid McCoy, pugilist, refused to leave the Paradise Room at Reisenweber's early this morning when an assistant manager protested he was noisy and disturbing the cabaret. Patrolman Enright of the West Forty-seventh Street Station ejected him and locked him up on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Selby, who gave his address as the Hotel Cumberland and his occupation as actor, was accompanied by a man who said his name was Green.

Beaf-Eating Lion Leaves Hotel.

400,000 Quarts in December
700,000 Quarts in June

Sheffield Cream Makes Good Coffee Better

THIS is the problem you often hear of as "surplus milk." In December, when everybody is at home, we need 400,000 quarts of milk to supply our customers. When June comes, the same cows that made the 400,000 quarts in December send us 700,000 quarts, and at a time when many customers are away. We take all the milk that the farmer sends. This surplus cannot be sold as fresh milk. The consumers show no disposition to change their milk habits to meet this condition, so the surplus goes into butter and cheese to be held until you will buy it.

In no other industry that we know of does the merchandiser engage to take all that the producer makes. Yet this is exactly what Sheffield Farms does. The unsuccessful salvaging of this surplus has spelled ruin for many in the past.

P.P.C. Printing Facts

Composition on the linotype can be done more quickly and less expensively than on the monotype. On the other hand, corrections and run-arounds can be done with greater facility on the monotype. Some believe that monotype presswork is sharper than linotype. It is easier to print from linotype slugs than from monotype type, which has a tendency to work up. All things considered, we generally recommend monotype composition where the edition is long enough to require electrotyping, and linotype composition where the printing can be done from slugs and the set-up is without tables or run-arounds.

RAIL OFFICIALS ACT TO BREAK BLOCKADE

MORE FREIGHT IS MOVING

Waterfront Situation Made Worse by Strike Order to Coastwise Lighter Captains.

Railroad officials here conferred yesterday on the appointment of a local committee of three members to direct railroad operations in this vicinity, in an attempt to break the freight blockade. The committee, whose appointment is provided for by the action of the Interstate Commerce Commission, will be composed of a railroad man, a traffic man representing the big shippers, and a third member to be appointed by the commission.

W. J. McGarry of Washington, representing the car service department of the American Railway Association, attended the meeting, which was held at 75 Church Street. He received reports from the managers of the roads entering New York relating to the movement of empty cars westward. The movement is progressing rapidly, but reports on local congestion were said to be far from encouraging, although one or two individual roads showed great improvement.

The railroad managers have selected a representative on the committee of three, which will have wide powers in directing the movement of freight. The appointee's name was withheld, but it was said that the entire committee would be announced within a few days.

More Freight Moving.

Several hundred empty freight cars are being moved daily, the railroads reported. Two of the lines—the New York Central and the Pennsylvania—also reported a big increase in freight movement. Virtually all of the embargoes that were in force last week are still on and some additional embargoes have been imposed.

The New York Central reported that its traffic was normal in the city with the exception of the marine department. There the service is about 60 to 70 per cent. of normal, officials said. About 1,000 cars are being unloaded daily by the New York Central and approximately the same number are leaving with outbound freight.

The Pennsylvania broke all its local record for the movement of food stuffs yesterday by bringing in 700 carloads. "There has been a steady improvement in the last few days," said a Pennsylvania official. "On Saturday we brought in altogether 1,520 carloads and sent out 482 loads and 760 empty cars. On Sunday we brought in 1,061 carloads and sent out 597 loaded cars and 986 empties. The marine situation is holding us back."

Waterfront Conditions Worse.

Reports from the waterfront and the railroad terminals received yesterday by the Merchants' Association show, according to a statement of the association, that the transportation tieup has "changed distinctly for the worse since last week, although improvements are noted in certain directions."

"The lighter Captains of the coastwise steamship companies have been ordered out and will lighter no freight to private piers or docks in New York Harbor," says the statement. "The railroad lighter Captains have also notified the railroad companies that they will not lighter freight to or from the coastwise steamship lines. In addition to the difficulty of getting deliveries to and removals of freight from the piers of the coastwise steamship companies, this last strike practically ties them up for the present. The lighter Captains involved are the Captains of the lighters operated by the coastwise companies themselves.

Reports From the Railroads.

"The reports from the railroads today are as follows:

"The Pennsylvania is accepting freight if the agent at the pier where it is to be delivered says that it can be accepted.

"The Erie will accept inbound carload freight for delivery at four piers without permit and at four other piers with permit. It is taking all freight moved across the Hudson and it has canceled the embargo on freight to and from Brooklyn stations.

"The Baltimore & Ohio has an absolute embargo against inbound freight for delivery in this city and on Long Island.

"The Delaware, Lackawanna & Western has embargoes on eastbound freight through Buffalo, East Buffalo and Black Rock. On inbound freight to or through Hoboken the embargo is modified to permit acceptance of less than carload freight from Hoboken, Manhattan and Brooklyn stations.

"The New York, New Haven & Hartford is open for inbound less than carload freight from local points on the Fall River and Providence lines.

Meeting Today at Hotel Astor.

"The New York Central Railroad is accepting inbound freight that does not require lighter or float delivery.

"The Long Island is accepting eastbound freight from as far as Newark and westbound for as far West as Chicago.

"The Central Railroad of New Jersey is accepting inbound freight excepting delivery at the Bush Terminal and at Westside Avenue. For outbound freight it is necessary to obtain a permit.

"The New York, Ontario & Western announces that its Jay Street and Wallabout Terminal stations in Brooklyn are open for both inbound and outbound freight and that its stations at Thirty-sixth Street or Pier 23, North River, and Piers 4 and 54 East River.

"The Lehigh Valley has extended its embargoes closing all its New York piers to inbound freight."

The Merchants' Association completed its preparations for the meeting which it has called at the Hotel Astor today to discuss the transportation situation. The principal speaker will be Frederick J. Koster, former President of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

War Hero, Thief, Gets Five Years.

Frank McBride, 32, of 1,004 Ogden Avenue, the Bronx, was sentenced to Sing Sing Prison for five years by Judge Mulqueen in General Sessions yesterday, on a plea of guilty to the theft of $3,528 from the National Bank of Commerce. He obtained a position as clerk in the bank when he returned as a Lieutenant from overseas service. He had received decorations from the French and American Governments.

GETS INCREASED ALLOWANCE

Grandson of Robert Dunlap Will Draw $400 a Month.

John Robert Lawson Johnston, who lived with his grandmother, Mrs. Amelia N. Dunlap, widow of Robert Dunlap, hat manufacturer, at 43 Fifth Avenue, until her death on May 12, asked Surrogate Foley yesterday to add $200 a month to his allowance of $200 a month. The court granted his request. His mother, Fannie D. Lawson Johnston, was divorced several years ago from John O. L. Johnston, an English tea merchant, and died in January, 1919, leaving her large estate in trust for him, but because it is in England he is unable to get an allowance without a court order. His grandmother set aside property in her lifetime yielding him $200 a month. He told the Surrogate he needed the additional money because the contents of his grandmother's home are about to be sold and he must find a place to live.

2,000 Men's Suits go on sale this morning at LESS than regular prices —with an additional saving of 20 per cent.

The Reason:—Embargoes and Cancellations

IN THE BURLINGTON ARCADE STORE
Made to sell at $65 to $75 ..... $50—less 20 per cent. (Your price) $40

IN THE LOWER PRICE BROADWAY STORE
Made to sell at $55 to $60 ..... $45—less 20 per cent. (Your price) $36

These suits were made by one of the largest makers of men's clothing in the East.

They were made for good stores in various parts of the country. But—

Conditions, as you know, have been uncertain. Shipments have been delayed for several causes. And—

In a big manufacturing plant it doesn't take long for a big stock to accumulate.

The fortunate part of this condition is the fact that it results in this sale and in these low prices.

The maker came to us because he knew we could use the large quantity. And—

He also realized that with our 20 per cent. discount, the opportunity would be a real one.

So this morning

these suits will be ready; and there will be sizes and styles and colors and patterns for every man who has a definite idea of the suit he wants. We know of nothing better for service than good worsteds, cassimeres and flannels; and you can well understand that our acceptance of these suits is proof that they measure up to the required standard of our men's stores.

Remember

there are sizes here for stout men, slim men, tall men, short men, and the variety of models invites both father and son.

DANIELS CLASHES WITH SENATOR HALE

SUBMITS NAVY'S WAR PLANS

Contends They Were as Adequate as "Any in the History of Any Navy in the World."

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Cross-examination of Secretary Daniels before the Senate Naval Investigating Committee today wound about in a tortuous way from verbal wrangle to debate and back to wordy clashes between the Secretary and Chairman Hale. The latter at one point requested Mr. Daniels to answer a question with "yes" or "no" and the Secretary challenged the right of the Chairman to tell him how to reply.

"I am Secretary of the Navy and I shall answer you in accordance with the duties of my office," the Secretary retorted. "You have no more right to tell me how to answer a question than I have to tell you how to ask it."

Mr. Daniels's testimony today dealt largely with the Navy Department's war plans in April, 1917. He furnished the committee with a lengthy list of war plans of various types, to refute, he said, Rear Admiral Sims's charge that the Department had no dual plans.

During one interchange the Chairman accused Mr. Daniels of delaying the hearings by introducing "irrelevant matter" and by giving evasive answers.

"At the present rate it looks like the committee will be here all Summer," the Chairman added.

"All right," replied Mr. Daniels, "that suits me."

"I can't understand why you are introducing so much irrelevant matter," continued Senator Hale. "These hearings are being conducted at great expense to the Government, and I would think that you would be as anxious as any of us to expedite them."

"I am not introducing irrelevant matter, and I do wish to expedite the hearings," replied Mr. Daniels, "but I intend to give full answers to your questions if it takes all Summer."

Mr. Daniels told the committee that the Navy Department had plans "as adequate as any in the history of any navy in the world," for war "against any possible enemy." They included, he said, a specific general plan for war against Germany, an anti-submarine campaign, mobilization, operating, command, strategy, base and logistics plans.

Asked by the Chairman if he was a "naval expert" when he became Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Daniels replied that he was not, but that he had been studying naval organization and administration for seven years.

Mr. Daniels testified that in 1915 he instructed the General Board to prepare a plan for war "against any possible enemy." Such a plan was prepared, he said, in addition to the "black" plan, drawn up years before specifically for war against Germany.

In addition to these plans, Mr. Daniels said that on Feb. 10, 1917, he submitted to the General Board a problem based on a declaration of war against Germany, asking for an estimate of the situation directed at close co-operation with the allies, the best method of driving the submarines from the seas and the use of United States battleships. The answer was submitted on Feb. 17, Mr. Daniels testified, and formed the basis for many of the navy's operations during the war.

Asked by Chairman Hale to submit a copy of the reply to the problem, Mr. Daniels said that the one copy had been lost.

Arbitrary Files Complicate Routine
And Help Disorganize Your Office

Your Organization Plan Governs Application of the Amberg Line

OFFICE coordination invariably leads up to filing. That is why files not individualized to your business can never fully cooperate with it.

The Amberg Plan, which consists of fitting basic filing principles to your established business methods, was evolved by the need for individualized files.

The Law Of Correspondence Basis Of The Amberg Plan

Commercial names occur in correspondence according to a law. After analyzing millions of names, Amberg discovered this law and named it the Law of Correspondence. It is based on the Amberg masterlist of 205,920 names proved by observation to occur with 99½% constancy in business. When applied to your correspondence together with provision for the special volume of filing created by your purchasing, agencies, branches or other special relationships, this law gives correct distribution of documents and reliable filing.

Why Over 75,000 Firms Have Adopted The Amberg Plan

The Amberg Plan is not a system but a method. How it is applied, depends wholly on how you are organized, who you sell to, who sells to you. It can never fail to result in individualized files.

How You Can Test The Value Of The Amberg Plan To You

Make Amberg prove to you that the Amberg Plan would solve your particular filing problems. It will prove worth your while to know in just what respect the Amberg Plan will help you. You will gain some valuable ideas about filing no matter what you decide.

THOUGH Amberg manufactures the highest quality of Wood and Steel Filing Cabinets and every filing accessory, Amberg only sells filing materials as a means of solving filing problems. As many Amberg Plans are installed in other makes of cabinets, as in Amberg cabinets.

SAYS ARMY WAS TOLD OF BERGDOLL PLANS

BUT DENIES RESPONSIBILITY

Philadelphia Records Show Sales by Bergdoll Family—Refugee Got Much Gold.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Plans by Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, the draft evader, who escaped in Philadelphia Friday and is still at large, to jump his bail or to flee in some fashion, were known to the military intelligence department three weeks ago, according to a statement made by Attorney General Palmer. The Attorney General resents implications that the Department of Justice is responsible for not frustrating Bergdoll's plans.

The Attorney General's statement said:

"I have noted in the press, particularly in the daily papers of Philadelphia, a statement to the effect that the Department of Justice had received a letter of warning that Grover C. Bergdoll would attempt to make his escape and by inference placing the blame upon the Department for not having anticipated and prevented Bergdoll's escape.

"The Department received a letter from one of its special agents dated April 30, 1920, which is the only letter received and is unquestionably the one referred to in the dispatches, to the effect that Bergdoll would make application for a writ of habeas corpus which would take him temporarily out of the custody of the War Department and place him in the custody of a marshal or deputy marshal; that pending these proceedings he would attempt to make his escape, or if allowed bail, would jump his bail bond.

"The Bureau of Investigation made its plans, therefore, to prevent any escape in case of application for a writ of habeas corpus. No such application was ever made and Bergdoll did not come within the jurisdiction of the Department of Justice in any manner that would warrant our interference.

"At the time of Bergdoll's escape he was in the jurisdiction and custody of the Department of War. The information embodied in the letter above referred to first came to the attention of one of the officers of the Military Intelligence Division of the War Department, who communicated the information to our agent. The War Department, therefore, was in possession of the same information that the Department of Justice had."

Ex-Congressman Thomas W. Miller of Delaware, Chairman of the National Legislative Committee of the American Legion, said today that it had been suggested to the National Commander of the Legion that the entire machinery of the organization throughout the country be used in the apprehension of Bergdoll. A statement from Legion headquarters said:

"The Legislative Committee, of which Mr. Miller is Chairman, has in the past carried protests to the Secretary of War concerning the leniency shown conscientious objectors, and the policy which permitted a man like Bergdoll to be out of prison and on a rainbow chase is only a continuation of the policy of the War Department towards conscientious objectors, for which the Secretary of War himself is personally responsible."

PHILADELPHIA, May 24.—Colonel T. R. Donaldson of the Inspector General's Department, Washington, is due here late today to take up the local angles of the War Department's inquiry into responsibility for Bergdoll's escape.

Previous to his arrival here, Colonel Donaldson completed his investigation at Governors Island, where Bergdoll was serving a five-year sentence for evading the draft.

No trace has been found of the fugitive by the Federal and civil agents searching for him. Rumors of all sorts reached the Federal authorities today, one of them to the effect that Bergdoll had planned to leave the country. This was given some credence by Harry B. Pierce, Division Superintendent of the Department of Justice.

Records at City Hall show that both Grover and his brother, Ervin Bergdoll, as well as their mother, recently have disposed of large real estate holdings. Ervin also is being sought as an alleged draft dodger. According to the records, Grover sold property on May 10 and May 16 aggregating more than $100,000.

Mr. Gibboney today verified Bergdoll's statement regarding a large sum of gold he concealed. He said Bergdoll, before he fled to avoid the draft, drew $105,000 in $20 gold pieces from a bank. "He placed the money in bags containing $10,000 each," added Mr. Gibboney. "These he stowed away in two metal chests, which he said he buried in the mountains."

Twenty agents of the Department of Justice were put on the case today.

The American Legion Weekly announced last night that it would pay a reward of $500 to "any person who shall apprehend or supply exclusive information leading to the apprehension" of Bergdoll. This makes the total reward $3,050; Bergdoll's lawyers have offered $2,500, and the Government the legal $50.

AUDITORE AUTOPSY ASKED.

Stevedore's Brother Wants Body Exhumed—Await Widow's Wishes.

Exhumation of and an autopsy on the body of Joseph Auditore, known as the "millionaire stevedore," who died on May 9 in the apartment of Miss Jennie Lebonsky, 124 West Seventy-second Street, Manhattan, was asked yesterday of District Attorney Lewis of Kings County, by James Auditore, brother of the dead man. No charges were made by Mr. Auditore, but Franklin Taylor, his attorney, said that the circumstances of the case made an investigation advisable.

The will of Joseph Auditore, made only two days before his death, left $80,000 to Dr. Adolph Monae-Lesser, one of the attending physicians, to carry out verbal instructions of the deceased. Miss Lebonsky is the beneficiary of two insurance policies for $50,000. The cause of Mr. Auditore's death was given as pneumonia.

Why Kangaroo Wears Well In A Shoe

KANGAROO is as tough and durable as Cordovan, yet soft an pliable as an old kid glove. It does not crack, peel or scuff and takes a high polish like French Waxed Calf.

This is no indication that we do not have other leathers for Gentlemen's shoes. For those who prefer a somewhat stouter leather—such as Russia Calfskin, imported Wax Calf, or Cordovan—we have them—in model and pattern to suit each individual requirement.

Durability and service is safeguarded by quality of raw material and excellence of workmanship. That is why the Edwin Clapp Shoe is refined, comfortable and economical.

THE BLOCKADE OF THE PORT.

The local difficulties in the way of deflation are representative of those throughout the country. If the trade blockade here can be broken there will be more consumable goods available everywhere, and there will be such an easing of the credit situation that the costs of production and the anxieties of doing business will be much relieved. There ought to be a better prospect of this result than there actually is, because the basic difficulties are not economic; they are mainly antisocial. One class of labor after another is striking, not because of conditions of employment, but through class sympathy, rather than sympathy with the common welfare.

The Central Federated Union has formally approved the action of the truckmen in declining to haul goods to or from piers where there are strikes. The teamsters are asking nothing for themselves, but they will not aid in strike breaking. The strike which causes the refusal to handle non-union goods is in violation of an award which runs until next October, and despite expressed readiness to reconsider the award if the men will continue at work. On Saturday the lightermen struck in sympathy with the longshoremen and the truckmen, making no individual demands. There are only some 6,000 strikers here, but the number is growing as the circle of sympathizers widens, and there are several other unions listed for sympathetic idleness. The damage from the strikes is excessive compared to the numbers involved. The blocking of the terminals here plays its part in backing up idle cars to the midcontinent. The local situation attaches itself to the national situation through the claim of the strikers that the railways are evading the eight-hour provisions of the Esch-Cummins railway law by retiring from the lighter business, as it could be done more cheaply by contract.

No attempt is made to pass upon the merits of these various disputes, because there underlies them an issue of larger importance; in fact, greater than all of them together. That issue is whether any combination of class interests shall stop the processes of community welfare and life until their individual demands shall be satisfied. No one is asking any of the classes of strikers to work for less than a living wage. The utmost proposal of the combination of civic organizations against the combinations of unions is that those who are satisfied with their conditions of employment shall be allowed to serve the public in peace. There is no shortage of truckmen, or lightermen, or longshoremen, but these and many other workers are afraid of their lives if they offend the unions. This assertion rests upon more than common knowledge, upon affidavits in fact, and upon actual experience. Spokesmen for the unions represent the demand that willing workers shall be allowed to work as "anti-unionism," "repression" and "coercion." In Sunday's TIMES, Mr. HOSMER expressed the view of the Federation that the several civic organizations combining against the unions are seeking to "disunionize labor," and unreasonably expect "unions to aid in destroying unions."

It is safe to say that the civic organizations and the community entertain no such intentions or desires. The community is thinking of itself and its right to be served rather than of the unions. The community's right to self-defense and survival outranks even that of the unions, and if it becomes necessary to assert it, will prevail over any opposing combination. There can be no social or industrial existence if goods cannot be moved, whatever the reasons. The goods will be moved whatever the obstacles, and the rights or wrongs of the disputes will be postponed until after the breaking of the hostile blockade.

THE CARRANZA TRAGEDY.

According to a statement made to the Diplomatic Corps by JUAN SANCHEZ ANCONA of the Mexican Foreign Office, President CARRANZA was murdered at Tlaxcalantongo by General RODOLFO HERRERA in retaliation for the execution of HERRERA'S father recently "by orders of CARRANZA and CABRERA." But this same RODOLFO HERRERA, a Lieutenant of General PELAEZ, who was a rebel in the Tampico district, had previously surrendered to the Government and his life had been spared. Clemency to an insurgent leader is not considered rational in Mexico. President MADERO confined FELIX DIAZ with privileges in a military prison, from which DIAZ escaped to lead a barracks revolution and overthrow the Government of his merciful judge. The murder of MADERO, one of the foulest crimes recorded in Mexican history, soon followed.

Señor ANCONA'S story of the Carranza tragedy seems plausible, but as HERRERA must have known that it was the declared purpose of General OBREGON to give President CARRANZA a safe conduct to Vera Cruz, the former Lieutenant of the bandit PELAEZ risked the vengeance of the victorious leader of the revolution; and HERRERA is to be hunted down and made to pay the penalty of his insubordinate ferocity, according to a report from the Obregon headquarters. Certainly, the ex-Minister of War and candidate for the Presidency cannot afford to let the murder of his old chief prevent a recognition of the new "constitutional" Government; that is to say, it must be proved to the satisfaction of the Administration at Washington that President CARRANZA was not "removed" for political reasons.

ALVARO OBREGON as painted by BLASCO IBANEZ is a normal Mexican patriot and politician, with the frailties and passions of the type, but he is not without common sense and prudence. He should have the credit of a desire to save the life of President CARRANZA to advance and secure his own political fortunes. If CARRANZA died a martyr to vengeance, his soul would rally the disaffected in a new insurrection. In Coahuila, where the dead Constitutionalist leader and President is honored, there would probably arise some soldier of influence to reject OBREGON and wage a war with no quarter upon his Government. Accordingly, it is essential that everything should be done to establish the fact that President CARRANZA was the victim of a private avenger or of a bandit who coveted the gold that he carried in his flight. As the "First Chief" enjoyed the respect of great numbers of Mexicans, OBREGON may have some difficulty in avoiding the consequences of the martyrdom of his old leader and benefactor.

RECONCILING IRRECONCILABILITIES.

Mr. HIRAM W. JOHNSON, Jr., his father's campaign manager in Chicago, is a chip of the old block. He says bluntly that "Senator JOHNSON must "be nominated at the Republican "Convention, or the West, at least, "will go Democratic." The truth is that Senator JOHNSON, who is root and branch against the League of Nations, with reservations or without, has had in Oregon a considerable support which illustrates the predicament of the two or three wings of the Republican Party. For instance, Senator MCNARY cleaved to Mr. JOHNSON in the primary because that eminent Native Son of the Golden West is a Westerner.

Mr. MCNARY is a conspicuous defender of the League with reservations. He tries to excuse his inconsistency by predicting that Mr. JOHNSON'S truculent hostility to the League will have to surrender to "the overpowering force of public opinion." That is, Mr. JOHNSON is to be a turncoat. He is to be false to the opinions which have won him so motley a following in divers primaries. It is an imaginary Mr. JOHNSON that Mr. MCNARY adheres to, much to the surprise and wrath of multitudes of Republicans in his State. Mr. JOHNSON is not the kind of man to be both for and against the League. Yet how can the Republican Convention name any man who will satisfy the Johnsonians and at the same time the friends of the League with reservations? By what legerdemain of words can they make practicable or plausible the enormous, the impossible, straddle that must be made?

Behind Mr. JOHNSON are forces which it may not be possible to restrain within party lines. He is the beloved of many radicals as well as of the haters of the League. In Oregon as in California he is the favorite of the anti-Japanese agitators, the "white man's" preference. Though his nomination be impossible, if the age of miracles has ceased, may not his defeat split the Republican Party—at least deprive it of the anti-League support to which it has steadily catered by direction and indirection—put into the field a third party, faithful to Mr. JOHNSON even if he should seem to be unfaithful to himself, and give the election to the Democrats?

The Republicans have played a reckless game. They may well be frightened by their own work. They let their tiger loose, and now they are afraid he is going to eat up the village. Even if we assume that there are only two Republican Parties, one willing to accept the League with reservations, the other regarding it as a covenant with hell, how are these two absolute and deadly opposites to be reconciled? Then there are conservative Republicans, Progressive Republicans, radical Republicans. What art of velvet speech can make black white? On questions vital to the business, the prosperity and the peace of the world, what juggling of platforms, what counterpoising of a nominee for President by a nominee for Vice President, can deceive the sincere mass of voters, who, whether their opinions are right or wrong, hold them honestly and are not to be gulled by politicians aiming only to carry the election? The Republican task is to reconcile irreconcilabilities. How are they going to do it?

ANGLING FOR THE IRISH VOTE.

The Irish question in Ireland is critical. But the Irish question in the United States is scandalous. Here it has been made the sport of intriguing politicians. They do not care a straw for Ireland, subjugated or independent, happy or miserable; but they do care mightily for Irish-American votes. To angle for them both parties have in the past stopped at nothing. Especially in a Presidential year is there an ignoble competition to see who can go furthest in affronting England, trampling upon the good understanding which was one of the most hopeful results of the war, and bringing American diplomacy into contempt.

The latest instance of this recklessness occurs in connection with a resolution now under consideration by the House Foreign Affairs Committee to "recognize" the Irish Republic and to send an American Minister to be "near" its Government. No one can prevent such fool resolutions from being introduced; but it is supposed to be the business of a responsible committee to throw them into the receptacles conveniently provided for rubbish. Chairman PORTER of the Foreign Affairs Committee, however, in order that he might do, or seem to be doing, something in the affair, wrote to the Department of State to ask how the Administration would view the passage of such a resolution. In reply Secretary COLBY was polite but curt. He would not undertake to "deter your "committee from any action which "is dictated by good judgment and "which it may feel conscientiously "impelled to take."

In all this the partisan manoeuvring is not hidden. The Republicans evidently hoped that a Democratic Administration would sternly frown upon their proposed folly. Then they could turn to the Irish and say: "You "see, we can do nothing against "WILSON with his implacable hatred "of Ireland." But now the Republicans are left free to go ahead and recognize Irish independence if they dare. It is, of course, almost inconceivable that they should do it. The Senate would block the move if the House were mad enough to make it. In the last resort the President would be bound to disregard it. He could let Congress know, as President CLEVELAND did when it was a question of a Congressional recognition of the Cuban Republic, that the opinions of Senators and Representatives on that subject were eminently interesting, but could have no effect upon the sworn duty of the Executive himself to receive and appoint Ministers and Ambassadors.

One would think that not even the most gullible of Irish-Americans could be deceived by all this partisan byplay. Its insincerity is transparent. But this does not make the entire procedure less humiliating. What shall it profit a party to gain a few Irish votes and lose the remnants of its own self-respect?

LABOR IN RUSSIA.

The Bolsheviki have ordered in the larger cities of Russia—and the system is apparently to be extended to the peasants—a registration of all men between the ages of 16 and 50, and all women between 15 and 40, "to insure "the full utilization of industrial "power and the elimination of para-"sitic elements." This is a worthy end, but the implications both of the purpose and of the means employed deserve some consideration. The State Department has given out a report of Comrade TROTZKY, dated March 21, on the militarization of labor. An effort had been made to enforce compulsory labor through the unions, which willingly enough assigned their members to the factories where the Government decided workers were needed; but about one-fifth of those so assigned failed to appear. They went back to the villages, where there was more food; they went into other industries than those to which they were assigned; or they went into speculation—profiteering, as it is called in bourgeois lands.

So militarization of labor was unavoidable. Says TROTZKY:

> Under a unified system of economy the masses of workmen should be moved about, ordered and sent from place to place in exactly the same manner as soldiers. * * * In the period of transition in the organization of labor compulsion plays a very important part. The statement that free labor, namely, freely employed labor, produces more than labor under compulsion is correct only when applied to feudal and bourgeois orders of society.

The perfect proletarian State, in other words, expects to get a full day's work out of its militarized labor. What does militarized labor mean? In another article, republished by The Living Age from the economic journal of the Soviets, TROTZKY says:

> Labor service means that the skilled workman, when he leaves the ranks of the army, must take his workbook in hand and go where his services are required.

He cannot work where he wants to work; he cannot be sure of staying with a job he likes; he goes where he is sent, where the Government thinks more workers are needed. To apply the system to local conditions, for example, a Soviet Government might think that there was an entirely needless number of weekly journals of liberal opinion in New York City and a scarcity of farm labor in the Middle West, so the editor would be taken from his desk and shipped to Kansas, the Government furnishing the pitchfork, overalls to be provided out of his own private means. We fear the local crop of Bolsheviki would be seriously reduced by such measures.

The present economic situation of Russia undeniably requires desperate methods; TROTZKY himself speaks of it as "starvation and disorganization." But unless the teachings of the Bolshevist leaders are seriously misread, they intend to apply the principle of compulsory labor as a permanent feature of their organization. If a Bolshevist State could ever be restored to normal economic life, the system might be less rigorously invoked; and undoubtedly the Bolshevist leaders hope that it will eventually be accepted as a matter of course, just as conscription for the army was in Continental Europe, and that the labor deserters would be no more numerous than those who evaded military service. But they stand by the principle that it is the citizen's duty to work where the Government tells him to work. To quote TROTZKY once more:

> This is entirely within the right of a Government exercising centralized and specialized control of production.

If such a system could be made to work well it would solve some very troublesome labor problems. There would be no more floating labor and no more periodic employment. But the price would be high. The new measures are evidently aimed at the 20 per cent. of deserters. The only personal identification hereafter accepted in Russia will be the labor registration card. If people like that sort of thing, that is the sort of thing they like.

WILL SCOTLAND GO DRY?

The very question staggers. As well ask whether Scotland will turn Papist or abolish golf or cease to send her sons along the high road to England—the pleasantest prospect they ever witness, according to Dr. Johnson—in order to win the biggest prizes at the bar and in public life. It seems a bad joke even to hint that the land of mighty potations may give up its usquebaugh. What would ROBERT BURNS have to say to it? What the droughty CHRISTOPHER NORTH? Must HARRY LAUDER let his song about the "wee drap" die in a parched throat?

Probably not; yet it is the fact that a Scottish prohibition campaign is about to begin. An enabling act will go into effect on June 1, under which local-option elections will be held throughout the country. The actual voting will probably not take place till November or December. At least one-tenth of the electors in any voting unit must sign a demand for a poll before one will be ordered. And to forestall a decision by a handful, it is provided that in order to carry "no-license" in a given district not less than 35 per cent. of the registered voters must cast their ballots, and not less than 55 per cent. of the total vote polled must be in favor of the change.

In Scotland, therefore, it will be a real submission of the liquor question to the people, with little possibility of snap judgment, and none at all of terrorized Legislatures. Strictly speaking, it will not be a prohibition campaign, since, even if no license were to win everywhere—of which there is no likelihood at all—the licensing court could grant hotels the right to sell strong drink to tourists ready to perish. No one who knows to what excess whisky drinking has been carried in Glasgow and Edinburgh will deny the need of checking it by any means possible. The probability is, however, that the cities will remain as they are, except that certain wards may vote dry, while some of the burghs and counties will doubtless pussyfoot into virtual prohibition.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Responsibility Needs Definition.

Young BERGDOLL, in himself, is a wholly inconsequential person, and whether he is caught or not, except for the implications involved, makes no particular difference to anybody not sympathetic with him as a man of American birth who was willing to risk anything except life rather than fight the Germans. Out of his case, however, especially if his recapture should be long delayed, there may arise an answer to the interesting question, now wrapped in a good deal of mystery and uncertainty—what is the exact measure of responsibility assumed by a lawyer when he promises that an accused or convicted client of his, if put in his custody, shall or shall not do certain things?

In this instance, unfortunately, the question is complicated by the fact that BERGDOLL had other guardians on his trip than the lawyers who had obtained for him from the military authorities permission to make it.

The lawyers have recognized the existence of some obligation, as they have now offered a reward for BERGDOLL'S apprehension. The reward, however, is a rather absurdly small one, considering that BERGDOLL easily could, and more than probably would, pay several times as much to change the mind of anybody able and willing to make money out of his present stronghold for seclusion.

If the offer of the reward produces no results, what will happen then? It would be justice of a sort—poetic, perhaps—if, in such cases, the lawyer who makes the promise to keep his client at the disposition of the law and fails to do it should be held to the same responsibility that rested on his client. If the latter owed certain years of imprisonment, why shouldn't the lawyer who overestimated his own supervisory and custodial powers go to jail till those years had passed?

What Would They Do to Holland?

Of course, no court would think of imposing "poetic justice" on anybody. That is done in mediæval tales, Oriental and other, but it is not modern practice. Probably the only penalty to be suffered nowadays by a lawyer whose assurances as to his client's behavior have once been proved untrustworthy would be some loss of reputation and inability ever again to get from any Judge a favor of the same sort.

While considering the Bergdoll case one is reminded that a like, but much larger, problem would arise if the former Kaiser should elude his Dutch custodians, escape to Germany and make there for the Allies more of what they already have there quite enough—which is trouble. Holland, too, has been warned, solemnly and formally, that she will be held responsible if her unwelcome guest escapes, but what would be done to her, and by whom, has not been defined, nor is it easily imaginable.

Escaped Only to Perish.

At least a sympathetic sigh is deserved by the poor bear that exchanged captivity for liberty only to meet a death much like the one that overtook the fugitive President of Mexico. That this particular bear had become dangerously irascible in temper is true, as has been noticed by all who watched his restless pacing about his den at the Zoo, but for irritability he had the sufficient excuse of having been dragged away from his native Canadian wilds to be an object of curiosity in a place where nothing interested him.

Nobody can blame this bear for utilizing the discovery that he could climb the tall iron fence behind which he had languished so long, and, from his own point of view—which was the only one he was under any legal or moral obligation to take—it was cruelly unfair to condemn him to death merely because he was likely to hurt anybody who barred his way back to the distant woods where his heart was. As a matter of fact, however, this bear showed that he had the good sense of other bears, for when his enemies approached in numbers he knew to be overwhelming he took to a tree instead of engaging in a hopeless battle.

On the grubby principle of "safety first" it probably was judicious to shoot an animal so strong and fierce, but just the same it is permitted to be a little sorrowful, and somewhat more surprised, that resort to such a desperate measure was so prompt. A recapture was not an obvious impossibility, though doubtless it would have been attended with some excitement for those who attempted it.

Possibilities Have Wide Range.

High authorities differ as to whether or not the present price reductions are to be permanent. It is to be observed, however, that those who predict a not remote resumption of the too familiar series of advances base their gloomy assurances on a fallacy.

The laying in of new stocks, they say, is now at prices which make it "impossible" to sell except for prices still higher than prevailed before what they call "a mere flurry of price cutting."

But when they say "impossible" they are the victims of a serious error, and a surprising one, too, for the happenings of the last week should have revealed plainly enough to everybody that among the cruel possibilities of commerce is that of selling at smaller than accustomed profits, or even at a loss.

The buying public is not the altogether helpless creature it has been thought to be—has thought itself to be. At last it has made the valuable discovery that it can go without many things it wants and some things it needs. And when it does that, prices not only come down, they stay down.

A CLEAR-CUT ISSUE.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

At the time of the signing of the armistice, I was an officer in the United States Army in France, and shortly thereafter was transferred to the Peace Commission with headquarters in Paris. In carrying out my duties with the Peace Commission I had occasion to travel in most of the war-stricken countries of Europe. In all, I visited about thirteen countries in the six months following the signing of the armistice.

I have followed with more than usual interest the debates in the Senate over the Treaty of Versailles. I have been humiliated beyond expression by the partisan and seemingly sinister motives of those who have blocked the signing of that treaty. In most of the debate the great fundamental object of the treaty is overlooked; the great object which drew us into the World War—the making of such a treaty as would tend to make such a condition impossible which existed before the opening of the war in 1914. Would that I might have had with me those members of the Senate who by every art of the partisan have thrown dust in the eyes of the people. Would that the Ledges, Borahs and Johnsons might have seen the suffering, privation, destitution, poverty, disease, filth and disaster I have seen. If they could have seen typhus-stricken Rumania at the close of the war; if they could have seen the poverty and destruction in Northern Italy; the disease and stagnation in Serbia; the suffering and martyrdom of Northern France and Belgium. Would personal ambition, lack of vision and lack of comprehension of the needs of the world have guided their action, or would they have been willing to at least try the new order?

The world has tried the balance of power idea for centuries and its results are a matter of history. There is no hope for Europe or for the world in the balance of power arrangement for nations. Something different must be tried, and the League of Nations is the pathway to the greatest experiment of all time.

If the League of Nations must go into the coming Presidential campaign, let there be no straddling of the issue. Let the issue be clear cut. Let the Republicans nominate Johnson if he is the best exponent of their beliefs and let the Democratic Party nominate one who will be worthy of the confidence of our great President, Woodrow Wilson, and those of us who believe a League of Nations is the greatest hope of the world.

SILAS L. EGLY.
Ardmore, Okla., May 20, 1920.

SENOR IBANEZ ON MEXICO.

A Latin American Complains of the Picture Presented.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Señor Blasco Ibañez's series of articles on the Mexico of today have caused great excitement everywhere, although of a different nature. The majority of the public that knows nothing about Latin America except for the occasional remarks of hasty travelers follows with relish the political and social gossip which constitutes the bulk of information so far displayed by the Spanish writer. On the other hand, the best informed people and the more broad-minded, together with the Latin-American reader, see with repugnance this slandering of a people by the very man who was their honored guest of yesterday.

The joke about learning Spanish in fifteen days and the books on Hispanic America by a member of a touring party has now its counterpart in this analysis of Mexico by a visitor of a month and a half. The fact that he repeats here and again that he does not believe what he has been told, and he tells the public, does not in our belief diminish, but increases, his moral responsibility.

Señor Ibañez, before starting for Mexico, prepared his way into the heart of the country by hastening to denounce in a Chicago paper the whole lot of the oil men of the United States as interventionists, and, therefore, cannot disclaim knowledge that every line he was going to write after his visit would be viewed as a friendly judgment of Mexico by one of a kindred people. Besides, those first impressions were intended for a public who never had the best information on things Mexican, or, for that matter, Latin American.

Let us be candid and lament the waste of such splendid descriptive qualities as form the main asset of Mr. Ibañez's literary personality. But it never could be said with better foundation than now that a gift embodies the duty of its right employment, and we cannot assert that such is the case when the author refers to Japanese and German penchant of Mexican officials, in full consciousness of the misleading effect they may have in this country.

Every decent Mexican, nay, every decent Latin American, will protest also at the reference of Señor Ibañez to the personal honesty of the late President Carranza—the only man who, no matter how stubborn he might have been, had courage enough to earn the consideration and perhaps the respect of the best people in the United States by demonstrating with his serene and firm attitude of the last few months that the way to make the Latin-American nations respected by their great neighbor is not through flattery and subservience, but in the composed attitude of national dignity.

It is not enough for us Latin Americans to disclaim solidarity with each other, for it is being forced on us on every occasion, especially on the unfavorable side. So THE TIMES, commenting on the sources of information of its contributor, speaks of Mexico "like all Latin-American countries, as a whispering gallery of gossip, a mart of personal anecdote, a theatre of illuminating burlesque and satire."

So, when the Spaniards of New York kept silent on the matter, a silence that could be easily taken for humiliation, and when the Mexicans themselves are absorbed in their internal struggle, it is proper, I believe, for a Latin-American newspaper man, who has labored for years in his sphere of action for a better knowledge of our people in the United States, to express to Mr. Ibañez the deep feeling of disgust and regret he finds his work is causing among the people of his own race and language.

ERNESTO MONTENEGRO.
New York, May 22, 1920.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I read in yesterday's TIMES an article written by the novelist, Vicente Blasco Ibañez, entitled "Carranza and the Queer Court He Gathered Around Him in Mexico." I had already noticed a number of inexactitudes in Blasco Ibañez's writings about Mexico; but in the article mentioned I find a statement that no Mexican should allow to pass unchallenged.

Referring to President Porfirio Diaz, Blasco Ibañez says: "It was a common gossip that he employed expert Parisian specialists to paint his lips and whiten his cheeks."

I have lived all my life in Mexico and never heard such gossip.

Whatever President Diaz's work as a statesman may have been, and whatever defects and qualities he may have had, it is too early yet to make an impartial judgment of him; but nobody, even his bitterest enemies, would dare to accuse him of having been effeminate, as, on the contrary, one of his principal characteristics was to be manly until the very last breath of his life.

I never held any official position in President Diaz's administration, neither was I a party to his intimate circle; nevertheless, I knew him perfectly well and had occasion to be with him many times; therefore I am in a position to assure you that Blasco Ibañez's statement is absolutely false.

SINGLE FILE.

I am bidding them good-bye,
While my heart is near to breaking,
As the boys of '61,
Day by day, their leave are taking;

And I dread the coming dawn,
For the sad drums will be beating,
Ere the sunset gun, a dirge,
For a comrade's spirit fleeting.

"He was old," they say, "grieve not,
For his days on earth were over!"
Ah! the one my fond eyes see,
Is the rosy-cheeked young lover.

He, with visored cap aslant
Over curls beneath it flowing,
And with cape and coat of blue,
To the front is blithely going.

With his Springfield rifle swung
O'er his shoulder—volunteering—
I still see him marching forth
Through the tumult and the cheering.

To the tremulous bugle-call,
To the unforgotten drumming,
Lincoln's men march forth again
Whither is awaits their coming.

Oh, my country! grieve with me,
And these loyal sons remember,
As their shining May days pass
Into days of bleak December,

When thy flag was rent in twain,
'Twas the threads of life now ending,
That were giv'n to make it whole
Without vestige of the mending.

I am bidding them good-bye,
While my heart with grief is bleeding,
As the volunteers pass on,
In the mist of time receding.

HIGH EXCHANGE HITS SWISS.

Keeps Tourists Away from Hotels, but Basle Attracts Congresses.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERNE, May 24.—Various international congresses have been prevented from holding their sessions in Switzerland on account of the high rate of Swiss exchange. German, French, Belgian, Italian, Austrian and Hungarian delegates declare that they cannot afford to attend conferences here. A German delegate would have to spend fully 250 marks on hotel bills; a French delegate hardly less than 100 French francs; an Italian about 150 lire; while Austrians, Czechs and Poles must spend from 800 to 1,000 kronen daily.

A solution has now been found by holding the congresses in Basle, which adjoins both the German and French frontiers. The first congress to take advantage of Basle's peculiar situation is an international peace congress. The French, Belgian and Italian delegates attending it will lodge and have their meals in French territory just across the frontier, so that they can pay in French francs, while the German, Austrian and other delegates will lodge and have their meals in German territory and pay in German marks. The delegates will cross the frontier every day to attend the meetings and re-cross it for their meals and to spend the night. The American delegates alone can afford to pay their bills in Swiss money.

The high value of Swiss money is ruining Switzerland's tourist industry, and thousands of hotels which if exchange had been normal might have been full are empty. Consequently great distress prevails among 40,000 hotel workers, and many hotels are in serious financial difficulties.

GENEVA, May 24.—Switzerland is being buried in a golden avalanche, according to President Sarasin of the Swiss Bank. He says the gold stored in banks has no outlet in Europe, that many industries are at a standstill and the situation is becoming worse.

The hotel industry is nearly ruined, M. Sarasin declares, largely because the adverse exchange is keeping away tourists, few of whom are here this year. During the war, M. Sarasin adds, the country lost more than 6,000,000,000 francs, including 2,400,000,000 on German scrip, 500,000,000 on Austrian scrip and 400,000,000 through hotels.

RETURN TO PRE-WAR GAIETY.

England Celebrates Empire Day with Open Air Festivities.

LONDON, May 24.—Empire Day was celebrated elaborately throughout the country today with ceremonies and sports under ideal weather conditions.

London's biggest celebration was held in Hyde Park, for which half a million people assembled. Among the features was a great parade of units symbolic of the Empire, which was reviewed by Prince Albert.

Since today also was Whitmonday, business of all sorts was at a standstill, everyone joining in holiday making. At many places there was a revival of the pre-war massed choir, open air plays and old English dances on the green.

Brighton and other famous watering places were crowded, all the hotel accommodations having been booked weeks ago.

DAMROSCH DECORATED.

Conductor Receives the Order of the Crown of Italy.

ROME, May 23.—Walter Damrosch, Director of the New York Symphony Orchestra, which is visiting Rome, was today decorated with the Order of the Crown of Italy, receiving the rank of knight. The medal was conferred by the Minister of Instruction by orders of King Victor Emmanuel as a recognition of Mr. Damrosch's "masterly gifts as a conductor."

GOMPERS AND ALLEN CLASH

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The Carnegie Hall debate next Friday evening between Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, and Governor Allen of Kansas promises to be a fiery occasion. Telegrams and letters between the two men issued this afternoon by American Federation headquarters indicate that feeling is already high.

Mr. Gompers assumed an indignant attitude because Governor Allen would not base the debate upon the question, "Should strikes and lockouts be prohibited by law?" The labor leader contended that the joint committee which made the mutual arrangements has agreed upon this title. Governor Allen said he wished to discuss the Kansas Industrial Court and "the whole subject of industrial warfare."

GUARANTY TRUST MOVES.

Heavily Armed Men Guard Funds in Short Journey.

The Guaranty Trust Company of New York and the Guaranty Safe Deposit Company opened for business yesterday morning in the Fifth Avenue Guaranty Building, at the southwest corner of Fifth Avenue and Forty-fourth Street, having removed over Sunday from Fifth Avenue and Forty-third Street. The money and securities were removed Sunday morning between 6:30 and 10 o'clock, while removal of the safety deposit vaults was completed Sunday morning.

Many policemen in uniform and plain clothes and about forty members of the bank's staff guarded the money and securities as they were transferred, the gold coming from trunks loaded four to a truck, being under the eyes of heavily armed men at every point in the short journey.

The bank now has two acres of floor space, which is said to be the largest of any banking institution in the mid-section. The new safety deposit vault is rated by officials of the bank as the largest in the country. In its new home the bank is making arrangements whereby a depositor may cash a check and make a deposit at the same window.

METHODISTS VOTE TO UNITE.

Des Moines Plan Calls for Joint Convention of North and South.

DES MOINES, May 24.—The report of the Committee on Unification of the Methodist Episcopal Church with the Methodist Episcopal Church South was adopted today at the General Conference here. The report recommends a joint convention of the two conferences, of not to exceed 400 members, to work out details of an acceptable unification plan.

Efforts to have reconsidered the action of the General Conference Saturday as to changing the ritual of the Church were made at today's session. The revised vote on the question Saturday was said today to have been 34 for the change and 309 against it.

The efforts to bring about reconsideration caused considerable confusion in the Conference, various delegates demanding recognition and motions being made rapidly.

The proposed change in the ritual eliminates what many call one of the best questions which reads:

"Do you believe in the doctrines of the Holy Scriptures as set forth in the Articles of Religion of the Methodist Episcopal Church?" The question asked applicants for admission to the Church, and the answer has been "I do." The Committee on Judiciary of the Conference reported the question unconstitutional.

The question of reconsideration was disposed of for the day by a decision to save the "Yes" and "Nay" vote of Saturday printed and ready for the delegates tomorrow. Any delegate will then have an opportunity to correct or change his vote.

TWO PRESBYTERIAN BODIES FOR UNION

North and South Churches Adopt Plan for Inclusion in One Organization.

13 BRANCHES MAY UNITE

Prediction Is That Complete Union Will Be Accomplished Within a Few Years.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 24.—The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church at its annual session here adopted today a proposed plan of union for practically all the Presbyterian Reformed branches in the United States.

Just before adjournment this evening a telegram was received from the Presbyterian Church South, the General Assembly of which is in session at Charlotte, N. C., stating that the same proposed plan of union had been unanimously adopted by that body. It is now believed that within a few years there will be only one Presbyterian Church in the United States. At present there are about thirteen bodies having the Presbyterian system of government.

The other striking features of the day were the presentation of the annual reports, in booklet form, of the Interchurch World Movement and the Presbyterian New Era Movement. Both tell a tale of disappointment so far as finances are concerned.

The Rev. Dr. Samuel S. Palmer of Columbus, Ohio, the Moderator, announced that he had appointed as Vice Moderator of the General Assembly William W. Boyd, President of the Western College for Women at Oxford, Ohio.

It was voted that an overture, concurred in by many of the presbyteries, permitting women to be elected Elders in the churches and to serve as Commissioners to the annual assemblies be referred to a special committee.

A communication from the Interchurch World Movement, which included its first annual report, was referred to the Executive Committee. This will report at 9:15 o'clock tomorrow morning, and it has been announced that there will be a bitter fight.

The report of the merger of the Presbyterian bodies was presented by the Rev. Dr. J. Ross Stevenson, President of Princeton Theological Seminary, Vice Chairman of the committee. The Chairman is the Rev. Dr. William Henry Roberts, who is here, but too ill to attend. The Rev. Dr. Joseph A. Vance of Detroit, a member of the committee, will start for Charlotte to address the Southern body Wednesday morning. His brother, the Rev. Dr. James D. Vance of Nashville, Tenn., is a member of the Committee on Union of the Southern Church and is attending the Charlotte meeting.

Dr. Stevenson announced that the Methodist Church, in session at Des Moines, had appointed a committee to serve on the Interchurch Conference on Organic Union.

The plan for the union between Northern and Southern branches of the Presbyterian Church, which divided at the time of the civil war, will now go, with this Assembly's approval, before a Reformed Council to be convened next month. It is expected that other branches of the Presbyterian Church will take action similar to that of the Presbyterian bodies. The Welsh Presbyterian Church did so last week. As soon as the council adopts the plan and appoints a conference committee the different committees will hold a union meeting and frame a constitution to be sent to all the Presbyteries.

The United Assembly will meet biennially. The plan of union gives definite power to the United Assembly to consolidate the missionary and benevolent boards of all the merging Presbyterian branches. It likewise gives definite power to consolidate local congregations where their work overlaps.

The bodies which it is expected will eventually all be in this merger and the number of their members, are: Presbyterian Church North, 1,000,000; Presbyterian Church South, 375,000; Dutch Reformed Church, 200,000; German Reformed Church, 200,000; United Presbyterian Church, 50,000; Welsh Presbyterian Church, 15,000.

Interchurch Movement's Report.

Frankly admitting that it had made many mistakes, the Interchurch World Movement, through its General Committee, says it will learn by past lessons. It aimed for $336,777,572, and there has been subscribed so far only $176,000,000.

"The Interchurch World Movement was at the beginning an experiment," says the report. "It is still such. How long it will be needed only future experience can determine. It is the conviction, however, of its officers and committees that its work is not yet finished. It is proposed, therefore, that in accordance with the original suggestion of a five-year period (the period for which the surveys have already been projected) the co-operating denominations be asked to express their wishes regarding the continuance of the movement to the termination of this period, namely, May, 1924.

"To finance the campaign it was arranged that the Interchurch Corporation should effect loans from a syndicate of banks, evidenced by its promissory notes secured by underwritings of the several participating bodies. In planning the financial campaign, the contributors were divided into two classes: Class A, those who were members of churches or directly affiliated with them; Class B, those who, though not affiliated with any church, were considered to be in sympathy with the movement.

"In apportioning the total amount to be raised some $40,000,000 was allocated to the latter group. While the results of the movement as a whole in the large sum raised were triumphantly successful, the contributions from the second group have been disappointing. This is due to the fact, which has been proved, that many of those who would otherwise have fallen into Class B were solicited by the denominations, and also that, as discovered, those who contributed were more largely related to the churches than

MISS ALEXANDER WEDS JOHN H. ALLEN

SEVEN ARE RIBBON BEARERS

Miss Carol Arkins Weds W. N. Bratton—Rev. E. P. Worth Marries Miss M. V. Hainel in Washington.

The marriage of John Herbert Allen of this city and London and Miss Sara Shorter Alexander of 42 East Seventy-eighth Street, a daughter of the late Colonel R. W. Alexander of Georgia, at one time Attorney General of that State, and Mrs. Alexander, took place at 4:30 yesterday afternoon at the residence of the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Alexander, 909 Park Avenue, the Rev. Dr. Frank W. Crowder of St. James's Episcopal Church, Madison Avenue, officiating.

The bride, in a white lace frock over pink, with a blue sash and a blue hat, carried pink roses and lilies of the valley. Her brother gave her in marriage. Arthur S. Allen was his brother's best man. Her niece, little Miss Theresa Shorter Alexander, and Mr. Allen's niece, Miss Ruth Lewis, were the flower girls. Masters Paul W. Alexander, Jr., and Garrard Glenn, a cousin, were pages. Children held ribbons for the bride and bridegroom, and these were the little Misses Anne and Marie and Masters William and John Gaillard, children of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. G. Gaillard; Arthur S. Allen, Jr., Philip Snyder and Walter Clark Teagle, Jr. A small reception followed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen will spend their honeymoon in Canada and will then return to this city to reside. Mr. Allen is a Bostonian, but has practiced his profession of mining engineer in London and New York. During the war he served in the United States Army.

Bratton—Arkins.

The marriage of W. Norman Bratton and Miss Carol Arkins, a daughter of Frank J. Arkins of 610 Riverside Drive, took place at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the St. Ambrose Chapel of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, the Rev. Edward P. Newton of Hyde Park-on-Hudson officiating. Miss Lucille Arkins was the maid of honor and her sister's only attendant. Brainerd P. Phillipson was the best man and Raymond Russell and Frederick H. Walter were the ushers. A small reception followed at the bride's home.

Schuman—Sinclair.

Miss Helen Marts-Sinclair, daughter of Mrs. S. B. Marts of Sound Beach, Conn., and Joseph Schuman were married on Saturday, in the Congregational Church of Sound Beach. After spending some time at White Sulphur Springs, the couple will reside in this city.

MISS MACDONALD TO WED.

Plans for Ceremony with Charles E. Clapp, Jr., in Bridgeport, June 12.

Plans have been completed for the wedding of Miss Margaret Macdonald, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Hood Macdonald of this city and Bridgeport, Conn., and Charles E. Clapp, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Clapp of 21 East Eighty-second Street, which is to take place on June 12, at 5 o'clock, at 255 Brooklawn Avenue, the home of the bride's mother at Bridgeport.

Mrs. Nixon Brown Elliott of Denver is to be matron of honor, and the other attendants will include Mrs. Russell G. Macdonald, a sister-in-law of the bride, and the Misses Louise Atwater of Bridgeport, Harriet Post of Spokane and Catherine Risdon of this city.

Kenneth H. Clapp will be best man for his brother. Noel Armstrong, Delano W. Ladd, Edmund R. Tweedy and John G. Curtiss are to be the ushers.

Mr. Clapp will give his farewell bachelor dinner on June 5, at the Yale Club. The night preceding the wedding, Mrs. Macdonald will entertain the bridal party at dinner at the Brooklawn Country Club, Bridgeport.

Miss Macdonald's father, the late Thomas Hood Macdonald, was head of the Columbia Phonograph Company. Mr. Clapp's father is the retired Vice President of the Crucible Steel Company.

MISS SEDGWICK ENGAGED.

Junior League Member to Wed John Monroe—Both Served Overseas.

Mrs. Harry Sedgwick of 2 East Fiftieth Street announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Adelaide Sedgwick, to John Munroe, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Whitney Munroe of 29 Park Avenue, New York, and Tuxedo. Miss Sedgwick made her debut several years ago with her sister, Miss Aileen Sedgwick, now Mrs. James Blackstone Taylor, Jr. Both of them were educated in Paris, when Mrs. Sedgwick resided there, and both are members of the Junior League.

In 1917 Miss Sedgwick went abroad as a war worker, doing canteen and hospital work for two years in Northern France, returning here in the Spring of 1919.

Mr. Munroe was graduated from Harvard in 1913, and at the outbreak of the war went overseas with the American Field Ambulance Corps.

GLADYS UNGER MARRIES.

Dramatist Weds Kai Ardaschir, Said to be Kin of Persian Kings.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 24.—A small gathering of friends witnessed Gladys Unger's wedding ceremony with Kai Ardashir at Chapel Royal today. The bride wore a dress of Persian design and her mother, Mrs. Goodman, gave her away. The Rev. Hugh B. Chapman, Assistant Chaplain to the King, was one of the officiating clergy. The couple afterward left for Paris, whence they will proceed later to Venice.

Ardashir, although a Persian, spent most of his life in England. He is stated to be a direct descendant of Cyrus and Artaxerxes, Kings of Persia before 700 B. C. A personal friend of Ardaschir says the genealogical tree is in the family archives and is unassailable.

$2,500,000 FOR MUSKRATS.

St. Louis Exchange Thronged with Bidders for a Million Hides.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, May 24.—A large attendance of buyers and sales amounting to $2,500,000 for the day signalized the opening of the third and final week of the auction at the International Fur Exchange. The offering which aroused such keen interest consisted of more than a million muskrat pelts, including the Southern and the black varieties, the most abundant of our native fur bearers. Apart from its great popularity it is used, unhaired and dyed, to make "Hudson seal."

Prices showed the prevailing decline of about 25 per cent. from the February record. Best grades brought $4.60 a skin; the black variety, $4.40, and the Southern, $1.90, while the 60,000 seal dyed pelts sold up to $5 each.

Tuesday's offerings will be 150,000 fitch, 2,250,000 moles and 150,000 kolinsky, all in great demand among fashionable women. With fur of long, black guard hairs over pale yellow, worn in chokers and other neckpieces, the fitch is the European equivalent of the American skunk.

PARTY LEADERS FEAR DEFEAT ON BONUS

House Insurgents Are Still Firm in Opposition to Closure Rule.

DEFEAT LIKELY ON TEST

Pro-Bonus Republicans Threaten to Force New Caucus Unless Action Is Taken.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Republican House leaders today are undecided as to what course to take in the complicated bonus situation. Unless bolting Republicans can be induced to support the rule prohibiting amendment of the Bonus bill, as reported Saturday, the general impression is that the rule cannot be safely acted upon by the House.

In the opinion of Republicans who opposed the rule there are enough Republicans who will join the Democrats to give the latter control of the House. Such an outcome would mean that the rule would be amended to permit amendments, and if the control is placed in the hands of the Democrats and bolting Republicans the bill will be so amended as to make it objectionable to conservative Republicans and will carry such unusual taxation schemes and bonus provisions as to compel the present supporters of the bonus to vote against such an emasculated bill.

After a careful survey the Republican House Steering Committee is convinced that control will pass to the Democrats and bolting Republicans if action on the rule comes up on Thursday, as planned by some of those in charge of the legislation. They say that the bolters are opposed to any Bonus bill, and that the Democrats hold the same views. The Democrats, on the other hand, these leaders say, intend to place the Republicans in an indefensible position by loading down the bill with taxes and other provisions. What the Democrats are aiming at, the Republican House leaders say, is to place enormous taxes on war profits and increase the taxes on the privilege of making stock dividends—in other words, to write a bill along Democratic revenue ideas.

Republican House leaders say that they are willing to accept the stock dividend provision, although opposed to the principle, if such acceptance will satisfy the radicals and assure the passage of the measure. On the other hand, they will not countenance an 80 per cent. retroactive tax on war profits and some other taxation schemes the Democrats hope to place in the bill if the closure rule is defeated.

The insurgent Republicans who favored immediate consideration of the Bonus bill, held a meeting tonight and decided to insist on the measure being considered by the House not later than Thursday. They will call a caucus if action is not taken.

The Republican leaders are very much discouraged over the bonus tangle. They are calling one another names and do not hesitate to say that the present situation does not favor action on the bonus measure at this session. They also fear that unless a bonus bill is reported by them the political effect will be worse than if they, as the party in control of Congress, had peremptorily refused to consider bonus legislation when first importuned by the ex-service men.

SAYS BONUS CORRUPTS.

Prof. Woolsey Declares It Debauches Both Soldiers and Donors.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, May 24.—Theodore S. Woolsey, professor of international law at Yale, a world authority on government, today likened the cash bonus to a corruption fund, debauching both those who give it and those who receive it. He said:

"There are two distinct questions involved in the cash bonus proposal. One is simple: Can the finances of the Government stand such a strain without grave disturbances? The Secretary of the Treasury, the Reserve Bank heads, the writers on finance, all say no. In the face of this expert evidence, only the reckless could advocate the measure.

"The other question is even more serious. It relates to the effect upon our system of government and upon the character of our people. When a huge gratuity is given the members of an army for doing their duty, this gratuity being offered by one political party, or by each party bidding against the other.

"It then becomes not a gift of gratitude, but a corruption fund, debauching both those who give it and those who receive it."

JAMES M. EDWARDS DEAD.

Retired Railroad Man Was Long Associate of Late Richard T. Wilson.

James M. Edwards, retired railroad man and banker, died yesterday at his residence, 135 West Fifty-eighth Street. During the greater part of his life he was associated with the late Richard T. Wilson, of whose estate he was an executor and trustee. He was 71 years old.

In 1894 he had charge of the construction of the Yonkers Street Railway, of which he was President until its sale to the Third Avenue Railroad. Thereafter he was active head of the Mathieson Alkali Works at Saltville, Va., until he retired from business in 1917. For the last fifteen years he and his family were closely identified with the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, of which he was a trustee.

Fire Captain David J. Curley.

Fire Captain David J. Curley, who was twice on the roll of merit during his twenty-two years in the Fire Department, died yesterday in the Post-Graduate Hospital at the age of 49. He was operated on ten weeks ago. His home was at 170 West Eighty-third Street, and he commanded Engine Company 56, in West Eighty-third Street.

"Duke" Levy's Daughter to Wed.

Miss Frances Levy, daughter of Joe Levy, called the "Duke of Essex Street," will be married to Harry Levine on June 6. The ceremony will be performed at the Hotel Savoy by the Rev. Dr. Aaron Eiseman.

AUTOS HIT PATROLMEN; ONE CHAUFFEUR FLEES

Several Persons Knocked Down by Speeders—Brooklyn Man and Jack Rothstein Held.

Patrolman Patrick Bligh of the East Thirty-fifth Street Station and John Brophy, 63, of Yonkers, were knocked down yesterday by an automobile which swerved onto the sidewalk in Park Avenue near Thirty-eighth Street. The driver regained control of the car, guided it back into the roadway and made off with all speed. At Bellevue Hospital it was found Bligh had a broken rib and lacerations of one knee and both hands, while Brophy had lacerations of the legs and scalp. Both men were able to go home.

An automobile struck Patrolman Fred T. Gleason of the West Forty-seventh Street Station at Thirty-fourth Street and Ninth Avenue. Other patrolmen took him to the French Hospital. He was able to go home after lacerations were dressed.

Detective James T. Brady arrested Jack Rothstein of 202 West Eighty-seventh Street, said to be a brother of Arnold Rothstein, at Forty-fifth Street and Madison Avenue early yesterday on charges of reckless driving, felonious assault and attempting to leave the scene of an accident. Rothstein's car, the police say, injured Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kearns of 141 East Fifty-eighth Street, who suffered abrasions and contusions. As Brady, his prisoner and the two injured persons were speeding to Flower Hospital, Rothstein driving, the car struck John McDavitt of 383 East Twenty-third Street at Fifty-eighth Street and Madison Avenue. McDavitt, with a cut over his eye, was helped into the car and taken to the hospital for treatment.

Magistrate Corrigan in Essex Market Court yesterday held John Kelleher of 295 Highland Boulevard, Brooklyn, in $2,000 bail for examination tomorrow on suspicion of having knocked down with his automobile Sunday, at East Broadway and Gouverneur Street, Max Lipowitz and Max Cantor. Released on bail, Kelleher was rearrested on suspicion of having run down two other boys at Second Avenue and Ninety-sixth Street. Witnesses to the accidents gave the police the number of Kelleher's car.

CONSTANT M. BIRD DEAD.

President of Manhattan Savings Institution Dies After an Operation.

Constant M. Bird, President of the Manhattan Savings Institution, Broadway and Bleecker Street, died yesterday in the Hahnemann Hospital following an operation several days ago. He was born in this city fifty years ago and entered the employ of the bank in 1887, holding nearly every position during his thirty-five years' service.

In the holdup at the bank last January it was Mr. Bird who stepped from his office with a revolver in his hand, covered "Jimmy" Straton, the robber, and turned him over to the police. Mr. Bird lived at 245 West 104th Street and had a Summer home at Larchmont. The funeral will be held at Larchmont tomorrow at St. John's Church.

DETROIT TOO MUCH FOR RUTH UNAIDED

Babe the Only Yankee Able to Hit Ehmke, and Tigers Win Game by Score of 3 to 1.

MAYS PITCHES GOOD BALL

Flagstead's Homer the Sole Decisive Blow Made Off His Delivery—Cobb Gets a Single and a Run.

Babe Ruth took only a light lunch before going to the Polo Grounds yesterday afternoon and the best he could do was a triple. One more sandwich might have made that a home run, as the ball went like a bullet to the bleacher fence in right centre, eluding both Cobb and Flagstead, who were playing far back for the fence buster. A minute later Babe crossed the plate with the only run made by the Yanks, who took a trimming at the hands of the Detroit Tigers, 3 to 1.

Babe was about the whole show for the Yanks, against the pitching of Howard Ehmke, the tall, and lanky right-hander of the Tigers. Ruth collected two hits, this being exactly two more than all the other Yanks manufactured. He brought in the only run and played in two different positions before the game was over, starting in right field and finishing up at first base. Ruth's infield assignment was due to Pipp's remarks to Umpire Dick Nallin after being called out at first base in the fourth frame.

It was on a throw by Bush from deep short that Pipp lost the decision. The fans behind first base were with Pipp to a man and were off Nallin for the remainder of the afternoon. That is getting to be such a common occurrence in the lives of Dineen and Nallin that they will be lonesome if the crowd isn't hooting at one or the other. They probably will be lonesome anyway when they are assigned to some place other than the Polo Grounds. Bill and Dick are looking up apartments on Washington Heights. Nallin didn't waste much time in consigning Pipp to the bastile and Ruth was sent to first base when the Yanks took the field, Vick replacing him in right field.

Ehmke's Pitching Invincible.

That long, skinny arm of Ehmke is the sole answer for the Yanks' reverse. The Detroit boxman had all his remarkable speed and the Hugmen were next to helpless as the ball broke over the corners or buzzed on a line over the plate. Only three Yanks got to first base during the game, two on hits and one on a pass. In six of the nine innings the Huggins troupe was set down in order. Ruth, in the second inning, was the only home player who got as far as second base, so there wasn't much chance of a Yank victory except through shutout pitching.

The game marked the first meeting at the Polo Grounds of the supermen of baseball—Babe Ruth and Ty Cobb. Ty, the reigning monarch of the game for several years, was in eclipse for the first time since he began to show his remarkable ability at the Drusus Stadium. It was Babe the Swatter, the new king, who drew more attention than Tyrus. Ty was as active and ambitious as ever, but in this particular battle Babe outbone him, with a triple and a single against one lone single for Cobb. The Georgia Peach made a flashy catch on Bodie in the eighth inning, but had no other opportunity to shine in the field.

Carl Mays, on the mound for the home team, gave a good account of himself, the best that he has given this season. The Tigers got no more than one hit in any inning, and their scoring chances were as limited as their runs. A home run by Ira Flagstead into the right field stand in the second inning proved the margin of victory, as Heilman was on first base when the four-ply smack was delivered. The other run scored by the visitors was due to Duffy Lewis's fumbling of a drive in left field, Lewis fallying down before he could recover the ball. As a result, Cobb went all the way to third on an ordinary single. The Tigers did not get a runner to second base after Cobb made the trip around the bags in the fourth. In fact, the three who scored were the only Tigers to pass first base in the nine innings.

Flagstead's Homer Tells Tale.

Most of the action of the game was crowded into the second and fourth innings. In the opener Mays invited some trouble by walking Young, the first batsman to face him, but nullified the gift a moment later by snagging Jones's line drive and doubling Young off first base. Veach had been retired to start the second, when Heilman drew a pass. Flagstead hit hard to right field and the ball struck the top of the concrete wall in front of the right field stand, bounding among the seats for a home run. The next two batsmen went out in order, but the damage had been done and the game was over as far as the Yanks were concerned.

When Ruth toed the plate to start the Yanks's half of the second the Detroit outfield took the customary jaunt backward toward the fence. Babe hit so fast and far that even the fleet Cobb could not get over in time to reach the ball, which bounded to the bleacher barricade in right centre with Tyrus in pursuit. Babe pulled up on third base on the smash. Lewis filed to Cobb, whose speedy threw to the plate dissuaded Ruth, who had an idea that he might score on the out. His stay at third was short, however, as Pratt hit hard to Young and Babe scored on the out.

A single by Cobb started the Tigers on the way to their final run in the fourth inning. Ty hit to left and the ball bounded away from Lewis. Ty went to second on the error and got an extra base when Duffy took a tumble while chasing the truant bulb. Veach followed with a fly to Lewis and Ty slid safely over the plate just before Lewis's throw reached Hannah. That was the last chance the Tigers had, but it was all they needed.

Hopes Unfulfilled.

Twice during the remainder of the game the fans became hopeful for the Yanks. Hannah drew a pass to start the sixth inning, this being the only gift handed out by Ehmke. Mays forced Hannah at second when he tried to sacrifice and Carl wilted on first while Ward and Peck were going out on strikes.

In the seventh, the Yanks made their last peep. With one gone, the Detroit outfield moved to points farthest east from the plate and Ruth lashed a single over the infield. The crowd implored Lewis to get a hit, but Duffy went out on strikes. The count was three and two against Lewis when Ruth dashed for second and Stanage doubled Babe at second after taking the third on Lewis. In the last two innings the Yanks went out in order.

FELSCH GETS SIXTH HOME RUN OF YEAR

Chicago Outfielder Equals Ruth's Record as White Sox Defeat Athletics, 10 to 2.

PHILADELPHIA, May 24.—The Chicago White Sox batted Naylor hard and won the opening game of the series from the Athletics here today, 10 to 2. Felsch tied Ruth's record for the current season by hitting his sixth home run. A great catch by Jackson prevented Walker from equaling the same mark.

RED SOX DOWN BROWNS.

Bush Pitches Well and Gets Good Support—Score Is 5 to 1.

BOSTON, May 24.—Bush pitched effectively today against St. Louis in the first game of the series, Boston winning 5 to 1. The visitors' only run came in the eighth on errors by McNally and Foster and a bad bounder of Tobin's, which got through McInnis for a base hit. Aside from that inning, Bush was given sensational support, while St. Louis fielded poorly behind Vangilder. The score:

NINE STRAIGHT FOR ALEX.

Cubs' Star Continues Streak Against Braves—Score Is 6-0.

CHICAGO, May 24.—Alexander won his ninth consecutive game today when Chicago shut out Philadelphia, 6 to 0. Rixey had two bad innings, when the locals concentrated their attack and made their runs. Only one visitor, Le Bourveau, reached second. He was doubled at third by Deal, who took a line drive and stepped on the base.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 24.—All of Yale's crews were today shifted in a wholesale manner, the shakeup resulting from the Elis' defeats by Cornell and Princeton in the first eight mile and Hord were exchanged and Driscoll removed from the boat. Cheney replaced Lawrence and Cowles was deposed by Godfrey Rockefeller in the second. Gates supplanted McCrea and Flinton succeeded Bentley in the freshman combination.

LAUNCH DRIVE ON BASEBALL GAMBLERS

Concerted Action Begun by Big Leagues—4 Arrested at Polo Grounds, 47 in Chicago.

A concerted move against gamblers at the major league baseball parks, as planned last week during a conference at Chicago, was started yesterday in both this city and Chicago. Four arrests were made at the Polo Grounds during the game between the Yankees and Detroit Tigers, and the Chicago haul netted forty-seven. Similar action is planned for all other major league parks where bets are offered or made on baseball happenings, and even the minor leagues have joined in the plan to rid the sport of the undesirable element.

Talk of action along the lines started yesterday has been frequently heard but it was not until last week that the campaign was really launched. President John Heydler of the National League and President H. B. Johnson of the American League decided it was time to act, as reports from various parks made it clear that the practice was growing, despite the efforts of the clubs to check the evil. Presidents of various major league clubs were called into conference and the work now under way will be continued until the ball parks are free of gamblers.

Four men who were arrested at the Polo Grounds yesterday gave the following names when arraigned last night in the Men's Night Court: William Ruderman, 836 Tiffany Street, the Bronx, a real estate dealer; David Gibbs, 684 Whitlock Avenue, the Bronx, a clerk; Gabriel Kain, 42 West 128th Street, salesman, and Milton Cohn, 416 West 215th Street, salesman. The last named was accused of interference with the police after first tipping off the others that detectives were nearby.

The arrests were made by Detectives McNames and Tuite of the Sixth Inspection District, in which the Polo Grounds is located. The men were taken to the 138th Street Station and later arraigned in the Men's Night Court before Magistrate F. X. McQuade. Ruderman, according to the detectives, was offering 8 to 5 on the Yankees, Gibbs was offering even money on the Yanks and Kain was asking for 2 to 1 on the Tigers. Cohn is alleged to have told the gamblers of the presence of detectives and later interfering when they attempted to make arrests.

When arraigned in the Night Court the prisoners asked for a postponement, and Magistrate McQuade, declaring that the case was one to be heard in the day court, granted the request. He held each of the prisoners in bonds of $500 for appearance today at the Washington Heights Court. All were released later on bail.

The arrests by outside detectives indicate that the campaign against the gamblers is on in earnest. For some years past the two local clubs have employed special detectives, and they have taken many gamblers from the Polo Grounds, following this action by barring them from the field on subsequent games. The Yankees have a list of more than 100 undesirables, and the list of the Giants also is quite extensive. Plainclothes men have been circulating in the section back of the visiting club's dugout, on the third base side of the main grand stand. They have obtained much evidence to be used in the campaign against the gamblers.

The arrests yesterday occurred during the third inning of the game between the Yanks and Tigers and occasioned considerable excitement for a time. Fans forgot Babe Ruth and Ty Cobb momentarily while the detectives made their haul and escorted the men from the park. Colonels Jacob Ruppert and T. L. Huston, owners of the Yankees, who have joined with President Charles S. Stoneham of the Giants in the move to rid the Polo Grounds of the undesirables, were interested spectators while the detectives were doing their work. They announced that nothing would be spared to rid baseball of the gambling element.

47 ARRESTED IN CHICAGO.

Detectives Swoop Down in Cubs-Phillies Game.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 24.—Plain clothes men made a raid on the bleachers at the Cubs Park during this afternoon's game between Chicago and Philadelphia and arrested forty-seven spectators who, they charged, were gambling on the result of the game. This is the first direct action following the agreement reached last week by the baseball magnates to do their utmost to suppress gambling at the various baseball parks throughout the country. Today's raid was started immediately after the second inning and three wagon loads of the gamblers were taken to the nearest police station and placed in cells.

About fifty detectives who have been watching the gamblers for more than a week made the raid. A signal was given at the end of the second inning, and simultaneously the offenders were yanked from their seats, herded in one corner of the park and later taken to the police station.

The police noticed the betting began as soon as the umpire announced the pitchers. The men would spring up with bills in their hands and bet. Others would bet on balls and strikes, others on foul balls, errors, wild throws and outs. Some even bet the pitcher would use a certain windup on his next ball, or that Whatshisname would try to steal second and be caught. They bet on anything and bet any amount from a dime to hundreds of dollars.

President Johnson of the American League declined to make any statement because, he said, the arrests were made in a National League park. He declared, however, that other raids would be made in other parks in the major leagues if gambling did not cease. The American League, he said, has engaged a private detective agency to obtain evidence of gambling. These operatives will be stationed in every park in the league.

MOORE OUTPOINTS LYNCH.

Victory in Jersey City Ring Is Decisive, but Not Impressive.

Pal Moore, the Memphis bantamweight, outpointed Joe Lynch of the west side in their bout at the Armory A. A. in Jersey City last night by a margin clear and decisive, but nevertheless not impressive enough for the 5,000 fans who crowded the tiers of seats for what they expected would be a smashing twelve-round mixup. Moore had an advantage, and at times he showed considerable superiority over the New Yorker, but there was never the wide margin which indicated a knockout punch was coming. Lynch appeared in the ring drawn and a bit haggard from having reduced weight. He certainly was not at his best.

Moore carried off the points in the first, second, third, fifth, eleventh and twelfth rounds, whereas Lynch showed that the fourth, sixth, eighth, and ninth were his. The seventh and tenth were even. Last night's clash was postponed from last Monday night, Moore having refused at that time to box the west side bantam, who was over the stipulated weight of 118 pounds. Last night Lynch was at 117 and Moore tipped the beam at 118.

KILBANE AND BROWN DRAW.

Break Even in Philadelphia Bout—Fitzsimmons Beats Tendler.

PHILADELPHIA, May 24.—Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, and Elkry Kid" Brown, Philadelphia, fought a six-round draw at Shibe Park tonight. Brown carried the early parts of the contest, but Kilbane opened up in the last two rounds and evened the fight.

Eddie Fitzsimmons, New York, defeated Lew Tendler, Philadelphia lightweight, in eight hard rounds. A wild left swing that landed on Tendler's jaw in the last twenty seconds of the bout and dropped him to the floor gave the New Yorker the popular decision. Up to that point the fight had been about even.

PIRATES UNABLE TO SCORE ON MAMAUX

Robins Turn Tables on Gibson's Team with 1-0 Victory—Konetchy's Double Scores Run.

PITTSBURGH, May 24.—After taking that long trek to Brooklyn yesterday, only to receive a 1 to 0 drubbing at the hands of the Pirates, the Robins were in a mood for vengeance today—and they got it, too. They exactly reversed the verdict of the day before, trimming Pittsburgh by a score of 1 to 0 and upetting the hopes of about 8,500 fans. Mamaux's splendid pitching and a timely double by Konetchy in the fourth inning were the principal factors in the Dodgers' triumph.

Mamaux hasn't turned out such a pitching classic as he exhibited today in several cons. Al felt the stimulus so frequently experienced by pitchers who are appearing against their former teammates, and he stood the Buccaneers on their heads. He made them wear a deep path in the greensward from the plate back to the bench. Any time he crooked his little finger, one Pirate or another would promptly lie down and roll over.

Against Mamaux's impressive display of speed and control only four Pittsburghers were able to get on base by the medium of a hit, and no two of the hits came in any one inning. Not a single home player reached third. Taking it all in all and by and large, Mamaux was there.

On the other hand, Brooklyn should have had a larger score, for Adams was no great enigma. The Dodgers hit him hard enough to manufacture several runs, but flubbed their opportunities to give Mamaux a larger working margin through the exercise of poor judgment on the bases.

As it turned out, however, the one run that the Dodgers scored in the fourth was all that was necessary. Johnston started Brooklyn's share of this inning by accepting a passport to first. Wheat took three healthy swings and sat down, and Myers grounded to Grimm. The Pittsburgh first baseman tried to catch Johnston at second, but his throw to Caton was too wide, although the latter still had time to nab Myers at first. Konetchy produced his all-important two-bagger to right field, and Johnston scored. A pass to Kilduff and Miller's hit, which bounced off Whitted's shins, filled the hassocks a moment later, but Mamaux made the third out by forcing Kilduff.

But for a sensational catch by Southworth, the Robins would have scored in the third inning also. After Miller had grounded out to short, Mamaux hit one on the nose and the drive had every semblance of being a triple. Southworth ran full tilt towards the wall in centre, took a flying jump with his back to the ball, stuck his mitt up and brought the ball down. It was a remarkable play. Olson followed with a single, and Ward also came through with a safe blow, on which Olson foolishly tried to score from first. He was caught at the plate by a mile.

Again, in the ninth, the Dodgers missed a possible chance to add to their tally sheet by a lack of conservatism in base-running. Kilduff banged one out to deep left center for three bases, but tried to turn it into a homer and was nipped at the plate.

"BOY WONDER" WINS TWICE

Twelve-Year-Old Youngster Takes Lead in Billiard Tourney.

Herbert Hammer, the latest "boy wonder" in billiards, scored two victories in the Spanish-American straight rail tournament being held at the Broadway Billiard Academy last night. The 12-year-old youngster defeated J. B. Sunye by a score of 75 to 31, and won from R. H. Jenkins, 75 to 52. The two victories put him in the lead in the tournament. Up to this time Jenkins had been out in front with three games won and none lost. Young Hammer has now won four games and lost one. J. H. Mora has found it impossible to continue in the tournament, and the one game which he had played and lost has been thrown out. His role Sunye of the only victory he had registered.

Hammer first tackled Sunye and won with ease. During the game he made the high run of the tourney, a cluster of 16, and averaged 2 21-37. Jenkins gave him a little keener competition, but Hammer eventually won by a margin of 19 points, making a high run of 24 and averaging 1 34-41. Both his games were featured by his hard draw shots, masses and around-the-table shots.

BAUMAN'S HOME RUN WINS FOR SKEETERS

Makes Hit with Two on Bases in Ninth Inning Against Syracuse—Score Is 8 to 5.

Special to The New York Times.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 24.—Paddy Bauman's home run drive over the centre field fence in the ninth inning with two men on bases gave the Jersey City Skeeters a victory over Syracuse in the first game of the series today 8 to 5. The Skeeters were one run in arrears when Bauman's thump again placed them in the lead.

Jersey City scored in the first on McCann's single, a wild pitch and Wigglesworth's single. The Skeeters scored again in the fourth when McAlpine missed Moocers's bounder and Benes fooled Gill's rap.

Singles by Zitman and Wigglesworth, a wild pitch and a poor throw by Niebergall, combined with Bauman's sacrifice, gave the Skeeters a pair of runs in the fourth. Niebergall gave the Stars a start in the fifth when he knocked the ball over the centre field wall. A base on balls to Schulte and Caristrom's triple paved the way for another in the sixth.

With Jersey City leading 4 to 2, Gill walked Schulte and Caristrom to open the eighth and Benes rapped the ball over the centre field fence.

With one down in the ninth Tipple passed Zitman and Wigglesworth and Bauman burst into the limelight with a blow over the centre field wall. Just to add to the Stars' discomfiture, Denoville sent the ball spinning over the wall in the same place.

WALKER BOXING BILL SIGNED BY GOVERNOR

Provisions Include 15 Rounds to Decision and Supervision by Commission.

EVERY ONE TO BE LICENSED

Even Seconds in the Ring Will Be Listed—State to Receive 5 Per Cent. of Gross Receipts.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 24.—Boxing came back into its own in New York State today when Governor Smith approved the Walker bill which will permit fifteen-round decision bouts supervised by a commission to be named by the Executive and with everybody connected with the game licensed.

In signing the bill Governor Smith said:

"The stress of the times demands healthy and wholesome amusement for the men of the State, and when an amusement can be afforded under such rigid restrictions and control by the State itself as this bill provides, no possible harm can, and, on the other hand, a great amount of good will, result from its enactment."

The new law, taking effect immediately, creates a commission of three at $5,000 a year. Decisions are to be rendered by two judges who will act with the referee, and in case they cannot make a decision the referee will name the winner. Even seconds must be licensed. Bouts are to be held only in buildings or places for which licenses have been issued by the commission and on which incorporated clubs have leases for at least one year. Bouts may also be held in armories, and in that event the military law must be complied with.

Weight of Gloves Fixed.

The new law further provides that no club holding bouts shall have any financial interest in a boxer; that no one under 18 years may participate in a bout; that no one under 16 can be a spectator; that five-ounce gloves must be used in the lighter classes, up to and including lightweights, and six-ounce gloves for all heavier classes of boxers; that clubs pay to the State 5 per cent. of the gross receipts.

"The sum of $40,000 is appropriated to put the law in operation.

"In some quarters of the State," said the Governor, "there appears to be a pretty general misunderstanding of all the circumstances surrounding a boxing or a sparring match. There is nothing in the law of the State of New York to prevent boxing or sparring matches. But the law does provide that no admission can be charged, nor can they be open to the general public, but are supposed to be conducted under the auspices of private membership organizations. The real truth about the matter is, that the purpose and intent of that law is being evaded by permitting any person, upon becoming a member of such organization, to witness the match, the dues paid for membership taking the place of the admission fees, and this going on absolutely without regulation of any kind by the State.

Governor Points Out Safeguards.

"It is urged by those opposed to the bill that it may give rise to abuses which they felt came into being under previous legislative enactments for the control of this sport.

No bill could be more carefully drawn to safeguard the sport from those who would use it for profit only than the one before me. The proposed bill provides for licensing every one identified with the sport of boxing and sparring, no matter how far removed from the actual participation, and leaves to the State the power to deal with them by withdrawal of the license when their conduct is such as not to promote the welfare of this form of amusement. The old law, repealed several years ago, contained no such safeguards.

"No license can be issued under the proposed bill to any but a bona fide corporation, which shall have given a bond and which must either own a building or have a lease thereon for a term of not less than one year. In this respect the proposed bill differs from the old law, and will have for its purpose the discouragement of fly-by-night organizations whose control would be in the hands of irresponsible promoters.

"The bill contains a provision for an unpaid Board of License, thereby lifting that important feature from the sole control of the Board of Commissioners, whose duties it will be to administer the law.

"Under this bill, the sport is further safeguarded by preventing, directly or indirectly, any corporation from having any interest in a competitor on the premises of that corporation.

State Official Must Be Present

"Ample provision is made for a physical examination of the contestants by licensed physicians, who must be present at the ring side. There is an age limit for both contestants and patrons. Unfair matches will be prevented by its provisions, and ticket-scalping will be impossible in that all tickets of admission must bear clearly on their face the purchase price of the same. The bill requires the presence of a state official at the ringside of each contest.

"The bill was opposed by a very small group, while, on the other hand, it has the almost unanimous approval of the Legislature and of the American Legion, and over a thousand clergymen of all denominations, who might be expected, if this bill did not deal clearly with a legitimate sport, to oppose it, have written urging my signature."

REGULATIONS ARE STRICT.

But Many Unobjectionable Features of Old Horton Law Are Returned.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 24.—The law will make it possible for New York State promoters, they hope, to place boxing on a plane nearly equal to that of twenty years ago when world's championships were decided, inasmuch as the measure permits the rendering of decisions by judges or by the referee in the event the judges cannot agree. Terms of the members of the first commission will vary, one commissioner retiring on Jan. 1, 1922, another a year later and the third on Jan. 1, 1924. The terms of their successors are fixed at two years.

The Governor also is given power to appoint a licensing committee of three members to serve without compensation. This feature was one of the principal objections on the part of those opposed to the bill because they insisted it would place boxing in the hands of a "certain class."

Rules of the Army and Navy Civilian Board of Boxing Control and the International Sporting Club of New York City will govern bouts, the law provides.

All corporations, physicians, referees, judges, timekeepers, professional boxers, their managers, trainers and seconds must be licensed. The annual license fees are fixed as follows: Corporations in cities of the first class, $500; corporations in cities of the second class, $400; elsewhere, $200; physicians, $25; referees, $25; judges, $25; timekeepers, $5; professional boxers, $1; managers, $25; trainers, $5; seconds, $2. A professional boxer, under the law, is "one who competes for a money prize or assists in the practice of boxing for a means of obtaining a livelihood or pecuniary gain."

While fifteen-round bouts are permitted there is a section of the law empowering the commission to fix a lesser number of rounds for bouts between men in the lighter divisions if it is deemed necessary. It also prohibits contests in which the difference in weight of the respective contestants shall exceed eighteen pounds. This provision, however, does not apply to boxers in the light heavyweight or heavyweight classes.

Harvard Names Committee to Entertain Visiting Athletes

The first step in a movement to insure visiting teams fair treatment and a cordial reception has been taken by Harvard, which has appointed a committee of three to take charge of the welcome and entertainment of athletes competing in the Cambridge stadium. The undergraduates named on the committee are Henry H. Faxon, a member of the football team; Charles W. Baker, Jr., hockey player; and Myles P. Baker, a member of the Harvard Crimson staff and one of the baseball managers. The reason for the innovation was said to be the fact that the team managers are already overburdened with duties on the days of the games. In the future the official reception committee will see that the visitors have a pleasant stay in Cambridge.

HAUGHTON SCORES HARVARD ATHLETES

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, May 24.—Percy D. Haughton has stirred up the Harvard athletic world with the charge that a "breakdown of discipline" is a vital factor in the series of athletic defeats to which the Crimson has been subjected this season in many branches of sport.

"The common offense," according to Mr. Haughton, "is the breaking of training, both physical and mental. There have been serious breaks in both these respects this Spring, especially in the latter. Nearly every team is suffering from the loss of men who are on probation."

The Harvard Crimson, the student daily publication, lost not a minute in getting out an editorial on the subject in its issue today. The Crimson declares the situation to be "an unprecedented occurrence in the athletic history of Harvard." Lack of discipline, "physically and scholastically," is blamed by the publication.

"The average undergraduate of the present day is liable to treat too lightly infractions of athletic discipline," says The Crimson. "The principal cause for this is the lapse in the athletic tradition of Harvard caused by the hiatus of the war. If every man in college could hear the stories of former victories on the diamond, track and river, and the opinion of the graduates concerning the situation now existing, he would realize the seriousness of the lax state of affairs here now."

VARDON AND RAY DATES.

Schedule for First Half of Their Golf Tour Is Announced.

The 1913 tour of Harry Vardon and Ted Ray, which included about forty exhibition matches and covered more than 30,000 miles of railroad, will appear as a half holiday in comparison with their return invasion of this year. Arthur D. Peterson, the golf course constructor and head of Carter's Tested Seeds, Inc., announced yesterday the complete itinerary of the great English golf professionals who will sail for America on July 6 or 7. In the course of three weeks, exclusive of the championship tournaments, the Britishers have been booked for no less than eighteen days of playing, many of which are successive. The first part of their schedule of engagements will end Aug. 10, when they tee up at Toledo for the national open championship, but for the remainder of August and during September the Burke Golf Company will take over their management for a tour of the West and South.

An entirely new angle on their invasion was sketched yesterday by Mr. Peterson. He said in all probability Vardon and Ray would not return to October for the News of the World tourney in England but would, instead, remain in this country for part or all of the Winter and play at the resort links in California and Florida. He added that it was not beyond possibility that Vardon would remain permanently in this country.

The complete list up to the open championship, which may be altered in one or two instances but which is practically definite, follows:

July 19—Stanwoy, Mt. Vernon, N. Y.; 20, Shawnee, Pa.; 21, Shawnee, Pa.; 22, Fox Hills, Staten Island; 23, Scarsdale, Hartsdale, N. Y.; 24, Woodmere, L. I.; 25, Apawamis, Rye, N. Y.; 26, Shennecossett, New London, Conn.; 28, Springfield, Mass.; 29, Shuttle Meadow, New Britain, Conn.; 30, Belmont Spring, Waverly, Mass.; 31, Brookline, Mass.

Aug. 1, Hollywood, Deal, N. J.; 2, Woodway, Stamford, Conn.; 3, Scranton, Pa.; 5, Youngstown, Pa.; 7, Detroit, Mich.; 8, Toledo, Ohio.

POINSETTE LEADS FIELD.

Has Best Gross, Net and Selected Score in Newspaperman's Tourney.

Wheatley Hills, one of the growing and popular golf clubs on Long Island, located at East Williston, yesterday was the host for the first out-of-town one-day tournament for the New York Newspaper Men's Golf Club. An entry of thirty-four frolicked over the course all day long and got enough material to tell golfing yarns galore for the next few weeks.

A. F. Poinsette of The Associated Press, probably the club's best linksman, yesterday made his début of the season and celebrated the occasion with winning the low gross honors, which carried a prize. Poinsette would have won both the other trophies were it not for the fact that the rules allow only one prize to a man. His 78 was low gross, his 73 low net and his 76 selected score the best of the day. Hiram Serine, with 98—11—77, was adjudged winner of the prize for best net. R. E. Poinsette, a brother of the champion, carried off the prize for best selected score with his 83.

HANDICAP TOURNEY—A. F. Poinsette, 78—5—73; Hiram Serine, 98—11—77; E. B. Davis, 90—18—81; Peter Campbell, 105—20—84; Frank T. Pope, 100—12—88; B. R. E. Poinsette, 85—15—78; Charles Fletcher, 94—11—83; T. Grimler, 97—12—85; F. F. Nowlan, 103—17—86; H. H. Perez, 106—11—83; and R. Frank Teague, 113—30—92.

SELECTED SCORES—A. F. Poinsette, 76; B. R. E. Poinsette, 83; Serine, 84; Davis, 91; McRae, 93.

UNIVERSITY HEIGHTS WINS.

Defeats Tennis Team of Amackassin Club by 5 to 4.

The tennis players of the University Heights Club yesterday defeated the Amackassin Club of Yonkers in a team match by 5 to 4. John Whyte won the crucial encounter for the Harlem River men by pulling out a victory over Carl Smith after trailing at 1 to 5 in the second, with the first scored against him, and the match point on the table.

SINGLES—Leonard Beakman, Amackassin, defeated E. J. Clapp, University Heights, 6—1, 6—3; E. O. Stoddard, Amackassin, defeated R. H. Manchester, University Heights, 6—2, 7—5; Ben Lotsen, University Heights, defeated Harold Moore, Amackassin, 7—5, 6—3; W. M. Fischer, University Heights, defeated Dr. Liddell; Amackassin, 6—3, 6—3; J. D. Ewing, Amackassin, defeated J. W. Merserau, University Heights, 7—5, 4—6, 6—4; John Whyte, University Heights, defeated Carl Smith, Amackassin, 5—7, 6—4, 6—3.

DOUBLES—Beakman and Stoddard, Amackassin, defeated Paul Martin and L. V. Robinson, University Heights, 6—2, 6—4; E. H. Manchester and John Whyte, University Heights, defeated Moore and Liddell, Amackassin, 6—3, 6—0; Lotsen and Merserau, University Heights, defeated Ewing and Smith, Amackassin, 7—5, 6—4.

THE INTERNATIONAL YACHT RACE.

WILDAIR VICTOR IN THE METROPOLITAN

Broomstick Colt Easily Takes Handicap Which Features Opening at Belmont Park.

THUNDERCLAP GETS SECOND

Hildreth Entry Finishes Three Lengths Behind Winner—Numerous Scratches Mar the Program.

Harry Payne Whitney's Wildair, which finished third in the Preakness, showed his speed to local racegoers for the first time this season at the opening of the Spring meeting at Belmont Park yesterday when he captured the $5,000 Metropolitan Handicap. It was an easy and also an impressive victory for the Broomstick colt as he came home three lengths in front of S. C. Hildreth's Thunderclap, with G. W. Loft's On Watch third and Corn Tassel, stablemate of Thunderclap, bringing up the rear in the field of four.

It was only the second time that this historic test had been won by a three-year-old. Trompe La Mort was returned the winner in 1918, while back in 1905 Sysonby, then a three-year-old, ran a dead heat with Race King and thus divided the honors. Wildair ran a fine race and proved he was much the best of the field. He covered the distance in the fast time of 1:38 4-5.

The opening at Belmont Park, which many regard as the real beginning of the metropolitan season, brought out a crowd of fully 15,000 lovers of the thoroughbred. It was almost as large a crowd as packed into Jamaica a few days before, but it did not fill the spacious stands at Belmont though the lawn was almost a solid mass of humanity and the clubhouse was well filled. There were many patrons at the clubhouse who gave luncheons preceding the racing. Among them were Harry Payne Whitney, Mrs. Payne Whitney, G. D. Widener, James McClelland, Walter J. Salmon and many others prominent in the sport.

Card Marred by Scratches.

It was unfortunate that the card which, as originally arranged, promised a fine day of sport, was marred by wholesale scratches, particularly in the chief events. This resulted in small fields and a loss of interest when the competition was taken out of the races. The only reason that could be assigned was that owners did not like the conditions or were not ready to send their horses against some of the stars named. The track was in fine condition and was fast, so that it offered no excuse for withdrawals.

Because of scratches only four horses went to the post for the Metropolitan, this being one of the smallest fields that ever competed for the prize. Enough good horses had been named from the original fifty-three entries to make this an excellent race, but early in the day two of the four entered by Sam C. Hildreth were withdrawn. These were Purchase and Mad Hatter, both of which had met with trouble which prevented them from racing. Along with these Star Master, Billy Kelly and Dr. Clark were taken out of the race, the latter when James Rowe decided to pin his hopes entirely on the eventual winner.

Wildair is a colt which Rowe has long claimed was better than Upset and yesterday he was in as good form as he probably will be any time. Condition undoubtedly was a big aid in his victory, for though he ran around his field, traveled further than any other horse in the race and finished strongly, he might have had a harder time of it had Thunderclap been able to finish as resolutely as he did at times last year. Thunderclap does not seem to have come into the form which he showed late last season and was fairly defeated yesterday.

Always Well Bunched.

The four horses in the race were always well bunched. On Watch, which had been added, showed a fine flight of speed and ran a race which pleased his trainer, Max Hirsch. Thunderclap broke in front and set the pace up to the time that Wildair caught him in the stretch. For half a mile there was no daylight showing between any of the horses. The Hildreth gelding was leading by a head with On Watch and Corn Tassel on either side of him and Wildair trailing well up in the pack.

The horses went around the turn in almost the same position as they left the barrier, and it was not until the head of the stretch loomed up that Ambrose, on the Whitney colt, made his challenge. To get up he had to go to the outside, as Fator had clung to the rail at the turn. Thunderclap turned into the stretch leading by a narrow margin, but having quite surely disposed of On Watch and Corn Tassel. Once there were straightened out Wildair came with a rush and stride by stride cut down the lead of the Hildreth racer until at the sixteenth pole he had the lead, and it was evident that the race was over. Rator went to the whip, but Thunderclap had run his race and could not make another effort. He was game enough to hold the others safely, but Wildair drew steadily away to win by three lengths.

Football Stars Members of Resolute and Vanitie Crews

By a strange coincidence, both the Resolute and the Vanitie have Harvard football centres of past years in their respective afterguards, Charles J. Nourse being of the Vanitie's contingent, while John F. Parkinson is attached to the Resolute. When asked what Mr. Nourse's position was aboard the Vanitie, Rear Commodore George Nichols, skipper of that craft, said he was the "strong man" of the crew, adding that such a man often was useful aboard a cup defense yacht. Mr. Parkinson holds the same relative position on Resolute, and after the buckling of the mast of the Herreshoff creation last Saturday one yachting wag among the observers of the first contest remarked that Mr. Parkinson must have been below decks or asleep, else the mast never would have had a chance to topple over the side.

PURCHASE MAY HAVE RUN HIS LAST RACE

Old Ankle Lameness Returns to Keep Him Out of the Metropolitan Handicap.

In withdrawing Purchase from the Metropolitan Handicap at Belmont Park yesterday Sam C. Hildreth announced that it was quite possible the great son of Gallinule and Cherryola would never be seen under colors again. Purchase broke down in training and his owner is doubtful if the colt will ever again be able to stand a campaign of training which will fit him for the races. While being trained at Laurel last October Purchase went lame with a bad ankle and was put aside for the season. This year Hildreth put him into training again, the lameness having entirely disappeared. Purchase worked remarkably well. As he was nearing top form he showed all the speed which made him a topnotcher as a three-year-old. Saturday he was given a severe test in preparation for the Metropolitan and when he returned to the barn he had a slight limp. Hildreth discovered that the same ankle which had gone wrong in Maryland had again been injured and he at once took the horse out of training.

SETS NEW TRACK RECORD.

The Porter Covers Seven Furlongs at Churchill Downs in 1:25.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. May 24.—E. B. McLean's The Porter, the stout little horse that last year took the measure of the best handicap performers in the country, reached good form at Churchill Downs today and won the seven-furlong purse event on the card in such good time that he set a new track record for the distance. He defeated Lady Fairplay by two lengths, with Blushing Beauty taking third, and did the distance in 1:25.

The Porter outclassed his field and had the race well in hand from the time he was sent to the front at the turn into the stretch. He raced Blue Paradise next to submission and then easily drew away from Lady Fairplay which was much the best of the others.

The Bowling Green Purse was captured by Paul Weidel which scored a close victory over Patches, Peace Pennant being third.

THOROUGHBRED SALE TODAY

W. A. Prime's Flat Runners to be Auctioned at Belmont Park.

E. J. Tranter, head of the Pasig-Tipton Company, will hold the first auction sale of thoroughbred yearlings of the season today in the paddock at Belmont Park, with George Bain in the box. The principal contributor will be William A. Prime of New York, who will dispose of all of the flat runners of his racing establishment and a couple of the jumpers. He will retain most of his jumpers, steeplechasing being the particular department of racing in which he is most keenly interested. The jumpers that will go under the hammer are Rupica and Reliance, which were under colors in Maryland.

The three-year-old winners Bibler and Sea Sinner and two-year-olds by Wrack, Celt, Trojan and Sea Horse, 2d, will constitute Mr. Prime's consignment of flat runners to this sale. Other sales, especially of thoroughbred yearlings, will be held at Saratoga in August.

38 ENTRIES FOR REGATTA.

Stewards Name Events for Harlem River Fixture on May 31.

The Regatta Committee of the New York Rowing Association met at the New York A. C. last night and made final preparations for the annual regatta of the association to be held next Monday afternoon on the Harlem River. The complete program of events as drawn up by the Board of Stewards was approved and the time of starting the regatta set for 1:30, when the first race, the junior single sculls, will get under way.

Indications at last night's meeting pointed to the most successful regatta that the New York association has ever held. Thirty-eight entries, the largest in many years, have been received and these include clubs from Philadelphia and Washington. For the first time since 1914 Philadelphia is represented, the Malta Boat Club having entered the junior single sculls, the junior quadruple sculls, the senior four-oared barge and the junior eight-oared shell.

The order of races and contestants in each are as follows:

Junior Single Sculls—Harry McCloy, Jr., Malta Boat Club, Philadelphia; Wilfred J. Schwab, Lone Star Boat Club; Thomas Malley, Nassau Boat Club; John A. Herber, Metropolitan Boat Club.

Intermediate Single Sculls—William J. Morris, Jr., Metropolitan Boat Club; Samuel Siegel, Lone Star Boat Club; William G. Bernauer, Ravenswood Boat Club; Richard F. Greyser, Bayonne Rowing Association.

Junior Double Sculls—Walter J. Falk and Joseph Harth, Union Boat Club, New York; R. C. Beneelgneur and A. J. Hutterly, Potomac Boat Club; Joseph Glendenning and William Wilson, Active Boat Club.

Intermediate Double Sculls—Harry Froelich and D. S. Maimin, Lone Star Boat Club; F. Kreigl and F. Treman, Bohemian Boat Club.

Senior Singles—L. Zahn, Bohemian Boat Club; E. Heller, Atalanta Boat Club; D. Andras, Active Boat Club; Thomas Rooney, New York A. C.

Senior Single Sculls, Quarter-mile Dash—Henry Heller, Atalanta Boat Club; Thomas Rooney, New York A. C.; Frank B. Shay, Nonpareil Boat Club.

Junior Eight-oared Shell—Union Boat Club and Malta Boat Club.

Senior Eight-oared Shell—Viking Rowing Club, Columbia Junior Varsity, Columbia freshmen.

CORNELL IS NOT ENTERED.

Varsity Crew Missing from List for Stewards' Cup Race.

Cornell University is still missing from the list of colleges which have entered Varsity crews in the Stewards' Challenge Cup race, the eight-oared event of the American Henley regatta on the Schuylkill River next Friday and Saturday. A list of the colleges entered in the four collegiate events on the program was received in this city yesterday by officials of the American Rowing Association from John Arthur Brown of the University of Pennsylvania, Secretary of the A. R. A. Seven college Varsity crews and one boat club eight are named as the contestants in the eight-oared race.

One new college, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology of Boston, appears on the list for the Varsity race. The other colleges are Harvard, Princeton, Columbia, Penn, Syracuse and the Naval Academy.

GARLAND CONQUERS HARTE IN TWO SETS

Loser Forced to Quit Because of Physical Condition—Davis Cup Committee Silent.

There was a notable gathering of tennis players, past and present, at Forest Hills yesterday afternoon, when a desperate but fruitless attempt was made by the Davis Cup Committee to select the fourth man to represent America in the international contests this Summer. Charles S. Garland, intercollegiate champion and Captain of the Yale University tennis team, defeated Richard Harte, the Harvard alumnus, two straight sets, 6—3, 9—7, after which the loser was unable to continue for the remainder of the five sets scheduled.

The argument as to the relative merits of Harte and Garland seemed sufficiently settled by the two sets that were completed yesterday, coupled with Harte's overwhelming defeat at the hands of Watson M. Washburn in the Church Cup matches, and Garland's decisive elimination of Wallace F. Johnson in a full five set encounter, in which the Yale man came out ahead by 4 to 1. But Harte has been suffering from a boil on his face, and has not been physically up to the mark generally. Therefore, when he showed signs of collapse after having been run all over the court by the steady and resourceful Garland, a halt was called, and it was decided to postpone a decision until the Bostonian could be sure of doing himself justice.

This opportunity, however, will probably never arrive, so far as this year's Davis Cup team is concerned, for Garland had to return to Yale last night to complete his work for his diploma, and it will be difficult to bring the rivals together again before the time of sailing, even though it was announced yesterday that the Kaiserin Auguste Victoria, on which passage has been taken, cannot get away until June 4. To every spectator yesterday the superiority of Garland seemed clearly established in the two sets played, quite apart from physical condition. He showed more knowledge of tennis all the way, and would probably have taken every set, for he had completely solved the famous service of his challenger, and, once he had the ball in play, he was both the better technician and the better tactician.

The difference in the players was more noticeable in the second set than in the first, in spite of the fact that it went to deuce games. Harte had so many chances to win in this session that his failure to clinch the argument could only imply an inherent weakness, utterly incapable of making the most of an advantage.

More impressive by far than the trial match yesterday was the remarkable form of the national champion in his first practice on turf this season. Johnston has been playing regularly for the last two months in California, and admitted before he took the court that he was in good shape. But after a short warming-up with Alexander the tennis of the title holder proved a revelation.

"The best I have ever seen in my life," was the comment of former champion Wrenn. In two sets against Tilden Johnston allowed his opponent only one game, and although the loser was below form, and playing without spikes, the difference between the two was chiefly due to the champion's wonderful control of his strokes. He hit the ball hard all the time and made practically no errors. Not only his forehand but his backhand drive was in perfect shape, and he looked competent to go out and beat the best in the world without another day of preparation. Johnston announced that if America came through the preliminaries he would be able to make the trip to New Zealand next Winter.

It now looks as if Johnston and Tilden would be paired in doubles, for they intend to practice together at Forest Hills this week. Yesterday Tilden combined with Murray in an informal match against Kumagae and Alexander.

RESOLUTE WILL BE IN TRIM THIS WEEK

New Topmast to be Stepped—Vanitie's Showing Satisfies Her Skipper.

It is now admitted that the built-up wooden mast of the Resolute, which snapped off like a pipestem, about ten feet above deck, last Saturday in the first of the trial races between the Herreshoff sloop and the Vanitie, was merely an experiment, and, as soon as the stump of the shattered spar is removed from the Resolute the old spirally constructed steel mast which was used during the season of 1915 will be stepped and a new topmast fitted. The steel mast is several hundreds of pounds heavier than the demolished wooden one.

The Resolute is now at the Herreshoff yards, at Bristol, R. I., having arrived there yesterday in tow of the tender Montauk after a stormy and much-delayed voyage from New Haven. A stiff easterly blow, combined with fog, made it necessary for the Montauk and her charge to put in at Saybrook, Conn., until the weather cleared. But for this delay she would have arrived off Bristol on Sunday, and just that much time would have been saved in rerigging her.

It is expected that by Thursday afternoon or Friday morning at the latest, the Resolute will be in readiness to continue her trials, but it was announced late yesterday that the two big sloops would not again meet off New Haven for any continuation of the originally scheduled series of trial brushes which were so suddenly and unexpectedly terminated by the carrying away of the mast. The old steel mast was lengthened at the step by fifty inches.

A new topmast, and not the old one, is to be used in connection with the steel mast which is to replace the built-up one. New spreaders also will be used, and it is said that this will make possible the spread of the same canvas that she carried last Saturday, with little, if any, alterations. Practically all of the old rigging is available for use, although the jaws of the aluminite gaff were jammed and warped, and a big gang of willing workers will get her in racing shape as quickly as possible.

The accident to the Resolute was the chief topic of conversation among yachtsmen yesterday, and other similar mishaps were discussed, among them being the doubling up of the Columbia's hollow steel mast in 1890, off Newport, and a similar

SIX BANDITS TAKE $165,000 FROM BANK

Lock Assistant Cashier in Vault at Finleyville, Pa., and Escape in Their Car.

ONLY ONE MAN IN OFFICE

Other Employes, Returning from Lunch, Find $15,000 in Cash and $150,000 in Bonds Gone.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, May 24.—Six bandits in an automobile today got away with $165,000 in currency and bonds at the First National Bank of Finleyville, a small town on the Pittsburgh and Charleroi suburban line. The cash taken was about $15,000.

The bandits drove up in a high-powered car, between 12 and 1 o'clock today and entered the bank. The Assistant Cashier, John Jones, was at the counter, and he was ordered to the vault where two of the robbers pushed him in and stood guard.

No other employe was in the bank at the time, the rest being at luncheon and Jones was not released from the vault until they came back, as the robbers had shut the door before departing.

The bandits started to take all the money in the drawers and on the shelves, with one man standing guard at the door of the bank. They then took all the bonds and securities they could find in the vault, and leisurely left the bank, starting the car toward Washington, Pa.

When the other employes of the bank returned the alarm was given and a posse was formed, the borough police not being in evidence.

Word was telephoned to Pittsburgh, and several county detectives from the court house were sent to Finleyville, about twenty miles from this city. The police at Washington, Pa., were also notified.

A bystander asserted that he noticed the license number of the car, which he gave as 143,266 Pennsylvania, but it was discovered tonight that the car with this license was in Edgenton, 100 miles away, at the time of the robbery.

The Finleyville bank is only two miles from the First National Bank of Castle Shannon, which was robbed by three men in an automobile two years ago, the cashier and assistant cashier both being killed by the bandits, while one of the latter was killed by a posse that went in pursuit. Another was captured, tried some months ago and executed.

CELTIC PLAYERS OPEN.

Art Padraic H. Pearse's "The Singer" and Revive "The Birthright."

Miss Deborah Bierne's Celtic Players, who opened a season of modern Irish drama last night at the Provincetown Theatre, offered two plays as their first bill. The chief interest in the first, "The Singer," lies in the fact that it was written by Padraic H. Pearse, President of the short-lived Irish Republic of 1916, and who was killed during the Easter uprising of that year.

Pearse evidently had a strong sense of his own mission and a premonition of his end, for "The Singer" is frankly autobiographical and to a degree prophetic. A poet, whose songs stir the hearts of the common people, is banished and becomes a wanderer. He returns home just as his people are preparing to rise against "the Gall," under the guidance of a great unknown leader who has been promised them. His younger brother, impatient at the non-arrival of the leader, goes against the Gall with a handful of followers and is killed. The poet, revealed to the people as the messiah they had looked for, reproaches them for deserting his brother, renounces the girl he loves, and goes out, unarmed, to meet the enemy and his own death.

This is poetic material certainly, but Pearse's treatment of it is not dramatic. What little action there is takes place in the poet's cottage home. The dialogue probably makes good reading, but it is too wordy for the stage. The cast struggled valiantly to breathe life into character that were little more than personified stanzas.

"Birthright," the second offering, is no novelty here, as it was in the repertoire of the Irish Players during both their engagements here in 1911 and 1913. T. C. Murray's brief tragedy of Irish peasant life wears well. It was as absorbing as ever last night, and was well acted, particularly by Paul Hayes and Eileen Curran. The acting throughout the evening was never less than satisfactory. Both plays were well staged and lighted.

Will Produce American Passion Play

Mrs. W. Yorke Stevenson of New York is to produce an American Passion play about the third week in June in a valley near Hollywood, Cal., which she has purchased. It is to be called the National Pilgrimage Play and is planned to be an annual event. Bishop Rhinelander of Pennsylvania, Bishop Johnson of California, the Rev. Dr. Edward Y. Hills, George Arliss, Clayton Hamilton, Violet Oakley, Mrs. Otis Skinner, Mrs. Charlamagne Tower and Edward K. Box are among those supporting the movement.

"39 East" Back at the Shubert.

Rachel Crothers's comedy of boarding house life, "39 East," came back to New York last night at the Shubert Theatre, where it will continue for a number of weeks. The cast is headed by Constance Binney and Henry Hull, and is the same throughout as that which first acted the piece at the Broadhurst Theatre more than a year ago.

CHICAGO OPERA NOVELTIES.

Company to Stage "Love of Three Oranges" and "Jacquerie."

Herbert M. Johnson, Executive Director of the Chicago Opera Association, yesterday announced his company's plans for its tenth season, as prepared by him in conjunction with Gino Marinuzzi, newly appointed artistic manager in succession to the late Cleofonte Campanini. Opening Nov. 17 next in Chicago, the company will produce "Lohengrin," "Tristan," and "The Valkyrie" in English, and will give revivals in French of "Salome," "Lakme," and "Tales of Hoffman," and in Italian of "Don Giovanni," "Orfeo," "Favorita," "Otello," and "Jewels of the Madonna." Twenty-three operas in Italian and eight others in French are also in the repertory.

Novelties to be presented include Prokofieff's "The Love of Three Oranges" and Marinuzzi's "Jacquerie," both prepared but not sung last season, and Erlanger's "Aphrodite," which was staged only in New York. Of the singers the newcomers will include Toto Dal Monte and Irma Vigano, sopranos; Gabriella Besanzoni, contralto, and Joseph Hislop, a Scotch tenor. Among thirty retained are also Galli-Curci, Garden, Raisa, Yvonne Gall, Bonci, Edward Johnson, Ruffo, Baklanoff, Galeffi, Dufranne, Cotreuil and Lazzari.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Edgar Selwyn, accompanied by Gilbert Miller, will sail on the Adriatic on Saturday. He will produce Wedding Bells" in London in association with Mr. Miller, and will visit Madrid to close contracts for a group of Spanish plays. He will also seek a site in London on which to build a theatre.

Carl Randall will be in the cast of the Ziegfeld "Follies."

"The Passing Show of 1919," which ends its run at the Winter Garden in two weeks, will go to the Garrick Theatre in Chicago for a Summer engagement.

"Come 'Seven!" a comedy by Octavus Roy Cohen, founded upon his stories of Southern life, will be produced out of town in the near future by George Broadhurst. The cast will include Arthur Aylesworth, Earle Foxe, Charles Meyer, Henry Hanlin, Gail Kane, Lucille La Verne, Helen Tracy, Suzanne Willis and Eleanor Monteh.

The run of "Jane Clegg" at the Garrick, according to present plans, will be continued throughout the month of June.

George White's "Scandals of 1920" failed to open in Washington last night owing to scenic difficulties. The premiers will take place tonight.

In the cast of Edward Locke's "Jimmy Allas James," which will soon be tried out, will be Mr. Locke, Minna Gale Haynes, Auriol Lee, Hubert Druce and others.

MUSIC NOTES.

Colin O'More, an American tenor with the company now playing in "Lassie," will give a song recital at Aeolian Hall this afternoon.

Louis Arthur Russell has composed music for a pageant, "The Triumph of Freedom and Peace," to be sung tomorrow by the Oratorio Society of Newark.

Estelle Collette, soprano, will give a free program of songs tomorrow evening in the Strauss Auditorium of the Educational Alliance.

Titto Ruffo, Anna Fitziu and Tandy MacKenzie, tenor, will sing for the American Free Milk and Relief for Italy, Inc., on Thursday night at the Waldorf-Astoria.

'BETTY LEE' ADMITS CHECK TRAIL HERE

LAWYERS RECOGNIZE HER

Her Arraignment Postponed to Give Time for Investigation of Her Past History.

Identified as Miss Dallas Romane, wanted in New York in connection with a check swindle on the United States Government, the woman who is under arrest at Newark police headquarters under the name of Mrs. Betty Lee was not arraigned yesterday in the women's court as scheduled, but was held for further investigation into her past history. Although she had insisted since her arrest in Tranton last Saturday that she had never been in trouble before, Mrs. Lee admitted yesterday when confronted by two Manhattan lawyers who had handled her case that she had been arrested in New York.

Ralph T. Stanton, of 299 Broadway, Manhattan, and Francis X. Goltte, also of Manhattan, called at Newark police headquarters yesterday afternoon and asked to see Mrs. Lee. They said they had read of her arrest and that her description fitted that of a woman they had represented in New York in a worthless check transaction. They had induced a physician to go on her bail bond for $500 and she had disappeared. When confronted by the lawyers Mrs. Lee admitted that she had been arrested in New York, but insisted she hadn't intended to jump her bail bond. "I thought the case was settled," she said. "I went from New York to Trenton and then to Newark."

According to the Newark police, Mrs. Lee passed several worthless checks in Trenton before she came to Newark seven weeks ago. The police have no record of the number of fraudulent checks passed in Newark as none of the stores or business men who were victimized has made a complaint, except C. Wenham Smith, organist and father-in-law of Police Commissioner Ford. Mrs. Lee was to have been arraigned in the Women's Court yesterday as a first offender, on the charge of Mr. Smith that she obtained $482 from him by representing she had influence and could get him reservations on a steamship for Europe, and then failed to get the tickets.

Mrs. Lee was visited in her cell by Assistant Police Surgeon Augustus Mitchell yesterday, because she appeared to be ill. The police denied that she was on a hunger strike, as at first reported, and said she was suffering from severe headaches. Mrs. Lee told the police she was thirty-three years old. She admitted that "Betty Lee" was a stage name she had used as a singer.

Mrs. Lee said she had traveled all over the world while in the theatrical profession and had been in every large city in the United States. She denied that she was wanted by the police of any other city than New York.

Circulars bearing Mrs. Lee's photograph and fingerprints were sent to a number of large cities by the Newark police yesterday. The Washington police had telegraphed for her picture and description, believing she was a woman wanted there.

5 HURT AT PATERSON FIRE.

Fifty Leap to Safety When Trapped in Hotel.

Special to The New York Times.

PATERSON, May 24.—Five persons were injured and fifty others escaped being burned to death by jumping three stories into life nets when the interior of the Hotel Manhattan, Market and Paterson Streets, this city, was burned out early to day. The loss is estimated at $500,000. The blaze started in the laundry room in the rear of the building.

William Smith, a fireman, suffered a severe laceration of the scalp when he fell 50 feet from a ladder after he had carried a woman and a man to safety. He is at St. Joseph's Hospital.

John Kelly, a guest at the hotel, was bruised when he leaped from a third-story window and is in the Paterson General Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Dodd of Syracuse and Police Officer Albert Schielke were trapped on the third floor and were forced to leap three stories before the nets were spread. They suffered only minor injuries. Police Sergeant Ross Lyle and several other policemen and firemen were overcome by smoke. They were revived and resumed duty.

Ten stores on the Market Street side of the building which occupied almost a block were damaged by fire and water. Most of the hotel guests lost everything but their night attire.

TRY TO KILL MACLAY HOYNE.

Two Shots Are Fired at Chicago Attorney's Son in Mistake.

CHICAGO, May 24.—Detectives today sought to unravel the mystery surrounding two attempts yesterday on the life of Maclay Hoyne, State's Attorney.

From a post in a vacant house across the street from the Hoyne residence two rifle shots were fired at Francis J. Hoyne, 15-year-old youth, who strikingly resembles his father. In connection with the attacks Mr. Hoyne revealed that since prosecution of the men charged with the murder of Maurice ("Mose") Enright, labor leader, was begun he and his assistants had received scores of threatening letters and telephone calls.

"In the past seven years I have received hundreds of threatening letters," Mr. Hoyne said, explaining that many of them came when he began prosecutions after the race riots here last year; others, apparently from radicals, were received about May Day, and the most recent ones were connected with the Enright murder case.

Mr. Hoyne said he would not be deterred in further prosecutions, adding that within the past two weeks seven men charged with murder have been sentenced to death and that trials of twenty-seven more will be held in the next two weeks.

WOOD DENIES "PLOT" YARN.

Says He Never Called Von Papen and Thinks Latter Was "Joshed."

CHICAGO, May 24.—Captain Franz von Papen, military attaché at Washington prior to America's entry into the war, was being "joshed" if he was told by Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, then commander of the Eastern Department of the army at New York, that the United States had complete plans of von Papen's alleged plot to attack New York from U-boats.

"A canard," was General Wood's cryptic characterization today of von Papen's story, as told in Associated Press dispatches from Berlin last night, that he had been called to Governors Island to be told about the "discovery" of his plot.

"I never called any attaché to Governors Island and had no authority to do so," General Wood told The Associated Press today. "All the attachés, when in New York, were extremely punctilious about calling to pay their respects. On such occasions we never talked war. I don't remember the incident von Papen refers to, though it is possible that he may have been 'joshed' about the numerous spy plot stories that were circulating at that time."

FUR MEN TO STRIKE FOR A 40-HOUR WEEK

Manufacturers Reject Union Demand Devised to Solve Unemployment Problem.

WORKERS FOR WAGE CUT

In Return They Would Reinstate 3,000 Idle Employes—Walkout Likely on Thursday.

A strike of 10,000 fur workers in this city was declared to be inevitable last night by representatives of both the manufacturers and the union. Morris Kaufman, President of the International Fur Workers' Union, said the strike would go into effect within a few days, probably on Thursday. The union in asking a reduction of hours from forty-four to forty a week until the end of the year, with a corresponding decrease in wages, and the reinstatement of the 3,000 or 4,000 workers laid off for lack of work.

The demands were rejected at a meeting of the Associated Fur Manufacturers, Inc., yesterday, following the receipt of a letter from the union giving them forty-eight hours in which to decide. A joint committee representing the manufacturers and the union had failed to reach an agreement after two weeks of conferences, in which the manufacturers' committee rejected all union proposals. The association then adopted resolutions which, after reciting the demands of the union, said:

"Resolved, That the Associated Fur Manufacturers, Inc., hereby indorses, ratifies and approves the acts of its conference committee in refusing the demands of the union, and, be it further

"Resolved, That the Associated Fur Manufacturers, Inc., hereby insists that no deviation be made from the present agreement existing between the association and the union."

Mr. Kaufman said the proposed 40-hour week would not violate the contract. "We do not ask for its permanent inauguration," he said, "but we feel that as a temporary measure it would help solve the acute unemployment problem now confronting the industry. Furthermore, the workers are willing to accept a corresponding reduction in wages."

The decision to call a strike, Mr. Kaufman said, was reached by referendum vote. He said 5,354 workers voted for a strike and 922 against. The date upon which the strike is to become effective will be decided by a committee today, he said.

Ferry Company Head Liberal to Churches and Servants.

The will of John B. Hasslocher, President of the New York & Astoria Ferry Company, who died Jan. 21 last at 1,261 Madison Avenue, disposes of an estate of more than $500,000 and makes liberal religious and charitable bequests. The religious gifts are $10,000 to the Church of St. Joseph, 408 East 107th Street; $6,000 each to the American College in Rome and the Church of St. Boniface; $5,000 each to the Church of Our Lady of Good Counsel and St. Francis de Sales Church, and $3,000 to St. Francis's Home. The Lenox Hill Hospital got $12,000.

Mr. Hasslocher left only $1,000 to his nephew, William F. Henes, and directed that he shall receive nothing if he contests the will, but his mother, Mrs. Julia F. Henes, sister of the testator, gets $150,000 and jewelry. Her son, Louis J. Henes, gets $120,000 and half the residuary estate. Anna Henes Stehlen, a niece, receives $100,000 and half the residue, while a fund of $120,000 is left to her three children. Julia Henes Maguire, niece, gets $45,000 and Augusta Henes Gulden, niece, receives $40,000. George Knieb and Fred Engelhardt, chauffeurs, get $3,000 and $1,500, respectively, and Millie Cooper, housekeeper, inherits $2,000.

Haverford Calls W. S. Hinchman.

PHILADELPHIA, May 24.—Walter S. Hinchman has been appointed by the Board of Managers of Haverford College to succeed the late Dr. Francis B. Gummere as Professor of English. Mr. Hinchman, who was born in this city in 1879 and graduated from Haverford in 1900, studied later at Harvard and taught at Groton School. He was Captain of Haverford's cricket team that met the British players, and in England married Miss Julia Henderson. They have four children.

Fine Clothes deserve the best Traveling Equipment

YOU sometimes see a woman arrive at the hotel—and half an hour later come down with frock as fresh and dainty as though it had never seen a trunk.

The envy of half the women in the hotel—and the way she does it is so simple!

A woman might just as well make up her mind to a Belber Wardrobe first as last.

It will do for her just what she wants her Wardrobe Trunk to do—because it is so beautifully planned. Every inch of space designed for a definite purpose—to carry beautiful clothes as such clothes deserve to be carried.

You really need not unpack at all. Just open the trunk. Everything is in its place, fresh and unmussed. All your clothes and other belongings are as conveniently accessible as they were in your closets and bureaus at home.

If your dealer has the custom of the metropolitan-minded women—he will tell you that Belber is his strongest line, and growing stronger every day.

HARBOR MEN'S OFFER REJECTED BY ROADS

Managers, Calling Strike Illegal, Refuse to Restore Seniority of Strikers.

MEN MUST FIRST RETURN

Cannot Deal with Them Otherwise, They Say — Walkout of 300 Lightermen in Brooklyn.

Offers of the striking marine workers of the railroads in New York Harbor to return to work if their seniority rights were restored have been rejected by the Railroad Managers' Association, it was learned yesterday. The association, as in the case of the "outlaw" railroad strikers, has taken the position that the strike was illegal and that the men must return to work before the railroads will deal with them.

The strikers' places to a great extent have been filled, and the managers are not willing to restore those who walked out, thus depriving the workers who remained faithful of their promotions, or to discharge the new men who took strikers' places. They say, moreover, that, inasmuch as the Government officials at Washington have refused to deal with the strikers unless they return to work, the railroads cannot consistently deal with them.

The railroad officials declare that the stand taken last week in letters to William S. Brown, President of the National Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association, and Captain John H. Pruett, National President of the Masters, Mates and Pilots, in which the railroad officials referred to the strike as illegal, was final. The offer to return to work was in a letter from Mr. Brown, made public yesterday, which said in part:

"Referring to your statement as regards the illegality of the action of the Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association in the Port of New York on April 1, would state that this is a question yet to be decided, but our claim is that our action was justifiable and legal and will have to be determined by a tribunal other than the Board of Railway Managers to convince our organization that our action was unlawful and illegal.

"As to the position taken by the railroads in this controversy, you are advised that Captain Pruett and the writer will concede to your request regarding the men who left their employment on April 1, and direct the men to return to their vessels, provided, however, that you will assure us that all the men can return to their former positions and to the same status they occupied prior to April 1."

The harbor men walked out as the result of a dispute over the sale by the Erie Railroad of seven of its lighters. The lighters were bought by J. B. Stewart of the Phoenix Transit Company, and the marine workers charged that the sale was only a subterfuge of the railroad to escape the provisions of the Esch-Cummins bill, which provides for an eight-hour day for railroad workers. This was denied by the Erie officials. The strike was called not only against the Erie but against all the railroads. No question of wages or hours was involved.

At the Maritime Exchange it was said that the diversion of freight from this port was growing, but that there was little chance that other ports should gain much of New York's trade permanently, because of inadequate facilities. Three hundred lighter men employed by the coastwise shipping lines went on strike in Brooklyn yesterday, according to officials of the Lighter Captains' Union, 906, of the International Longshoremen's Association. The lighter men are striking in sympathy with the coastwise longshoremen, who walked out nearly three months ago.

FIGHT IN MOVING ELEVATOR.

Negro Operator Stabs Contractor with Ice Pick in Struggle.

A fight between a negro elevator operator and two passengers was carried on in an elevator of the Hotel Somerset, 150 West Forty-seventh Street, last night, while the lift, with no hand to guide it, moved up and down in the shaft. Charles Jolly, 38 years old, a contractor and builder, who gave his address as the Hotel Longacre, 157 West Forty-seventh Street, received lacerations made by an ice pick said to have been used by Foster Thomas, 35 years old, of 40 West 139th Street, the elevator operator.

Thomas told the police that Jolly and a friend entered the elevator and became dissatisfied with its speed. They had words, he said, which led to blows. Then, Thomas said, he picked up the ice pick and used it in self defense on Jolly's back, head and face. He was charged with felonious assault.

HOOVER GIVES EIGHT REASONS FOR H. C. OF L.

ADVANCES AS HE TESTIFIES

ATTACKS THE PROFITS TAX

Present Credit Curtailment a Surgical Operation—New Sugar Inquiry to Begin Tomorrow.

After enumerating eight reasons for the high cost of living, Herbert Hoover, candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination, yesterday put the responsibility for the high price of sugar squarely up to the Administration. Testifying in the City Hall before the Lusk Joint Legislative Committee, investigating profiteering as a cause of unrest, the former Food Controller blamed the President, Attorney General Palmer and others of the Cabinet for failure to accept the Sugar Equalization Board's recommendation that the Cuban 1920 crop be bought up.

Had this been done, said the witness, when the crop was offered at 6¼ cents a pound, sugar today would cost not more than 12 cents, instead of more than 100 per cent. in excess of that figure.

Several hours after Mr. Hoover had made his direct assignment of blame, Armin W. Riley, Special Assistant to Attorney General Palmer, announced that the Government would seek to obtain a fair distribution of the country's sugar supply through a sweeping investigation of sugar brokers who ignored conditions of their Federal licenses. Mr. Riley's statement was made at about the same time the refiners were tacking another cent-a-pound on sugar, the third increase within a week, the American Sugar Refining Company basing its price advance on "the increasing cost to the company of raw sugar."

"The Government's investigation," said Mr. Riley, will start tomorrow. It will consist of a series of informal meetings with three representatives of the sugar men appointed by their colleagues last week in Washington. The purpose of these meetings will be more than just for the purpose of punishing violators of the Lever act. It is our purpose to use everything in our power to remedy the market conditions and obtain a fair distribution of the sugar supply, even if it must be at the expense of some of the non-essential industries.

"We will stop the practice of selling sugar at prices based upon replacement value instead of cost. Through this means, speculators have been reselling stocks purchased at 9 cents and 10 cents for the prices now current in the market, realizing as much as 100 per cent. profit. Under a recent court decision it is still illegal to do this."

When Mr. Hoover took the stand at the Lusk inquiry he entered upon a two hours' discussion of high prices. He was questioned by Deputy Attorney General Samuel A. Berger, Special Counsel Archibald M. Stevenson and Chairman Clayton A. Lusk.

Mr. Hoover's Eight Reasons.

"What in your opinion are the predominating causes of the high cost of living," was Mr. Berger's first question. In reply Mr. Hoover read a prepared statement, in which he said:

"I would list the predominating causes of the high cost of living as:

"1. Shortage in commodities due to the underproduction of Europe and to our participation there through the drain upon us by exports.

"2. Inflation, more especially in its expansion of credit facilities for the purpose of speculation and nonessential industry. Perhaps that would be more correctly stated not for the purpose, but their use.

"3. Profiteering and speculation arising from the combined opportunity in the two previous items.

"4. Matter of adjustment of taxation, particularly the excess profits tax.

"5. Decrease in our own productivity due to relaxation of effort since the war, to strikes and other causes.

"6. Increase in our own consumption, the waste of commodities and increase in extravagance.

"7. Deterioration of our transport system during the war.

"8. Expensive and wasteful distribution system and other less important causes.

"Maladies of this order cannot be solved by economic patent medicines nor by extreme application of any particular remedy. They require definite, co-ordinated policies of readjustment, going below the surface of things.

"We are participating in the European shortage in production because of the drain upon us through exports. Pressure of a larger demand than the available supply has obviously given every opportunity for large profits, speculation, marking up of goods, &c.

Can Look for Relief.

"We can look for relief from this pressure. The production of Europe is steadily increasing and there is a consequent decrease in export demands from us. The last five or six months have seen the growth of a great resolution to get back to work over most of Europe, particularly in the allied countries, and their production and exports are increasing.

"There is, no doubt, great conflict of argument as to how much inflation is the cause and how much it is the effect of high prices. It is probably in part both, but one of its undoubted major effects lies in the expansion of credits, and thus the added facilities for speculation and profiteering in the midst of a world shortage.

"Also, there can be no question that speculation and the production of nonessentials can afford to pay higher rates of interest than the production and commerce in staple commodities, and while the attempts to limit both speculation and the diversion of capital to nonessential industries, by raising the rate of interest, may have effect, they also penalize the staple industries and the cost of living.

"The curtailment of credits for speculative and non-essential purposes taken in hand during the last few weeks is in some sense a surgical operation, instead of a prevention, that will require the best skill of the whole banking community in order to avoid the difficulties that may flow from a too abrupt handling of the knife. On the other hand, it offers one of the best roads to reduction of speculation and profiteering.

"No one questions that the amount of speculation and profiteering has been very considerable. The remedy lies in one of two alternative directions: either to make use of the indirect pressure of the reduction of credit and inflation pending a stimulation to production and a reduction of consumption or, alternatively, to impose the vigorous regulation and intervention of the Government in commerce, of the order maintained during the war. The latter has many fundamental objections, but in certain commodities is the least evil alternative, as, for instance, in the case of sugar.

Failure of Excess Profits Tax.

"Our present adjustment of taxation tends unduly to increase the cost of living, more particularly in the cases of the excess profits tax. No one denies that our large burden of taxation must be borne for many years in some graduated form by the individuals enjoying the larger incomes of the country. The excess profits tax, however, has failed to accomplish this and is today in effect being distributed per capita on the population.

"It has had other malign effects in the stimulation to speculative expansion, to absorb its profits instead of paying them to the Government and in the stimulation to extravagant expenditure in business. A shift of taxes to larger pressure upon luxuries and non-essentials is needed.

"Out of the relapse from our thrift during the war, and from our actual or fictitious prosperity, we have developed a great increase in consumption in the necessary commodities, and we have developed a great expansion in luxury. The effect of the growth in the rate of luxury expenditure is to drive up the demand for labor in non-essential industries and its subtraction from essential industries, such as agriculture, and the ultimate result will be a reduction in our production of necessities.

"A diversion of credit from non-essential to essential industries and adjustment of taxation so as to bear much more heavily on luxury and, above all, more stimulation to revive thrift and the high sense of sacrifice of the war are the important directions of remedy. It seems impossible to secure listeners to any preachment on thrift and economy, but if we continue on our present pace we are likely to have it imposed upon us through much more drastic forces.

"The reduction of waste involved in strikes requires a constructive policy for readjustments of employer and employe relationship which will minimize the conflicts that stop production and service.

Adjustment Plan Favored.

"My own belief is that advance on this line lies in the plan for adjustment of such conflicts unanimously proposed by the recent industrial conference. This plan is based upon the better organization of collective bargainings, the impartial determination of the rights and wrongs of these disputes, with a view to the enlistment of public opinion as a pressure to settlement. Legislation leading to legal compulsion and the jail will, I believe, defeat its own objects.

"More remote and less immediate remedies lie in the perfection of our marketing system, that the waste and cost thereof may be reduced. In stimulation to agricultural industry, &c., these problems require exhaustive examination and constructive legislation over long periods."

Mr. Hoover, after testifying that he had headed the Sugar Equalization Board, said the present cause of the high price of the commodity was a "profound shortage," "increase of consumption," and European competition in markets.

He told how the board, with one exception, had advised the purchase by the Government of the Cuban 1920 crop.

To whom was that recommendation made?" was asked. "The various recommendations, he replied, "were made before the President, the Attorney General and other members of the Cabinet by the Sugar Board from time to time last Fall."

Q. And the offer was finally turned down, was it not?

A. Simply allowed to lapse, without any definite conclusion, due to lack of action.

Mr. Hoover added that the sugar could have been bought in at 6¼ cents a pound, that the average price would not have been more than 12 cents today, and that the price would have been comparatively stationary for a year, at least. He denied that the shortage of sugar was any more acute than it had been for two years past. He declared that there was sufficient sugar to supply everybody, but advised that some steps be taken to reduce luxury in consumption—sweets, drinks, candies and the like—a sort of rationing. Rationing, he added, of the luxury trade would be one step toward lower prices, something impossible, in his opinion, as long as Americans had to compete with foreign sugar buyers.

When the committee adjourned until 10 o'clock today, it was announced that the inquiry this morning would turn to shoe prices.

Will Urge Print Paper Tax To Cut Down Consumption

WASHINGTON, May 24.—An excise tax on print paper to curtail consumption will be one of the recommendations of the Senate manufactures sub-committee investigating the print paper shortage. A bill for that purpose is being drawn by the committee, assisted by the Federal Trade Commission. The amount of the tax and other details remain to be worked out.

Amendment of postal regulations to permit small quantities of print paper to be shipped to any part of the country at a flat rate of one cent a pound also will be recommended. The present maximum weight of seventy pounds would be retained.

Senator Walsh, Democrat, of Massachusetts, who is preparing the committee report, said he expected to complete it this week.

MILLS CUT FLOUR PRICES.

Largest Minneapolis Concerns Announce 25-Cent Reduction.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 24.—Flour made a further decline in price at the largest Minneapolis mills today, family patent being quoted at $14.75 to $15 a barrel in 98-pound cotton sacks in carload lots.

This marked a decline of 25 cents a barrel at the largest mill, where the $15 price was posted. This concern led the downward trend in prices last week, but today's $14.75 quotation was by another large mill, which last week generally maintained a slightly higher quotation than the former.

OBJECT TO CLYNES' HONORS.

Labor Delegate Criticises Him for Accepting University Degrees.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 24.—A curious point was raised at the conference at Aberdeen today of the National Union of General Workers.

One of the delegates attacked J. R. Clynes for accepting honorary degrees conferred upon him by Oxford and Cambridge Universities, and called upon him to renounce these honors as improper for a member of a democratic organization.

This attack upon Clynes was greatly resented by other delegates, and some uproar followed. Clynes had no difficulty in answering the objection and convinced the conference that labor leaders ought to welcome opportunities of going to universities and telling the labor story there.

FINDS FRANCE BUSY AT RECONSTRUCTION

Herbert S. Houston Believes Her Efforts Will Have Hearty American Backing.

PREDICTS LIBERAL CREDITS

But Says Some American Officials Have Made French Think Private Investors Indifferent.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 24.—Herbert S. Houston, of Doubleday, Page & Co., who has been in France as a member of the Organization Committee of the International Chamber of Commerce, is a firm believer in the recovery of France.

"It is marvelous," he said to the correspondent of THE NEW YORK TIMES today, "to see what France is doing. I have just traveled through 300 miles of devastation, but they were 300 miles of activity. By the side of scores of ruined sugar factories, en route through La Fère to St. Quentin and back through Laon and Rheims, the land is sown with wheat, rye and oats. All the crops are in fine condition. Every one was at work. And that has been true of every part of France from the border of Spain that I have traveled over.

"To say that France is not at work is to speak either foolishly or falsely. Her growing commerce and growing crops give the lie to the statement. Of course the million and more of her sons killed in war and buried in her soil cannot till it, nor can it be tilled by many of the three million more who were wounded. But living men, women and children are at work, giving the world an example of cheerful courage in peace, just as they gave it in war.

"In this work France needs credit for material, of course, and I believe America will help her get it. There has been much misunderstanding in France in regard to America's attitude, and that has been due to failure to keep a clear distinction between the American Government as an investor and the American people as private investors. But the French are not to blame for this, because some of our officials, in loose and ill-considered remarks, are chiefly responsible for it.

American Business Sympathetic.

"The impression has been widely spread here that as far as we were concerned France had been cut adrift and could make port or go down, as fate might decree. Nothing could be further from the truth. Past President Fahey, of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, stated the fact last week when he told the Paris Chamber of Commerce that business America, as organized in thousands of Chambers of Commerce, was solidly behind France, prepared to help her with financing and in every other way in her great task of reconstruction. But this help will be private and not governmental.

"America has learned much of foreign finance and exchange in recent months. The trade balance of last year of $4,000,000,000 in our favor is not an unmixed blessing. It throws the whole economic world out of balance. It is being driven at last into our consciousness that we are part of the economic world. That knowledge is the beginning of at least this much wisdom: financing Europe's needs is financing our own foreign trade. We are getting a grip on that basic fact. The result is already apparent. Manufacturers are giving longer credits than ever to their foreign customers. Now they are asking bankers how collective credits can be established that can adequately meet the situation.

"The American Bankers' Association has a strong committee, under the chairmanship of John McHugh of New York, working on the problem. Just before sailing Mr. McHugh told me that effective progress was being made toward a solution. That is likely to take the form of what is called in Europe an investment trust, with bankers all over the United States as stockholders and as distributers of the foreign securities the trust will buy. It may either resell these securities to private investors or issue its own debentures against them and sell these. And today there are 14,00,000 private investors in America, while we had but 400,000 when we entered the war.

"Some one asked me if these investors would be likely to buy such an international bond for the repayment of the indemnity to France, as was discussed at and since the conference, and I replied at once that in my judgment they would, especially if European investors showed their own faith in these securities by buying a fair amount of them. If America frees Europe to be repaid for her property losses. These are not matters of punitive indemnity—that is not discussed—nor of her costs of war—that is no longer considered. They are matters simply of manifest justice. But they should be paid quickly. The population is returning to the devastated regions. Already it is two-thirds of the pre-war population. It is showing its faith by its works. Let any one go and see. But it must have money immediately, so that it can 'carry on.' If I know my country, she will not fail to do her full part.

Says Germany Must Disarm.

"But, as France says with practical iteration, 'it must never happen again.' Twenty Frenchmen have asked me why Germany should not provide without further delay the great guarantee against its repetition—disarmament. And the only answer that any one who believes that right triumphed in the war can give to that question is that Germany should provide that fundamental guarantee at once. That guarantee is the only condition on which the Allies can permit the restoration of Germany's economic power, however many Keynes may try to prove the contrary. France knows this in her heart, and if England and America do not know it in the same way they must turn their heads squarely on this basic question of a peace settlement without an hour's delay."

DECLARE CZAR IS ALIVE.

He and Family Escaped to Japan, Nobles and Officers Say.

GENEVA, May 24.—The Gazette de Lausanne this morning publishes three columns concerning statements of Russian nobles and officers recently returned to Europe, who declare that the former Russian Czar and his family are still living, having escaped disguised by way of Vladivostok to Japan, where they are now living peaceably. Their existence is being hidden for political reasons, the returned Russians say.

One curious fact is recalled by the newspaper, which says it has been revealed that out of the ten thousand inhabitants of Ekaterinburg not one saw the murder or burial of the royal family, while even the Bolshevist accounts of the incident lack confirmation. General Dogoskowski and Engineer Natinof, who were both at Ekaterinburg during the imprisonment of the former Czar and his family, confirm other Russians' reports of their escape.

Prices realized on Swift & Company sales of carcass beef in New York City for week ending Saturday, May 22, on shipments sold out, ranged from 14.00 cents to 20.50 cents per pound and averaged 17.88 cents per pound.—Advt.

Hungary's Neighbors Take Precautions Against Her Disregard of Treaty Terms

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Jugoslavia has notified the State Department of her intention to concentrate troops on the Jugoslav-Hungarian border should Hungary show any disposition not to respect the terms of the Hungarian treaty as laid down by the Supreme Council.

Measures of precaution to guarantee observance of the treaty also are understood to have been taken by Czechoslovakia and Rumania.

The spread of Bolshevism on the borders and the disregard of the demobilization clauses of the armistice in Hungary have brought full accord among the Governments of Jugoslavia, Rumania and Czechoslovakia as to the necessity for prompt action in the face of the first untoward expressions of Hungarian intentions to flout the will of the Allies.

TANGO IS APPROVED BY ARCHBISHOP

Cardinal Amette Pronounces It Innocent as Taught by Paris Masters.

EXUBERANCE TONED DOWN

International Congress of Instructors Imposes Rules to Moderate Jazz Fantasies.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 23. — Cardinal Amette, Archbishop of Paris, has been asked to adjudicate the case of the tango as taught by Paris dancing masters, and has proclaimed it fit to be taught, even in convent schools. So ends a long controversy, the dancing masters say, in a victory for their art against the excesses of the uninstructed. The tango as taught in Paris is now above reproach and has received, as well as that of the Archbishop, the seal and approval of the International Conference of Dancing Masters that has been meeting here during the last two days.

No other international discussion that has ever taken place has been more serious than this. In dinner coats and evening frocks, in the middle of a hot afternoon, the greatest professors of ballroom art have been discussing and demonstrating their steps with never a smile. The matter is too serious for that, for they realise that dancing stands at the parting of the ways.

The danger which besets it here is laid at the door of America, for the most part. In Europe ballroom dancing, at least, was a decorous business till the doughboys came and taught their partners steps that raised the ire of Archbishops and dancing masters alike. Now in many cases what was bad before has been made infinitely worse, and the feeling of reaction is strong. The dancing masters are out to save what is good in the new style, and in the name of art to condemn what is bad. That is what they have been discussing during the past two days.

They have laid down certain rules for the control of the feet and body in the tango and fox trot, and on the other side have sanctioned some fantasies which were submitted. Unfortunately, no American representative has been able to attend the sessions, but American dancing found in a Scotchman, D. G. MacLellan, a defender against the most violent attacks made upon it. For some European masters wished to improve the fox trot, two-step, one-step and all other dances which have crossed the Atlantic in the last seven years outu of all recognition, and to make the Paris rules the only standard. The result of the discussion, however, was that only the basic steps were standardised, and suggestions, instead of rules, made for the limitation of fantasies.

Besides this question of the moderation of the more exotic movements, new dances have been discussed. The three that received the greatest approval were the Tchega, invented by Mme. Lefort, President of the congress; the Seduction, a spadies of Boston, proposed by Professor Weyne of The Hague, and the Twentieth Century berceuse of Professor Grandmontagne, which is a curious mixture of waltz and maxixe, with additional steps invented by the professor himself.

All these dances are less violent and, it is asserted, more graceful than those of recent years; but no one at the conference would hazard a guess as to whether they would oust jass across the Atlantic, whatever they might do on this side.

Mr. MacLennan, who used before the war to visit America every Summer to teach and learn, proposes to go to New York again next month to submit them and bring back Europe what new dances America has to show.

ROAD WOULD REDUCE FARES.

Long Island Company Planning to Ask for Increase Later.

The Long Island Railroad Company filed an application yesterday with the Public Service Commission asking permission to reduce rates so that the fare per mile would not exceed three cents, the limit fixed by statute. When the Federal Administration took over the railroads and increased the rates 10 per cent. the maximum charge in some instances was more than the statutory rate.

It was explained that the company desired to apply to the Interstate Commerce Commission for a general increase in rates, and that this could not be done until they had been reduced so as not to exceed three cents a mile. It was said the company would ask for a larger fare on Sept. 1, when the Federal Railroad Administration relinquishes jurisdiction over rates.

Jewish Relief Men in Moscow.

MOSCOW, May 23.—Max Pine and Harry Kagan, representatives of the Joint Distribution Committee for all Jewish Relief Funds, both Americans, are now in Moscow engaged in work preparatory to taking up relief of the Jews and investigating the reported pogroms in the Ukraine. Judge Harry M. Fisher, of Chicago, Chairman of the committee, arrived here from Reval today.

NITTI PROFESSES UNITY WITH ALLIES

Repudiates Charges That Italy Is Taking Her Own Line in the East.

DENIES DEAL WITH RUSSIA

He Hopes to Obtain Raw Materials from There, but Not by Improper Negotiations.

By WALTER DURANTY.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 24.—Premier Nitti has come back smiling into the political ring after the knockdown blow of his Government's recent defeat in the Italian Chamber. Undeterred by prophecies that his new Ministry will have but a short lease of life, he vigorously repudiated in an interview with the Rome correspondent of the Matin the suggestion that Italy was pursuing an unfairly selfish policy in regard to Russia and Turkey and declared that his country was aiming solely at the reconstruction of Europe in full agreement with its allies.

The correspondent began by saying that it had been stated that Italy was trying to make a deal with the Bolsheviki so as to get from them raw material, especially wheat, coal and iron, for which at present, owing to the depreciation of Italian money, she is forced to pay heavy tribute to America, England and France respectively.

Signor Nitti replied:

"I am surprised that such absurdities can find credence. To begin with, I consider the ideas of the internationalist labor unions on the subject of raw materials simply ridiculous. But that doesn't alter the fact that my country perhaps more than any other has need of raw materials.

"I naturally endeavor to procure them where I can and on the most favorable terms. But I must continue to buy wheat at a high price from America, even though I may hope that one day Russia will be able to supply it more cheaply, not only to Italy, but to all Europe, for which it is a vital necessity.

"Similarly with regard to English coal, which I want to replace as far as possible by our own electric power, and to iron and the other raw materials that Italy needs. Commercial contentes and treaties are all very well for manufactured goods, but every country will naturally desire to have full liberty to obtain raw materials in the market that suits it best. There is no harm in that, and the reproaches addressed to me on the subject in certain quarters denote the persistence of that evil old war spirit, which we should endeavor to eradicate if we really want to get on with the reconstruction of Europe.

"You say, too, that I have been charged with trying to play a lone hand in the East by following a policy of expansion independently of the Allies. Nothing is more false. The facts speak for themselves.

"My Eastern policy—recent agreements prove what I say—is not different from that of the Allies. But I have said, and I repeat it, that we should do our utmost to avoid disturbing and irritating Islam. We must act prudently in our relations with people who are likely to misunderstand us and, above all, take care not to provoke a conflagration that would spread rapidly and be very difficult to extinguish.

"But I insist that Italy had no special aims in regard to the East and is acting loyally and frankly toward her allies. Any one who attributes to me separative ideas and policy, as they have done freely in France, is on the wrong track. It is not I who lead my country, but the country is leading me along the path it has chosen and intends to follow, the path toward the reconstruction of Europe, of which we form a part in full agreement with our allies of yesterday, as with those of tomorrow."

NITTI COMPLETES CABINET.

Said to be Ready to Push Italy's Peace Claims Energetically.

ROME, May 24.—Signor Abbiatel, Minister of Industry, has been transferred to the new Ministry of Labor. Signor Ruini, Minister of Colonies, has taken the Ministry of Industry, while Deputy Luigi Rossi has assumed the Colonial post. Deputy Lopiano has become Under Secretary of Labor, which now completes the new Cabinet of Signor Nitti, placing it in a position where it can discuss the international situation, particularly with regard to the decisions reached at the recent meeting at Hythe, England, between Premiers Lloyd George and Millerand.

It is said in high official circles that Italy desires again to remind her allies of her enormous sacrifices during the war and again to offer the suggestion that she has not been sufficiently compensated for these sacrifices, the territory annexed by her not being comparable with the rich provinces annexed by France nor with the German Colonial Empire divided between the other Allies. It is said that Italy does not consider the decisions arrived at by the Hythe Conference as definite, but only preliminary to the negotiations which are to be conducted at Spa, between the Supreme Council and the German leaders.

Concerning the Adriatic problem, the Cabinet must decide with regard to a resumption of direct negotiations with the Jugoslavs. The Corriere d'Italia asserts that Foreign Minister Scialoia and ex-Premier Facchich and M. Trumbitch of Jugoslavia will decide this week on the question of a resumption of the conferences. The Epoca, however, says the negotiations will be delayed, as the new Government desires to have a vote of confidence from Parliament.

RESOLUTE'S BROKEN MAST

GREEK KING VISITS MORGANATIC WIFE

MAY TAKE HER TO ATHENS

Parliament Will Act Soon on King's Request That She Be Made Queen of Greece.

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 24.—King Alexander of Greece has come to Paris to see his morganatic wife, Mlle. Manos, who lives in a Paris hotel near the Arc de Triomphe, having been driven from Greece by gossiping tongues. When the Greek Parliament meets again King Alexander will ask it to make Mlle. Manos the Queen of Greece and give her unquestioned right to preside in the Royal Palace of Athens.

King Alexander married Mlle. Manos last November.

When Alexander was a little boy the head of the royal stables was Colonel Manos, who had a beautiful little daughter. She and the youthful Prince became fast friends. When Alexander's grandfather died and Constantine came to the throne both the daughter of Colonel Manos and Alexander were in full youth and their friendship and close association were known to all Athens. But no one was then grievously disturbed that Prince Alexander had a sweetheart who was not of royal blood, for his elder brother George was the apparent heir to the throne.

Then the war brought many changes and King Constantine and his heir found it convenient to remove their place of abode from Athens to Switzerland and Alexander became King. He then faced the problem of whether he should give up his sweetheart and childhood friend. He decided in the negative and evidently took the stand that a girl of old Greek family has as much right to be Queen of her country as some Princess who knew not Greece and who probably would not come to like it.

King Alexander used to take Mlle. Manos for almost daily rides in the suburbs of the capital, and one day last November he proposed that they be married. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride by the Archmandrite of Athens and Alexander took his bride home to the palace.

Metropolite Withholds Assent.

Tongues began to wag. There was a veritable storm of talk, and despite announcements of the King that he had been lawfully married by the Archmandrite the criticism kept up and increased when the Metropolite of Athens, who outranks the Archmandrite and whose approval was needed to make the marriage civilly binding, appeared in no hurry to take action.

While King Alexander maintained to every one his right to marry whom he pleased and to install her in his palace, his wife became so tired and angered at the gossip that two months ago, with her mother and little sister, she came to live in Paris.

King Alexander, behind in Athens, became disconsolate. He had no member of his family in Greece and his morganatic marriage estranged many of his former associates. Fifteen days ago he informed Premier Venizelos that he desired to come to Paris to see his wife. It is said that the Premier nodded his gray head in assent, and that the King set about his preparations for the journey. It was merely announced that he was coming to Paris on a personal visit incognito.

Stays at Wife's Hotel.

He reached the Gare Lyon on Friday and was taken at once to the Majestic Hotel, where he met Mlle. Manos. Yesterday they spent the afternoon in long walks in the woods of Versailles and yesterday evening dined with friends. They are shopping together today, and were seen in a carriage in the Rue de la Paix. She was wearing a tan suit with a black hat, and he was in civilian clothes with a straw hat.

It is not announced how long he will stay, but it is understood his wife will not return with him just yet.

Under the Greek Constitution Greek Princes cannot have voluntarily morganatic marriages, as, for instance, German Princes and Russian Grand Dukes could. Parliamentary action is necessary to say whether Mlle. Manos becomes the Queen of Greece or remains the official consort of the King. He has the right to marry another in that case. But those who know him say the democratic King believes he has a right to pick his Queen, and it is rumored that Venizelos will ask Parliament to "vote right." What the Premier will be able to do with the stubborn Metropolite remains to be seen.

REFINERS ADVANCE SUGAR PRICE A CENT

Now 22½ Cents Wholesale—Third Increase Within a Week.

The price of sugar went to 22½ cents wholesale yesterday when the American Sugar Refining Company announced an advance of one cent a pound, the third boost in seven days. This, it was said, made the legitimate retail price to the housewife about 26 cents a pound.

"The necessity for this advance," stated the brief announcement of the refiners, "arises by reason of the increasing cost to the company of raw sugar."

Officials could not be reached last night for an amplification of this reason.

In announcing the Government's plan to seek "a fair distribution of the sugar supply," Armin W. Riley, representing Attorney General Palmer, disclosed that the three sugar men who are to begin informal meetings today were Arthur H. Lamborn, of Lamborn & Co.; E. L. Lueder, of Minford, Lueder & Co., and Manuel Rionda, of Czarnikow-Rionda Co. Mr. Riley said the refiners also had appointed a committee, and that an effort was being made to have national candy manufacturers represented.

The Government representative disclosed that an expert from Washington had been in his office for about two weeks compiling from official records data concerning the 1920 shipments of sugar to this country. This will show in detail who bought sugar, how much and what was paid for it. In addition, refineries, brokers and others handling sugar have been asked to furnish data showing their sugar sales, &c. Mr. Riley said the information would not only furnish a basis for his proposed system of distribution, but would also place him in possession of data concerning profiteering. He said that prosecution of those considered to be profiteering would be "continued."

Mikado's Collapse Severe, Honolulu Paper Hears

HONOLULU, T. H., May 24.—Emperor Yoshihito of Japan suffered a physical and mental collapse about April 1, according to the Honolulu Pacific Commercial Advertiser, quoting a source unofficial, but considered authentic. The advices said the Emperor was suffering from locomotor ataxia or a similar disease.

Plans for establishing a regency have been discarded, the Advertiser's informant said, because it would reveal the real condition of his health.

A Tokio cable to the Nippu Jiji, a Japanese vernacular newspaper in Honolulu, on April 1, reported the Emperor was ill at his Winter villa in Hayama, near Yokohama.

MILLION CLUB GETS PRICE WAR STARTED

THRIFT PLEDGES ARE SIGNED

Permanent Organization to be Established and Big Demonstration Held on July 4.

With no money, no organization and only a handful of inexperienced volunteers, the One Million Club gathered 730 members on the first day of its existence as a rallying point for the offensive against high prices and profiteering, according to Charles Baumgarten of 318 East Sixty-ninth Street, who started it.

Mr. Baumgarten said publication of his plan to get a million recruits to pledge themselves to a campaign of self-denial, thrift and active warfare against gougers brought a most gratifying response, particularly in the direction of volunteer workers. Dozens offered to give their spare time to the cause, he said, and it appeared that quite a corps of unpaid workers would be about the streets today spreading the club's economy pledges. These pledges were distributed by three volunteers at Brooklyn Bridge and other foci of travel yesterday and the workers reported that men and women seemed eager to get them.

Because the club has no dues and no organization or administration funds, Mr. Baumgarten hoped that those who want to help along should clip from their newspapers the heading of the pledge, paste it on a sheet of blank white paper ruled for names and addresses and mail it to headquarters as soon as it is filled. Additional pledges, he pointed out, easily could be made by typewriting or writing the heading on more blank sheets. The pledge follows:

Recruiting Blank.

THE ONE MILLION CLUB.

The undersigned enlist to co-operate in the movement of the One Million Club.

To make further profiteering impossible.

To end the existing riotous extravagance and Return to sanity

by pledging themselves to unite in a concerted action tending toward the peaceful, lawful and orderly accomplishment of this purpose.

Mr. Baumgarten said he was urged to start a similar organization in Brooklyn, but he felt that Brooklyn residents should assume the burden of the work themselves.

While a tentative program for the club's activities has been drawn, culminating in a big demonstration on July 4, it is probable that as soon as a large number of members are enrolled and the movement appears firmly established there will be formed a permanent organization. Then the officers chosen will map out a definite campaign, designed to force down the cost of necessities and to induce the public to refrain from buying for more than fair prices.

VEGETABLE PRICES BEGIN TO DROP HERE

Price lowering began in the local market yesterday when nearly every variety of fruit and vegetable reached the lowest level in several months, according to Dr. E. H. Porter, State Commissioner of Foods and Markets. He also reported a drop in live stock of 1 cent a pound.

The drop in prices, Dr. Porter said, was not due to concerted action by the dealers, but to big receipts of food from California, the South, and in some cases from outside the country.

"There is no reason," said Dr. Porter, "why the consumer in the metropolitan area should not be able to get green produce cheaper than he has for a long time, that is, while the present condition in the wholesale market continues. I think this condition may be regarded as a forerunner of lower food prices continuing for the next few months."

Dr. Porter suggested that the housewife compare her dealer's prices with yesterday's market quotations. He cited these as guides: California lettuce, 5 to 18 cents a head; celery, 3 to 7 cents a stalk; cauliflower, 15 to 30 cents a head; beans, string or wax, 5 to 10 cents a quart; beets, 4 to 10 cents a bunch; cucumbers, 1 to 4 cents each; onions, white or yellow, 3 to 5 cents a pound; peas, 12 to 18 cents a quart; red tip radishes, 1½ to 2½ cents a bunch; potatoes, new, best, 8½ to 12 cents a pound; potatoes, old, domestic, 5½ to 7½ cents a pound, and potatoes, old, foreign, 5 to 5½ cents a pound.

"Coming into the market today," continued Dr. Porter, "were 60 carloads of cucumbers, 50 carloads of onions, 30 carloads of cabbages, 125 carloads of potatoes, 18 carloads of string beans, 11 carloads of peas, 11 carloads of ripe tomatoes, 90 carloads of oranges, 30 of grapefruit, 12 of strawberries, and, altogether, about 500 carloads of fruit and vegetables constituted the remainder of today's arrivals. In some commodities the market is glutted to the point where dealers are glad to dispose of goods at any price they can get.

More than 200 farmers with produce from Long Island and New Jersey were selling at the markets today. About 100 truckloads of green produce were brought by ferry from New Jersey freight terminals. In addition to all this domestic grown produce there were large receipts by boat from Bermuda and Europe—75,000 boxes of lemons arrived from Messina, Italy; 4,322 barrels of new potatoes, and 14,227 crates of onions came in from Bermuda. Another steamship with the same quantity of food is expected from Bermuda the latter part of this week. From Denmark there were 35,000 sacks of potatoes, each 165 pounds to the sack, which added to the 47,000 sacks received last week, increased the supply considerably."

NON-BUYING WAVE HITS TEXTILE TRADE

TO ENFORCE CONTRACTS

Effect of Old Clothes Campaign —Retailers Trying to Shift Loss, Says Official.

SILK MEN OPEN A BUREAU

Woolen Manufacturers Also Plan to Compel Acceptance of Goods Ordered by Merchants.

The effectiveness of the "wear your old clothes" campaign in reducing consumption, if not in an immediate reduction of prices, was reflected yesterday by the action of the Directors of the Converters' Association, composed of 114 of the leading wholesale cotton textile firms of this city, in taking steps to prevent further cancellation of contracts, a practice that was said to be increasing because of the failure of the public to purchase from the retailers in as large amounts as expected.

At a meeting at the headquarters of the association, 35 Nassau Street, resolutions were adopted urging members to refuse cancellations of orders for merchandise and to appeal to the courts, if necessary, for the enforcement of contracts made by purchasers. A similar situation exists in other lines of the textile trade, and the Silk Association of America and the American Association of Woolen and Worsted Manufacturers have each attempted to meet it by the establishment of a Bureau of Contracts for the purpose of preventing cancellations.

To Insist on Acceptance.

The resolutions adopted by the Converters' Association follow:

Whereas, The Converters' Association was organized for the mutual protection of its members and their customers, and,

Whereas, Many members have suffered loss from cancellations of legally enforceable orders by their customers, and,

Whereas, This practice of cancellation is legally and ethically indefensible because it assumes that the order may, at the customer's option, be enforced against the member, and that the member may, at the customer's option, be denied the right to enforce the order against the customer, and,

Whereas, It is the sense of this association that all reasonable and lawful steps should be taken to discourage and prevent this indefensible practice, now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the members of this association when within the rights of their contracts, refuse cancellations and insist upon acceptance of merchandise tendered for delivery, and that the members affected take action individually and through this association to protect their interests to the full extent of the law.

Samuel M. Fischer, secretary of the Converters' Association, said last night that the steadily increasing number of cancellations was undoubtedly brought about by the "non-buying spirit" of the public. "The public is responsible in the first instance for failure to buy," he said. "The retailer tries to avoid loss by passing it to the jobber by cancelling his order for merchandise; the jobber tries to pass it to the converter and manufacturer."

Effect of Old Clothes Campaign.

"This condition is undoubtedly the effect of the 'wear your old clothes' campaign. It is only temporary, but it has stagnated the market. The jobbers always insist upon the performance of a contract by the converters if the merchandise there will be formed a permanent organization. Then the officers chosen will map out a definite campaign, designed to force down the cost of necessities and to induce the public to refrain from buying for more than fair prices.

VEGETABLE PRICES BEGIN TO DROP HERE

Price lowering began in the local market yesterday when nearly every variety of fruit and vegetable reached the lowest level in several months, according to Dr. E. H. Porter, State Commissioner of Foods and Markets. He also reported a drop in live stock of 1 cent a pound.

The drop in prices, Dr. Porter said, was not due to concerted action by the dealers, but to big receipts of food from California, the South, and in some cases from outside the country.

"There is no reason," said Dr. Porter, "why the consumer in the metropolitan area should not be able to get green produce cheaper than he has for a long time, that is, while the present condition in the wholesale market continues. I think this condition may be regarded as a forerunner of lower food prices continuing for the next few months."

Dr. Porter suggested that the housewife compare her dealer's prices with yesterday's market quotations. He cited these as guides: California lettuce, 5 to 18 cents a head; celery, 3 to 7 cents a stalk; cauliflower, 15 to 30 cents a head; beans, string or wax, 5 to 10 cents a quart; beets, 4 to 10 cents a bunch; cucumbers, 1 to 4 cents each; onions, white or yellow, 3 to 5 cents a pound; peas, 12 to 18 cents a quart; red tip radishes, 1½ to 2½ cents a bunch;

Stocks Recede with Buying Light—Liberty Bonds Firm and Grain Strong.

The major markets yesterday were directed by influences peculiar to each one separately, last week's movement in liquidation not being present everywhere. While stocks were depressed, falling sharply during the second hour, grain and provision quotations rallied strongly to the accompaniment of rather meagre offerings. Cotton was firm for a time but eased off before noon and was irregular afterward. Liberty bonds disclosed more firmness than heaviness, several issues getting to points higher than last week's maximum. Credit as represented by fixed-period loans and commercial paper discounts continued as stiff as before, but at the same time Wall Street's light demand for collateral call loans was evidenced in a steady 6 per cent. rate, the first time demand loans had renewed at this figure since April 12.

The day's developments were in keeping with current uncertainties. What was evident more than anything else in stocks was the absence of demand, which permitted short sellers to attack prices with impunity for a time and brought recessions reaching from 2 to more than 3 points. The later recovery that reduced losses about half appeared to result from a moderate covering of the morning's short sales, and a turnover greatly reduced from last Friday's total indicated that public participation was slight. The situation was somewhat different in the grain market, Chicago dispatches telling of purchases on a broad scale which contained a substantial flow of short covering but was governed to a degree, also, by buying for long account based on the belief that deliveries of farm and elevator products at primary centres would be light until more improvement occurred in the box car situation. That a continuance of Friday's and Saturday's resilience of Liberty bonds could be expected yesterday was denoted in the Federal Reserve system's weekly statement which showed a material reduction of loans on Government war paper. Because of the place of great prominence which the war bonds and notes occupy in the general credit situation, the immediate future of the market is obscure. Undoubtedly, last week's liquidation helped to release a considerable amount of bank credit and the process carried quotations to levels where new investments were stimulated, but it is impossible yet to see whether further liquidation will not appear on a broad scale. Despite heavy reductions of rediscounts, in the neighborhood of $50,000,000 throughout the entire Reserve system, the country's loan account was still top heavy.

While borrowing fell at Eastern centres in a satisfactory fashion at Middle Western Reserve Banks there appeared to be a switching from Government bond to commercial paper rediscounts, resulting in a rather small net improvement. The gain of only one-half of one per cent. in the combined reserve ratio left much to be accomplished before credit strain may be considered appreciably less.

The day's feature of the foreign exchanges lay in advances of rates on Germany, Czechoslovakia, Rumania and others of the Central European countries. These gains were, of course, to be measured in fractions of cents per unit of foreign money, yet they represented a reawakening of business in exchanges which had appeared almost hopeless as medii for the conduct of trade. An explanation is that bankers and exporters of the impoverished nations are looking for constructive developments from pending conferences between leaders of the allied countries centring about the German indemnity and probable plans to enhance international trade. Sterling, francs and lire were also strong during the greater part of the day, turning somewhat reactionary before the close of business.

RECEIVERSHIP PLEA DENIED.

Judge Mack Rejects Application of 1,400 New Haven Stockholders.

Federal Judge Mack denied yesterday the application of 1,400 minority stockholders of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company for a limited receiver to press a restitution suit for $150,000,000 against William Rockefeller and other former Directors and officers of the company. He granted that part of the application which asked permission to intervene in the action instituted by Edwin Adams and others, but stipulated that not more than five of the 1,400 should appear in the action and that the plaintiffs should themselves defray the costs of the proceeding.

A previous appeal for a limited receiver, with access to all of the company's books and records and the power of examining witnesses, was denied by Judge Manton.

Reduction in Coal, Iron and Other Ore Tonnage Explained by President F. D. Underwood.

The corporate income account of the Erie Railroad Company, as contained in the pamphlet report for 1919, shows considerable improvement over 1918. Compensation from the Government for the use of the property was $18,841,263, compared with $15,729,068 in the preceding year, and gross income was $20,-411,261, compared with $21,046,819. Deductions from gross amounted to $14,-284,156, compared with $20,983,966 in 1918, and the net income was $6,127,105, compared with $62,853. After $1,005,000 was applied to sinking funds, there was a surplus of $5,122,104 at the close of last year.

The United States Railroad Administration's report of operations during the year showed gross operating revenue amounting to $102,198,906, compared with $98,895,284 in 1918, while operating expenses, taxes and other charges were set down at $100,308,819, leaving operating income of $1,890,086, compared with a deficit in the preceding year of $1,-177,089.

The condensed balance sheet of the company, as of Dec. 31, 1919, shows investment in road equipment as $307,-998,583, and the cash item about the same. Unpaid compensation due from the Government at the close of the year totaled $2,795,831, compared with $4,-729,068 at the end of the preceding year. Profit and loss balance at the close of 1919 was $37,254,674, compared with $33,780,838 at tee end of 1918.

In his remarks to shareholders Frederick D. Underwood, President, said, in part:

"The decrease of 32.39 per cent. in bituminous coal tonnage handled during the year is principally explained by decreased demand for war industries and the strike in the bituminous coal industry in November and December, 1919. The decrease of 37.43 per cent. in iron and other ore tonnages is principally explained by reduction in demand for these commodities upon cessation of the war.

"The valuation of the property of your company referred to in last year's report, is in progress. The field inventory is 90 per cent. complete, with the exception of land values. The Government has deferred the field work, as concerns land, until the Summer season of 1920. The cost of valuation as of the end of the year was $473,720,85, of which $110,370,52, representing expenditures to Dec. 31, 1917, has been charged to the expenses of your company, the remainder of $363,350,11 having been assumed by the United States Railroad Administration during the years 1918 and 1919.

"Of the total operating expenses of the Federal Administration, $60,375,-695,82, or 62.58 per cent., was paid to labor, as compared with $62,537,075,34 paid in 1918, a decrease of $2,181,379,52, or 3.40 per cent. The average number of employes was 44,972, as compared with 47,676 in 1918, a decrease of 5.67 per cent."

FRANCE NEEDS 500,000 IMPORTED LABORERS

Paris Discusses the Employment of Germans in the Devastated Regions.

PARIS, May 24.—From 400,000 to 500,-000 imported laborers are needed urgently in France for the devastated regions, according to the newly created Superior Council of Materials and Labor appointed by Jean Ogier, Minister of the Liberated Regions. It is calculated that France's pre-war force of 1,100,000 builders has been reduced by heavy war casualties and application of the eight-hour law to the equivalent of about 650,000, which is inadequate.

The new commission, which has been functioning unofficially for several weeks, has drawn up a program to speed work. Reclaimed materials from wreckage will be utilized first, and then material capable of being manufactured on the spot where it is needed, before bring in products of other regions or importing them.

The departure of more than 200,000 Germans and the return home of some Chinese contract laborers have made the shortage of workers more acute. The recent arrival of thousands of Polish laborers brought small relief, and it is considered probable that some arrangement will be effected soon by which Germany will send unemployed men to France.

$1,807,070 in Fruit Profits.

The Atlantic Fruit Company for last year reports net profits after charges and taxes of $1,807,070. This was equivalent to $4.57 a share on the 395,000 shares of capital stock of no par value.

PLAN TO REORGANIZE REMINGTON ARMS

New Delaware Corporation First Step in Putting Old Company on a Peace Basis.

TO EXTEND THE BUSINESS

Will Follow Example of Winchester Company in Manufacturing Other Than Munitions.

The incorporation of the Remington Arms Company under the laws of Delaware, with a capital of $110,000,000, is understood to be a step taken in bringing about a reorganization of the Remington Arms-Union Metallic Cartridge Company of Bridgeport, a Connecticut corporation. The present outstanding capital of the latter company is $20,-000,000 preferred and $40,000,000 common stock, and it was stated yesterday that some plan of exchange for the old stock into the new would be announced within a short time. The capital of the new company, it is understood, will be divided on the basis of $10,000,000 preferred and $100,000,000 common, of no par values.

Since the close of the war the Remington Arms-Union Metallic Cartridge Company has sold a large part of its war plants in Bridgeport and vicinity. It is stated that the present move of incorporating a new company is undertaken with the idea of establishing the old company on a peace footing.

To this end the plans call for an extension of the business of the company from that of manufacturing arms and munitions to other lines. A definite statement of just what new business would be added could not be obtained yesterday, but it was stated that the manufacture of cutlery might be engaged in on a large scale. The manufacture of rifles and ammunition will continue. In entering new fields the Remington Company will be following the example of the Winchester Repeating Arms Company, which not long ago announced that it would manufacture numerous articles entirely out of the realm of munitions.

It is believed that the Remington Arms Company may, if the plan goes through, take over other companies now manufacturing articles other than guns and cartridges. It was said that an official announcement might be made by the end of the week.

CARGO OF EXHIBITS TO BOOST U. S. TRADE

NEW CORPORATION FORMED

Shipping Board to Allocate Vessel to Visit South American and Oriental Ports.

American manufacturers and exporters are going to reach out for a greater share of the world's trade. The First American Foreign Trade Floating Exposition, Inc., has been formed, and in October will send out a steamship with exhibits of American goods which will touch at most of the principal ports of South America and the Orient. The project has the indorsement of the American Manufacturers' Export Association and other organizations interested in the development of America's foreign trade.

The United States Shipping Board, according to an announcement issued from the Manufacturers' Export Association yesterday, has signified its willingness to provide the vessel, on which more than 300 manufacturers and exporters are expected to exhibit their products. The new corporation expects to announce its arrangements with the Shipping Board and also a complete list of exhibitors within the next two weeks. The vessel will be allocated when it is ascertained what amount of cargo will be carried. The company opened headquarters yesterday at 50 Broad Street.

The need for a floating exposition of American goods is said to have been emphasized by the fact that both England and Japan have adopted this method of competing for foreign trade. In discussing the possibilities of the undertaking W. P. Brawley, manager of the corporation, said:

"The World War has upset all previous trade customs. New fields are opening up. The foreign buyer was forced to come to us for some things during the war. We gave him what we had, not what he needed. The war is over now, and unless we give him what he wants others will do so. By no other method than personal contact and by giving him the satisfaction of seeing our products can we completely satisfy him. When this is once done, the trade is ours as long as we merit it. American prices may be a trifle higher, but American products are vastly superior. He will be able to see that, and explanation of price difference is not difficult then. He knows us and we know him. That knowledge is tantamount to lasting friendship. Foreign trade depends upon ability. The demand for a floating exposition to develop our foreign trade is now."

The itinerary of the floating exposition will include Pernambuco and Rio de Janeiro, Brazil; Montevideo, Uruguay; Buenos Aires, Argentina; through the Strait of Magellan to Valparaiso and Antofagasta, Chile; Callao, Peru; Wellington, New Zealand; Sydney, Australia; Straits Settlements; Manila; Hongkong and Shanghai, China; Nagasaki, Osaka and Yokohama, Japan; Seattle and San Francisco; Masatlan, Mexico; San José, Guatemala; Nicaragua, Punta Arenas, Costa Rica, and Balboa, Colon.

The objects of the floating exposition are not only to acquaint foreign buyers with American-made goods under conditions that are most favorable and effective, but to acquaint American manufacturers with the needs and demands of the foreign buyers.

DECLARES RATE RISE WON'T BOOST PRICES

STRAUSS WARNS OF CRISIS

Billion Dollars Sought Does Not Cover Wage Increases, Elliott Says Cattlemen Oppose Advance.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Belief that advances in freight rates to provide the more than a billion dollars additional revenue asked by the nation's railroads would not increase the cost of living was expressed by spokesmen for the carriers in opening their case today before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

"Nothing that I know of," said Daniel Willard, President of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, "would reduce the cost of living as much as the prompt and speedy transportation of goods." He added that the revenues asked as necessary to provide the 6 per cent. return guaranteed by the Government in the transportation act would enable the carriers to purchase sufficient equipment to move commodities now unable to reach a market.

Frederick Strauss of New York, also appearing for the railroads, declared that a 50 or 60 per cent. increase in freight rates would have no appreciable effect on the present movement to bring down living costs.

Questioning of Howard Elliott of the General Rate Committee of the Association of Railway Executives, who presented introductory testimony for the carriers as a whole, developed that the additional billion dollars requested is not regarded by the railroads as covering wage increase, estimated at more than a billion dollars annually, included in demands presented to the Railroad Labor Board.

Cattlemen Oppose Increase.

Opposition to any rate increases was expressed by S. H. Cowan, representing the Texas Cattle Growers' Association. Cattlemen are against any raise in rates for profits, he declared, adding that if the roads could not support themselves it was their own misfortune.

Cross-examination of the carriers' witnesses was conducted at length by representatives of the shippers. Mr. Willard in reply to questions said there now were some ten thousand more men employed by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad than before Federal control, but explained that this was mainly due to the change from piece basis work in the shops to the day system.

Asked regarding the advisability of raising passenger rates Mr. Willard declared it his personal opinion that the public would rather have the increase come on freight. G. M. Scriver, Vice President of the Baltimore & Ohio, and Samuel Rea of the Pennsylvania lines, will continue tomorrow the presentation of the arguments of the Eastern carriers.

Increases in freight rates of 30.43 per cent. in Eastern territory, 30.95 in Southern territory and 25.91 per cent. in Western territory, "to meet the difference between the 6 per cent. return on property investments permitted under the Transportation act," were advocated by Mr. Elliott.

He pointed out that in the Eastern territory, railroads for the year ended Oct. 31 returned on property investments "less than one-fifth of 1 per cent." In the Southern territory, he said, the returns were less than three-fourths of 1 per cent., and in the Western territory slightly more than 2 per cent. For the country as a whole the return was said to have been slightly more than 1 per cent.

Under the conditions of private ownership and operations of railroads, "with governmental regulation, protection and encouragement," Mr. Elliott said, "the railroads must obtain earnings enough to meet all obligations and have sufficient credit to sustain them in competition with other forms of industry into which people put their time, brains, energy and money."

Under the new Transportation act, he said, the two pressing questions now under discussion by the Interstate Commerce Commission and the newly created Labor Board were the requests for wage increases exceeding $1,000,000,000 a year and an additional $1,017,000,000 needed by the railroads to meet "the present basis of wages, costs, interest and a sum for dividends and improvements."

East Needs Better Transportation.

Mr. Elliott declared that New England and that section of the country embracing Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan were in great need of improved transportation facilities. Other sections, notably the great region south of the Ohio and east of the Mississippi, require "large additions" to keep pace with the growth of population and industry.

"Now there are congestion and difficulty everywhere," said Mr. Elliott. "Fuel, building materials and raw materials for manufacture are tied up and industry is threatened and the sluggish movement of grain and food of all kinds makes the feeding of our people more difficult and more costly."

Mr. Elliott declared that the railroad operators were "just as desirous of obtaining a fair adjustment of wages for their 2,000,000 or more men as they were of receiving the increased revenues. He said: "There is man power, brain power, courage, common sense and vision enough in the country to succeed if all will pull together, work long and hard and eliminate selfishness, waste and extravagance."

"In justification of the railroads' position he said that the price of transportation had not increased nearly so much as the cost of production. Expenses had gone up at least 100 per cent., while revenues had increased less than 40 per cent. He referred to conditions in European countries, where, he said, freight rates had been raised as follows: England, 71 per cent.; France, 140 per cent.; Belgium, 100 per cent.; Italy, 40 to 100 per cent.; Holland, 70 to 140 per cent.; Sweden, 200 per cent.; Norway, 150 per cent.

"The new Transportation act," said Mr. Elliott, "in fixing the rate of return at 5½ and 6 per cent. for a two-year period might have been sufficient in the past, but is wholly inadequate to meet the present situation. The cost of new capital in the United States today, as is well known, is in excess of 7 per cent. The Bank of England discount rate is now 7 per cent., a rate which only seven times in the history of that old institution has ever reached that level."

Willard Warns of Roads' Needs.

Revenues of the Eastern railroads must be increased by approximately $550,000,000 annually as a minimum if they are to be placed upon anything like a sound financial basis, Daniel Willard, President of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, told the commission on behalf of the Eastern group of roads.

Mr. Willard argued that the commission should consider the property investment accounts of the railroads as the basis for determining the valuations of the roads, in order to authorize rates to yield 6 per cent. He declared that even with increased rates to provide the additional revenue this country would have the lowest rates in the world.

Gross earnings of the railroads in the Eastern group for the year ended Oct. 31, 1919, were in excess of $2,575,000,000, Mr. Willard said, but it costs the roads about 88 per cent. of the gross earnings for operation, which left a net income of $220,000,000. But, he said, if the railroads had been obliged to pay during the entire year the wages and prices now in effect, they would have had a net income of only $18,000,000, or barely more than expenses on properties representing an investment of more than $9,388,000,000.

"If we may assume that the railroads ought to operate on a basis not higher than 75 per cent.," he continued, "if they ought as sound business concerns to have a net income equal to 25 per cent. of the gross earnings, to apply for capital purposes and other corporate obligations, than on the basis of last year's business and operating with the same measure of efficiency, the Eastern roads would require an increase in income, to be derived from higher rates, of about $544,000,000 and that is the amount the Eastern carriers have asked the commission to grant in the shape of increased rates.

"If the commission should grant rates so as to yield 6 per cent. upon the aggregate book property investment account, by that measure also the increase in rates would produce about $550,000,000 for the roads in the Eastern region."

In 1916 the combined property investment account of the thirty-eight principal roads in the East was about $7,000,000,000, Mr. Willard asserted, and their earnings were $448,000,000 or 6.49 per cent. However if the same roads were to do the same business today paying wages and prices now in effect, he contended they would fall short $158,000,000 of earning their actual operating expenses and taxes.

Strauss Sees Private Control in Balance.

Events of the next few months or weeks will determine whether Government ownership of railroads will come again—despite popular opposition—Frederick Strauss of New York warned the commission, contending that the main thing at present is to establish a feeling of security in the minds of investors. Mr. Strauss appeared before the commission in support of the railroads' request for increased freight rates.

"Governor guaranty would necessarily be followed by Government ownership," Mr. Strauss declared. "But the people's aversion to Government ownership is of no avail unless such policies are adopted as will preclude it.

"Whether Government ownership shall come against the will of the people, or whether a system of private ownership shall once again obtain here as it did in the days when the American transportation system was regarded as second to none in the world, will be determined by the events of the next few months or weeks."

Low nominal rates merely are of no use to the shipper, Mr. Strauss asserted, if the traffic is not moved in sufficient quantity. What the shipper needs, he argued, is the speedy movement of his goods and there are only two ways in which it can be accomplished.

One is by an increased charge for the shipment of the goods, he said, and the other is by an appropriation out of the national treasury by a levy on taxpayers to cover the deficit.

Railroads at present can offer no inducement to the investor combining safe bonds with speculative value, Mr. Strauss said. Calling attention to the meagre number of railroad stocks that sell above par Mr. Strauss pointed out that in order to have railroad stocks sell at a substantial premium the earnings of the roads must be large enough to permit the payment of dividends which will compare favorably with dividend rates on stocks of industrial and other concerns.

"The recent remedial legislation is good so far as it goes," he concluded. "The return of 6 per cent. per annum will, I believe, turn out to be wholly inadequate, as time may demonstrate, but a beginning has been made on sound lines, and as time goes on Congress will realize that the rate of return on railroad property will have to compare favorably with the returns to be had in other industries, or else Government ownership will inevitably result."

Shoe Machinery Profits, $6,518,100.

The annual report of the United Shoe Machinery Company for the year ended Feb. 29, 1920, shows net profits after Federal taxes of $6,518,100, equivalent after preferred dividends to $4.26 a share on the common. In the preceding year the company earned $4.25 a share on the common stock. The tax reserve this year was $1,500,000, or $500,000 greater than in the report for 1919. After dividends there was a surplus of $1,071,629. The total surplus now stands at $27,670,615.

Dock Company Surplus, $921,944.

The New York Dock Company for the last year reports a surplus of $921,944 after charges and taxes. This was equivalent after preferred dividends to $6.02 a share on the common stock. In the preceding year the company earned $8.35 a share. The total revenue last year was $4,519,385, or $170,000 below the 1918 figures.

Why Public Utilities?

The man who so manages his investments as to show the most profit is the man who buys in a panic and sells in a boom.

Railroad and Public Utility Bonds are today selling at the lowest levels in many decades. History has shown that after previous slumps these bonds, under the law of action and reaction, return to their former high levels. However, of the two, public utilities should recover with more certainty for the following reasons:

During any period of business readjustment the volume of gross business declines first, the cost of supplies next and the price of labor last. This may mean lower gross earnings for the railroads without proportionately lower operating costs. Not so, however, with Light and Power companies, where sliding scale contracts usually provide for a higher net despite falling gross, and where labor is a comparatively negligible factor.

To enable the investor to thoroughly satisfy himself as to the merits of his Public Utility holdings, we have prepared a pamphlet on the various technical and financial considerations incidental to public utilities. These include load factor, diversification of business, distribution of costs and other equally vital points.

SMOOT ACCUSES TRADE COMMISSION

Utah Senator Asserts Investigation of Sugar Company Is Aimed Against Him.

TO DEFEAT HIS RE-ELECTION

Reads Telegrams in Senate in Effort to Show Inquiry Had This Purpose.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Charges that a Federal Trade Commission investigation of the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company was being used in an effort to defeat him for re-election were made in the Senate today by Senator Smoot, Republican, of Utah. He said that although he had only a nominal stock interest in the company the Commission's activities were being directed against his political interests.

"No one can object to any action that can be taken to control or regulate the lawful distribution of sugar," said Senator Smoot, "but when any department of the Government undertakes to secure the defeat or election of a United States Senator through the investigation of the affairs of a sugar company it is time that such a contemptible practice be called to the attention of the Senate."

Senator Smoot read copies of telegrams alleged to have passed between W. H. Beer, attorney for the commission in the Utah-Idaho Company investigation, and George R. Sanders, of Salt Lake City, in which Mr. Beer asked Mr. Sanders for advice regarding his movements and departure from Utah. The alleged reply of Mr. Sanders advised Mr. Beer not to be "in too big a hurry to finish your case, as public sentiment is fast changing and almost entirely for Government prosecution."

"Sugar magnates anxious for you to get through," the reply continued. "Palmer should keep you on job. If you keep going for two months it will cost Smoot his Senate seat. Better kill time with Washington authority."

Months ago, Senator Smoot said, he was advised that the Trade Commission planned to investigate the Utah-Idaho concern just before the election, and that, among other causes assigned, was that it would help defeat him for election. Mr. Smoot said he owned only 440 shares of the stock of the company, paying him $22 monthly, including 76 shares from his father's estate.

The Senator read telegrams exchanged between himself and the sugar company relative to fixing sugar prices, and said all had been inspected by a Department of Justice agent and his entire course in that respect approved. Despite this, Mr. Smoot asserted, it appeared the Trade Commission investigation had become a blow at his political career.

"I am positive the honest people of this country," said Mr. Smoot, "will not approve of any such rotten politics."

THE GREAT FIRE OF 1835

AMID the flames of 1835, which virtually destroyed New York, this bank stood unscathed. Time and time again, in fire, panic and warfare, it has extended help and dependable co-operation to Nation, State, City and individuals.

On a larger scale than ever before we are extending, today, such co-operation in all matters of a banking and fiduciary nature.

FACTS ABOUT FIGURES FIGURES ABOUT FACTS

COTTON PRICES DROP AFTER EARLY RISE

Advance at Opening Wiped Out by Reaction, Due Mainly to the Credit Situation.

GINNERS' REPORT BULLISH

Fear of Progressive Rediscount Rate Expedient in South Is Bearish Influence.

The belated circulation of the National Ginners' Association crop condition report, which got into a few hands on Saturday but did not go into general circulation until yesterday, sent the cotton market up at the start and prices on the call were advanced 25 to 40 points over the closing of last week. From these levels they moved ahead slightly more and held at the higher levels for most of the forenoon. But in the afternoon there was a reaction, due mainly to fear of the credit situation and aided by Wall Street selling when stock prices became unsettled, and at the close July was down 50 points net, while the others were off 50 to 25 points, with the furthest months showing the smaller losses.

The ginners' report of condition, as of May 21, made the percentage 64, and the estimated crop 10,200,000 bales. This, of course, was bullish, for the trade and everybody else has been talking of "world requirements" this year of 15,000,000 bales of American cotton, and if the new crop were to turn out to be no more than 10,200,000 bales, virtually the whole carry-over of last year would be needed to make good on such a demand. But it may be questioned whether the crop will be so small, and also whether the world's needs will be so large. Those things have a way of turning out at variance with the May predictions.

The credit situation, on the other hand, is a bearish influence of no mean proportions, and the trade is beginning to fear it. Yesterday's reports contained the information that the Dallas Federal Reserve Bank probably will adopt the progressive rediscount rate expedient and it has been rumored in banking circles for some days that Atlanta, too, would do this. Elsewhere in the South there is a more or less strained credit situation, and the prospects are for a continuance of this for some time to come. The Southern Reserve Banks now are borrowing more than $90,000,000 from the Eastern banks, an increase of more than $20,000,000 in the last fortnight, and private banks in the South are said to be drawing on their Northern correspondents to a much greater extent.

Credit Men Are Salesmen Good or Bad

NO credit man can be a good salesman unless he knows personally credit men in other lines of business situated in other localities.

A credit man must always look to the future for the repayment of his employer's money or do a C. O. D. business, which, of course, makes a credit department a luxury.

Credit references are of no value if you have no knowledge of or confidence in the informant.

There are today thousands of prosperous business enterprises which owe their success to what the National Association of Credit Men has done during the last twenty-five years to extend the personal acquaintanceship of their credit men.

They became acquainted through the conventions and work of the National Association of Credit Men, which is to hold its Twenty-fifth (Silver Jubilee) Convention at Atlantic City, June 1st to 5th, 1920.

A person who is worthy to have charge of a Credit Department must have as broad and actual (not theoretical) acquaintance as possible with all lines of business. Such broad-visioned knowledge can be obtained through the contacts and discussions at this convention.

He will learn, for instance, why quick transportation is vital to the credit end of business. He will see more clearly how antiquated and inadequate transportation facilities tie up millions of dollars of credit, making it utterly useless to the consignor or the consignee.

It will become more apparent to such a man that the modern transportation vehicle, the motor truck, delivering the short haul load from store-door to store-door, saves time, reduces outstanding book accounts and bank loans, and minimizes claims, to say nothing about increasing the number of satisfied customers.

Credit men, if you cannot do it in any other way, give up part of your vacation and spend your own money to attend the Convention of the NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF CREDIT MEN TO BE HELD AT ATLANTIC CITY, June 1st to 5th, 1920.

Preferred Stock

With Speculative Feature

New York State Railways

Rate increases received in June, 1919, and operating economies enabled this company to earn about twice its preferred dividend for the whole year.

We believe at some near date dividends will be resumed and 10% accumulations liquidated. In this event stock can be purchased to net 13%.

The asset valuation $250 per share

Send for circular N-P 2.

It is necessary, as a rule, to assume great risk in order to make large profits. But once in a while there can be found an opportunity to use one's money where it is well secured and yet may share in substantial profits. FOR INSTANCE:

A Producing Oil Co.

The preferred stock costs $10 per share and represents assets conservatively valued at $50 per share.

Each share carries 5 shares of Common stock bonus.

It is paying 10% dividends.

Each share preferred is convertible into 20 shares Common.

This Common stock is 25% of its par value bid in the open market, showing that its value is already recognized.

The purchase of the Preferred, therefore, combines security of principal with the probability of good profits through ownership of the Common stock.

Particulars will be given on application and mention of this paper.

THE BUSINESS WORLD

COMMERCIAL PAPER.

Yesterday 7¼ per cent. for the best names Thursday 7¼ per cent. for the best names The quotations are for six months' paper.

Gray Goods Still Tottering.

Gray goods continued to totter along in the local market, both as to price and demand. Yesterday's business was confined almost entirely to printcloths, the feature being the selling of spot 39-inch 68-72s and 38½-inch 64-60s at the same price—22½ cents. This was due, it was said, to the surplus of the former in the market and the scarcity of the latter. May business was reported on 39-inch 72-76s at 24½ cents, while, for shipment through the rest of this month and next, sales of 38½-inch 60-48s were made at 20 cents.

Burlaps Still in the Dumps.

The demand for burlaps in this market yesterday was negligible. In the absence of late information, either from Calcutta or Dundee, however, neither the importers nor the buyers were especially anxious to do business. With second hands the story was different, but their dealings did them little good. Prices, of course, were nominal, but with the traffic situation as bad as it is, sellers were asking premiums for well-placed goods whenever they got an inquiry. The market was based on 9 cents for 8-ounce 40-inch burlaps, with 10½-ounce goods of the same width quoted anywhere from 13 to 13 cents, depending on location.

Found Mark-Up Lower.

During his trip through the South and Southwest the representative of a large wholesale clothing concern made it a point to investigate thoroughly the matter of retail mark-ups. He reports that "his investigation showed the mark-up being taken now is somewhat less than it was in normal years. Formerly, he said, the dealers were accustomed to take a little over fifty per cent., with fifty-five per cent. a fair average to strike. The data given him on his trip indicated that the general mark-up is now below fifty per cent. In the case of discount giving sales, he said, it would be just so much lower.

Back to Seasonal Operations.

In the present price agitation and dullness in wholesale markets, a mill man yesterday stated there was a general mistake being made in thinking that the absence of demand was of special significance at this time. "For some time," he said, "merchandise of all sorts was in demand the year round. Now that business is returning to its normal basis of seasonal activity, the different trades become panic stricken when the usual period of dullness comes around. There is some reason for an adjustment of prices, but there is no sensible one for expecting that business is going to keep active every day in seasonal industries."

Won't Press Silk Demand.

Leading factors in the silk trade are not in favor of going after Fall business strongly in the present situation. It will be a matter of from three to six weeks, it is thought, before buyers will be in a frame of mind to consider purchases for the new season. From the reports being received by the large wholesale houses, price reductions in the retail stores have had the effect of stimulating the demand for silks and it should not be long before the storekeepers will have to replenish their stocks. When this time comes, and the situation from the jobbing angle has been straightened out, it is believed that the market will find a much better tone than now exists.

Long on Staple Fabrics.

As an explanation of the cancellations that have been given on staple and plain colored goods in the woolen market, a mill representative said yesterday that the character of jobbers' orders had probably brought this development. He explained that when prices were advancing the jobber who bought goods on speculation selected staples as the best articles to buy under the circumstances. Now that price weakness has developed, the decline finds the jobbers "long" of staples. As the manufacturing clothiers wish to protect their piece goods purchases as much as possible, they are revising their orders so that quantities of staples, on which the largest declines may be expected, will be reduced.

Eliminating the Jobber.

One significant development in the dry goods markets is the step some large wholesale interests have taken to sell direct instead of through jobbers. The reason given for such action is the desire to fall in with the retailer's demand for lower prices. By eliminating the middleman, profit reductions are possible which the manufacturers contend cannot be made in any other way. The opinion is held, however, that the jobber's reluctance to operate on the present market may have something to do with this effort to sell direct. Another view advanced is that the wholesalers have a "bone to pick" with jobbers who, in the process of trimming ship, sold goods below the mill or manufacturing prices.

Fur Men Discount Well.

Yesterday was "prompt day" for the recent auction of the New York Fur Auction Sales Corporation, and executives of the organization expressed themselves as well satisfied with the way buyers discounted their bills. "prompt day" is the day following each sale which sets the limit for discounts for prompt payment, and it comes about four weeks after the auction is completed. The way in which buyers discounted yesterday disproved a good deal of the pessimistic talk which has lately been heard about the financial condition of the fur trade. Not only were most of the payments for April purchase prompt, but many of them were large. One prominent buyer, for instance, sent in two checks which together totaled in excess of $100,000.

"Domesticated" Feathers in Favor.

"Domesticated" plumage, such as burnt rhea, coque and burnt pheasant tails, is now being used by leading Parisian milliners to replace the more costly bird of paradise and, with laws on the subject as they are in this country, the new things from abroad are especially adaptable to American use. The new feathers are offered in long straight sweeps, the curling sprays and short tips, and the general effect is very similar to that of paradise. Bands of rhea in old blue, copper, gold and other colors, and sprays of coque in an exquisite flamingo shade are among the novel things to be seen here. Clever adaptations of ostrich and swan feathers are also fashioned into small sprays in combination with Nile green and old blue. Salmon pink and flamingo combinations also are seen.

Fairness Is the Keynote.

One of the outstanding features of the various cut-price sales of dry goods and apparel that are now going on in this and other cities, according to a man who is well versed in matters pertaining to the retail trade, is the fairness of the values and the scrupulousness of the retailers selling the goods. "While the cynical person will doubtless question it," he said, "I know for a fact that some of the retailers in question are not getting more than an even break on the sales goods, if they do that. In other words, they are not making a cent of profit for themselves on most of the things they are selling. These days the average shopper is so poorly posted on how to gauge values, particularly in the case of ready-made garments, that she could be easily imposed upon to the extent of $5 or $10 in buying a suit or dress. But I'll take my oath that it isn't being done."

BUSINESS NOTES.

French & Ward, manufacturers of woolens, 70-81 Church Street, will take new quarters on or about June 1 in the Albemarle Building at Broadway and Twenty-fourth Street. They have been in business since 1856 and through all the intervening period have been located in the heart of the downtown dry goods district.

Norman H. Bacon, President of the New York Fur Auction Sales Corporation, sailed on the Mauretania last Saturday on a combined business and pleasure trip to England and the Continent. He will return to this country about Aug. 1.

These accounts are now being represented in the local market by Joseph Hellbron, resident buyer, 220 Fifth Avenue; J. N. Mathews & Co., Chicago; Olean Apparel Co., Olean, N. Y.; Your Stores Co., Indianapolis, and the French Shop, Tampa, Fla.

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

JUDICIAL SALE

IN THE MATTER OF THE DOMINION PERMANENT LOAN COMPANY; and

IN THE MATTER OF THE WINDING UP ACT AND AMENDMENTS THERETO.

PURSUANT to the Winding Up Order made on the 6th day of February, 1918, tenders will be received up to the 18th day of June, 1920, for the purchase of:

1. Bonds secured by a Trust Deed covering all the real and personal property of the Spokane and British Columbia Railway Company, dated 25th day of April, 1905, being the total issue of bonds secured by the Trust Deed and amounting to $1,500,000.

2. Total issue of capital stock of said Company amounting to $10,000 with par value of $100 each.

Said bonds and shares comprise all securities issued by the said Railway, which commences at Danville on the line between the United States and Canada, near Grand Forks, B. C., and runs to Republic in the State of Washington, U. S. A., a distance of about thirty-six miles more or less. The Railway Company have power to complete their line from Republic to Spokane, and surveys of the proposed right of way have been completed. The track consists of 3,425 tons of sixty pound rails and 264 tons of fifty-six pound rails, and an equipment of:

3 Locomotives.
3 Combination Passenger and Baggage Cars.
13 Flat cars.
10 Dump cars.
2 Box cars.

All taxes, insurance, water rates and similar items are to be adjusted to the date of acceptance of tender.

Terms of payment will be ten per cent. (10%) of the amount tendered on the acceptance of tender, and the remainder of such tender in three, six and twelve months, with interest at six per cent per annum, secured to the satisfaction of the Liquidator.

Tenders will be opened at Osgoode Hall, Toronto on the 19th day of June, 1920, at 11 o'clock.

All tenders must be accompanied by a marked cheque payable to the Liquidator for ten per cent. (10%) of the amount tendered, which will be returned if the tender is not accepted and forfeited if the tender is accepted and not completed by the purchaser.

The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

The purchaser shall search the title at his own expense and the Liquidator is not required to furnish any abstract or produce any deeds, declarations or other evidence of title except those in his possession.

The purchaser shall have ten days in which to make any objection or requisition in respect of title and in case the purchaser shall at such time make any objection or requisition which the Vendor shall from any cause be unable or unwilling to remove or answer, the Liquidator may then rescind the sale, in which case the purchaser shall be entitled only to return of deposit money without interest, cost or compensation.

The conditions will be the standing conditions of sale of the Supreme Court of Ontario.

Further particulars as to the property and inventory may be had on application to the Liquidator, G. T. CLARKSON, 15 Wellington Street West, Toronto, Ont., A. B. BUCKWORTH, 407 Hastings Street North, Vancouver, B. C., or to BAIN, BICKNELL, MACDONELL & GORDON, Lumsden Building, Toronto, Solicitors for the Liquidator.

Dated at Toronto this 14th day of May, 1920.

FREIGHT CONGESTION BREAKS UP SLOWLY

Reports Indicate Cars on Sidings Have Been Reduced from 269,000 to 170,000.

STILL FAR FROM NORMAL

Formation of Local Organizations at Thirty Rail Centres Is Being Pressed.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The freight jam was declared tonight to be slowly yielding to the efforts concentrated on the mass of cars which was congesting the country's railroad yards. Reports to the American Railroad Association's Car Service Committee showed a reduction in car accumulation from 269,000 on April 24 to less than 170,000 last Friday.

While the battle to relieve the blockade has by no means been won, railroad officials said the indications of improvement were strong enough to indicate that the peak of the congestion has passed.

The Car Service Committee's reports gave the number of cars accumulated at the important terminals and gateways on various dates in the last thirty days as: April 24, 269,000; May 1, 235,000; May 8, 201,000; May 14, 184,000, and May 21, 170,000.

The figures also disclosed that on April 2, just prior to the unauthorized strike of switchmen, 93,000 cars constituted the congestion at all points. In twenty-two days it rose to the highest mark in the history of American railroading with 269,000 cars waiting on sidings, compared with 260,000 cars tied up at the height of the traffic jam during the winter of 1918.

Despite the brighter prospects efforts of the Interstate Commerce Commission to speed the work were not diminished today. Local organizations, to be known as Terminal Committees, were formed at thirty of the country's leading railroad centres and were instructed to keep the commission informed on every phase of their respective problems with a view to employing emergency powers granted by the transportation act.

Carrying out of the commission's order, a great exchange of equipment—coal card east and grain cars West—is to begin tomorrow. Railroads which were able to do so began, however, several days ago on their own initiative to effect an allocation of rolling stock to territory where it can be used to best advantage. The exchange is expected to be finished in about a month, and the improvement resulting from it to be felt in much sooner.

One of the principal benefits to be derived from the action of the local groups formed today is expected by railroad officials to result from delaying of shipments of non-essential commodities. Operating officials declared they must have help in staving off the insistent offering of freight and be allowed to clean up their tracks before throwing down the bars to all kinds of freight at all times.

Belief was expressed today by those watching the situation that work of the local committees would remove the necessity of embargoes. Effective work by the local organizations was declared to be equal to embargoes in holding up consignments and in "keeping all shippers in a good humor."

Boston Railroads Take Action.

BOSTON, May 24.—The three principal railroads entering this city appointed a committee today on car service to co-operate with the Interstate Commerce Commission in solving transportation problems.

The functions of the committee, it was explained, will be generally similar to those of terminal committees during the last part of Federal control, and it is also to study embargoes, open routes and possible re-routing, and to co-operate with local operating committees of carriers and to recommend when mandatory notice should be taken by the commission.

CHICAGO, May 24.—An operating committee representing all railroads entering Chicago, with J. H. Brinkerhoff, General Superintendent of the Chicago Belt Railway, as Chairman, was organized today at a meeting of railroad executives to devise railroad relief measures and to co-operate with other rail bodies in an effort to restore normal traffic conditions.

The meeting, called by R. H. Aishton, President of the American Railroad Association, and W. C. Kendall of Washington, Chairman of the Car Service Commission of the Association, was one of a number held in railroad centres throughout the country.

The Chicago Operating Committee, which will function through the office of M. B. Cassey, Chicago Chairman of the Car Service Commission, will meet within a few days to arrange a program for aiding in relieving the freight congestion.

DEFENDS CALL MONEY RATE.

Reserve Banks Not "Profiteering," Harding Tells Senator Owen.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Governor Harding of the Federal Reserve Board declared tonight in a letter to Senator Owen of Oklahoma that no remedy had been devised for the high call money rates prevailing in New York. The Reserve Board head, who was replying to certain criticisms of the board's action made by Senator Owen, said that, should the New York Reserve Bank decline to loan on Government bonds to the banks, which, in turn, loan to their customers on Stock Exchange collateral, as suggested by Mr. Owen, the result would be higher call money rates.

"It is interesting to note, however," Governor Harding wrote Senator Owen, "that the high rates of which you complain reached their peak in November, 1919, before the rediscount rates of the Reserve banks were raised, and that since the rates were advanced on Jan. 23 last, call money rates, with the exception of one or two temporary flurries, have ruled quite steadily around their present level."

Mr. Harding said he resented the "intimation that the Federal Reserve Banks are putting themselves in the attitude of profiteering."

"I cannot escape the conclusion," Mr. Harding wrote, "that were the Federal Reserve Banks to establish the stable low rate proposed by you, they would soon reach the limit of their available resources, beyond which point, you state, the expansion of credit, even for the most important purposes, is not justified." It seems to me that the adoption of the policy proposed by you would result in a wild scramble, with an enforced denial of credit after the first few days.

"The Board is insisting that all banks use a discriminating judment in making loans, giving preference to those which are necessary for the production and distribution of the basic necessities of life, such as clothing, food and fuel; but in the exercise of this discretion, it is necessary to have the restraining influence of a rate. It is idle to preach against excessive borrowings and then invite borrowings by an artificially low rate less than half the current market rate."

BUILDERS PURCHASE $1,300,000 CORNER

Julius Tishman & Sons Buy Twelve-Story Lofts at 280 Madison Avenue.

MRS. L. B. HYDE IS SELLER

Building Was Erected Four Years Ago on Site of Old Private House.

The big modern office building at 280 Madison Avenue, on a plot 55 by 120, at the southwest corner of Fortieth Street, was sold yesterday by Mrs. Lillie Babbitt Hyde to Julius Tishman & Sons, builders. The building was erected about four years ago on the site of the old Hyde residence, and is considered one of the best constructed office buildings in this section. It had been held at $1,300,000.

Hughes & Hammond negotiated the sale and also arranged a first mortgage. In 1915 Mrs. Hyde leased the projected improvement for twenty-one years to the International Correspondence School, which occupies about six floors of the building.

Big Lease Near Fifth Avenue.

In a twenty-one-year transaction calling for the payment of an aggregate rental of $1,700,000, the 247 Corporation, represented by Bing & Bing, leased from the Interstate Land Holding Company the thirteen-story building at 7 West Forty-seventh Street, on a plot 53 by 100, adjoining the corner of Fifth Avenue.

The Cross & Brown Company was the broker in the transaction. The building will be altered for office and showroom use by the new leasing corporation.

A $250,000 Purchase.

Front three estates represented by Abraham L. and Leo B. Gutman and Martin H. Goodkind, the five-story store and loft building at 452 Broadway and 14 to 16 Crosby Street was purchased by Frederick Brown through the Charles F. Noyes Company. The property covers an area of about 9,000 square feet and was valued at $250,000 and is the fourth property Mr. Brown has purchased in this section through the same brokers.

Greenwich Street Sale.

The Cross & Brown Company sold the six-story building at 491 and 493 Greenwich Street, between Canal and Spring Streets, to a client who will occupy the premises for his business. The property measures 44 by 90 feet. The selling price was in the neighborhood of $75,000.

Other Business Deals.

The Life Realty, Inc., bought the seven-story loft building at 127 and 129 Prince Street, northwest corner of Wooster Street, sold by the Kleinberg Corporation through John Finck.

The John P. Peel Company resold 210 and 212 West Twenty-eighth Street, two four-story buildings, on a plot 33.4 by 98.9, to Joseph R. Potter, who will improve and occupy.

Mildred B. Hanke sold to the D. Ullmeiss Holding Corporation the five-story building at 77 and 79 Bowery, on a plot 38 by 119 by irregular. The property is occupied by The Jewish Press.

The four-story loft at 194 Third Avenue, 20 by 100, has been sold by John E. Dunstan. It was to have been offered shortly at auction by Henry Brady.

The five-story building at the southwest corner of Sixth Avenue and Fiftieth Street, 23.5 by 102.2, has been sold by Elmio Del Salo to John Babling.

The Gus V. Berdet Butcher Supply Company purchased the four-story loft, 21 by 110.11, at 174 and 176 Pearl Street, from the Larned estate for $47,500.

NEW HOTEL DEAL.

Negotiations for the Manhattan Again Reported Pending.

The National City Company is again negotiating for the lease of the Hotel Manhattan, occupying the block front on the east side of Madison Avenue, from Forty-second Street to Forty-third Streets, from John McE. Bowman, according to reports yesterday, and intends to alter the property into an office building.

The Manhattan is fifteen stories high and covers a plot fronting 121 feet on Forty-second Street, 200 feet on Madison Avenue and 117 feet on Forty-third Street. It is owned by August Heckscher, who leased the property to Mr. Bowman in 1916 for a term of ten years, at a rental reported to be around $300,000 a year. Under the terms of the sublease, it is said, Mr. Bowman will receive $500,000, netting a profit of $200,000 a year.

The National City Company, which plans to occupy a large portion of the remodeled building, if the present deal matures, is said also to be seeking a twenty-one-year lease of the property from the owner, dating from the expiration of the Bowman lease. The uptown branch of the company is now located in the Ziegler Building at the southwest corner of Fifth Avenue and Forty-third Street.

Principals in the transaction declined to discuss it yesterday.

AUCTION TEST TODAY.

The vacant land market in Manhattan and Queens will be given a severe test today when Joseph P. Day conducts the auction sale of the unused realty of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company.

With the exception of a corner plot at City Island, all of the Interborough properties to be sold are directly along Interborough subway lines, at or adjacent to Interborough subway stations, in upper Manhattan, the west Bronx and Long Island City.

Because of the acuteness of the housing situation in New York and the outlook for a drop in the price of building materials, the most interesting offering is that of seven Broadway blocks, comprising 190 lots, of which 98 are on the east side of Broadway at 218th, 219th and 220th Streets, and at Ninth Avenue; also 92 on the west side of Broadway opposite Van Cortlandt Park, at 238th, 239th and 242d Streets, and in Spuyten Duyvil Parkway, at and between the 238th and 242d Street subway stations.

The attitude of the investing public toward unimproved real estate will be indicated by the results of the sale. Real estate men are awaiting the outcome with considerable interest.

Commercial Properties Sold.

The five-story business building at 68 Thomas Street, on plot 25 by 100 feet, has been sold by Daniel Birdsall & Co. to the Jas. F. Hughes Company. The brokers acted for the estate of J. R. Ford the six-story building at 22 White Street, on plot 37.6 by 100 feet, to E. M. Schwab, Jr., & Co.

Commercial Project Pending.

Negotiations are reported pending for the sale of the five-story building at 415 Madison Avenue, on a lot 19.6 by 100, between Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Streets to provide the site for a commercial improvement. The plot is owned by the 415 Madison Avenue Company, which organized it in 1914.

THE DORCHESTER
131 Riverside Drive, Corner of 85th St.

A 12-story building wonderfully located; only 11 out of 48 apartments are being sold. An opportunity is offered to tenant-owners to purchase 9 remaining apartments in suites of 6, 7, 8 and 9 rooms.

An investment of $14,000 to $21,000 should practically assure free rent the first year, with excellent dividends the following years. The price and rentals of the property are low, and the entire proposition has been thoroughly investigated and approved by legal and real estate experts as to the question of values, rents, tax exemptions, etc.

LE "PETIT CHÂTEAU" A VENDRE

An exquisite replica in miniature of a sunlit French country home on the heights of the Rhone, boldly built on the crest of Sunset Ridge, overlooking the most beautiful lake-land country of New Jersey, where every window frames a picture of wonderful scenery. There are nine immense rooms, 3 tiled baths, a garage, large grounds attractively planted. From a nearby express station on the country's best commuting railroad one can get to Manhattan within the hour. The neighborhood is occupied almost exclusively by New York City business men, and affords every city advantage for comfortable living. Title may be had on the payment of $5,000. Balance of $13,500 can be arranged on mortgages. This unique and superbly located property, complete in every detail, is going for two-thirds its real value. Nothing to equal it within 200 miles of N. Y. City. Nothing exactly like it in the world today. A complete résumé with illustrations may be obtained from Manager, Post Office Box 1107, City Hall Station, New York City.

Wills for Probate.

CARLEY, ELDRED A. (April 30 last). The will carries bequests of $1,000 each to the New York Association for the Blind and to the Baptist Home for the Aged, at 118 East Sixty-eighth Street, and $500 to the Washington Heights Baptist Church, at 430 West 145th Street. Other bequests are of $30,000 and the residuary estate to Emma A. Halsey, a sister, of 58 East 177th Street, the Bronx; $25,000 each to a nephew, Benjamin L. Carley, of 302 West Twenty-second Street, and a niece, Lillian M. Feaheon, of 62 Whitney Road, Quincy, Mass., and $15,000 each to two nieces, Georgiana W. Halsey of Tarkio, Mo., and Eldred A. Halsey of 58 East 177th Street, and to a nephew, Carley C.W. Halsey, of the 177th Street address. The Brooklyn Trust Company is executor.

LYNDE, ELIZABETH B. (May 18 last). Will establishes a $150,000 trust fund for the benefit of her son, Charles Bellin, of 975 Park Avenue, the income to be paid to him during life, and the principal on his death to his next of kin. The family residence, 54 East Fifty-fourth Street, is left to a daughter, Augusta Lynde Du Val, of 975 Park Avenue, and a sum equal to the value of this house is directed to be paid to another daughter, Charlotte Lynde Hobson, of 31 East Ninety-second Street. The farms at Stockbridge, Mass., and at Keene Valley, N. Y., are bequeathed to the son and two daughters. The residuary estate is divided equally between the two daughters.

Estates Appraised.

GOODMAN, ALBERT (April 8, 1919). Total assets, $89,971; net estate, $82,711—real estate, $8,550; cash, $13,765; stocks and bonds, $67,656. His brother, Henry Goodman, of Hotel Marseilles receives $66,211; his sister, Mrs. Simon D. Brugunder, of Baltimore, $7,500, and eight other relatives receive bequests of $1,000 each.

HOROWITZ, BERTHA J. (July 17, 1919). Total assets, $74,596; net estate, $72,818—cash, $10,365, personal, $1,174; stocks and bonds, $52,555, the largest holding being Liberty bonds, $7,050. Her husband, Otto Horowitz, of Hotel Anconia, receives $1,505.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Unsettled weather continues over the northern districts east of the Mississippi River, with light local showers, and during Monday it extended into the East Gulf States, Tennessee and Western North Carolina. There were also local showers in Arkansas, Northern Louisiana, Missouri, North Dakota and the Far Northwest. Elsewhere the weather was generally fair.

It is warmer in the Plains States and the Southwest, and generally cooler east of the Mississippi River, with temperatures well below the seasonal average in the Atlantic States as far south as North Carolina. Temperatures are also moderately low in the Pacific States.

Local showers are probable Tuesday in the Middle and South Atlantic States, and by Wednesday in the North Upper Lake Region, but with these exceptions, the weather will be generally fair Tuesday and Wednesday east of the Mississippi River with, however, considerable cloudiness in the Atlantic States. Temperature changes will not be important.

FORECAST.

New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania—Partly cloudy Tuesday, probably light showers. Wednesday, partly cloudy.

Eastern New York and New England—Unsettled Tuesday. Wednesday, partly cloudy.

Western New York and Western Pennsylvania—Partly cloudy Tuesday. Wednesday, fair, little change in temperature.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at 11 P. M., taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

	1920.	1919.		1920.	1919.
3 A. M.	53	57	4 P. M.	57	80
6 A. M.	50	56	6 P. M.	54	70
9 A. M.	51	65	9 P. M.	54	65
12 M.	53	69	11 P. M.	55	62

This thermometer is 414 feet above the street level. The average temperature yesterday was 54; for the corresponding date last year it was 64; average on the corresponding date for the last thirty-three years, 62.

The temperature at 8 A. M. yesterday was 50; at 8 P. M. it was 54. Maximum temperature, 60 degrees at 4:20 P. M.; minimum, 49 degrees at 7 A. M. Humidity, 82 per cent at 8 A. M.; 52 per cent. at 8 P. M.

The barometer at 8 A. M. yesterday registered 30.17 inches; at 8 P. M. it stood at 30.12 inches.

PRIEST BARES NOTE ON BECKER 'FRAMEUP'

Father J. B. Curry Says Goldman Offered to "Tell the Truth" Five Years Ago.

GRAND JURY QUIZ TOMORROW

Charges Against Prosecutor Smith to be Investigated—Hirshfield Called as Witness.

Father J. B. Curry, pastor of the Church of the Holy Name, at 207 West Ninety-sixth Street, the spiritual adviser of Police Lieut. Charles Becker, who died in the electric chair for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, yesterday entered the controversy created by the testimony of Jacob L. Goldman, who asserted he had helped "frame up" Becker and that Assistant District Attorney Smith had sought to induce him to give perjured testimony against Augustus Drum Porter, former Deputy Police Commissioner.

Father Curry sent to Commissioner of Accounts Hirshfield the following letter which he had received the day before Becker was put to death:

"July 28, 1915.

"Reverend Sir: I was a witness against Becker. I am willing to tell the truth now, as I know Becker is innocent. Please come and see me and I will tell you the whole story. Becker was framed up. Very respectfully,

"JACOB GOLDMAN, the Tombs."

In sending this letter to Commissioner of Accounts Hirshfield, Father Curry wrote:

"It might be interesting to you to know that the claim now made by Jacob Goldman that Becker was framed up, he made five years ago, so that his claim now is no absolute result of the circumstances in which he now finds himself placed."

"It's Too Late Now," Said Becker.

Father Curry said he had received the letter just as he was preparing to catch a train to Sing Sing, to be with Becker on the night before his death, and that he had had no time to see Goldman then. When he told Becker of the letter, Becker said:

"It's too late now. Why didn't he speak before?"

Father Curry said that he had never seen Goldman and had never made the letter public before, because Becker was dead before he had any opportunity to use it.

"Charles Becker was an innocent man," he said. "When I took leave of him for the last time before his death, he burst into tears, put his arm around me and said, 'Father, I ask you one thing, that is to do what you can to clear my name.' I have never forgotten his words and I hope that I will live to see the day when his memory will be vindicated."

The Extraordinary Grand Jury on Wednesday will begin to investigate the charges made by Bernard Freedman, now awaiting trial for perjury, and Jacob Goldman, who corroborated some of the Freedman charges and added many to them.

Whitman Offers to Testify.

Denying there was the slightest ground for charging anything improper in the prosecution of Charles Becker, Charles S. Whitman, former Governor and former District Attorney, told District Attorney Swann yesterday he would testify or assist in any investigation which Judge Swann decided to make. Mr. Swann said he was not contemplating any investigation of the Becker "frame-up" charge; he was seeking only to discover evidence regarding crimes of recent date.

The Extraordinary Grand Jury will investigate assertions of Goldman and Freedman that Mr. Smith sought to get them to testify falsely against Henry and Porter. An effort also will be made to find out whether Goldman and Freedman had any motive for attempting to "frame up" Mr. Smith. Commissioner of Accounts Hirshfield and members of his staff; Joseph Faurot, Third Deputy Police Commissioner, and George P. Nicholson, Assistant Corporation Counsel, are among those subpoenaed as witnesses. Charles A. Perkins, former District Attorney, and Frederick Groehl, former Assistant District Attorney, also will be called. They are expected to testify that Mr. Smith was not assigned to the prosecution of Louis Sarner, who is alleged to have paid a bribe to escape punishment on the charge of maintaining a disorderly resort.

SLUMP IN BARBER BUSINESS.

Bosses Say Customers Fear Disorder as Result of Strike.

Fear of disorder in barber shops involved in the strike has caused such a slump in barber business that boss barbers are refusing to put back to work the hundreds of striking barbers who have asked to be reinstated, according to A. J. Praitano, President of the Central Body of Master Barbers.

Meanwhile the boss barbers, he said, are continuing their campaign for the formation of new locals, six new ones being organized in Manhattan and the Bronx since the strike started, a week ago, making a total of twelve in the two boroughs. Mr. Praitano said he believed the strike would end by the latter part of the week with the men all back under the old conditions.

On the other hand, union officials contend that the strikers are returning to work under new contracts giving better wages and better working conditions. They say they have effected settlement for 2,500 of the 7,000 men it was asserted went out on strike.

In a statement yesterday Leon Worthall, international organizer, denied the the increase in wages demanded would mean increased prices. He also denied that journeymen barbers are making an average of $60 a week in the business and theatrical sections. "Victory is expected all over the city by next Friday night," Mr. Worthall continued. "The effect of the picketing is responsible for this outlook."

5 HELD IN FITZPATRICK CASE

Witnesses to Shooting Identify Two of the Suspects.

The five men arrested on suspicion of implication in the fatal shooting of Detective John E. Fitzpatrick by automobile thieves last Thursday evening, were held without bail yesterday by Magistrate Norman J. Marsh in Yorkville Court. Witnesses testified that they had seen Louis Galgano, of 27 Macdougal Street in a restaurant at the time of the shooting, but at the request of Assistant District Attorney William O'Shaughnessy, Magistrate Marsh held him with the rest. The other prisoners held were Francis Del Franco of 256 West Thirty ninth Street, Louis Basile of 181 Mulberry Street, and Dennis Reynolds and Isadore Hellman of 130 West Forty-seventh Street.

James Hambrose, an elevator operator at 15 West Fifty-fifth Street, said he could identify one of the prisoners as having been in the automobile. Another witness, a woman, said she recognized another of the prisoners by his form and general appearance although she admitted she had not seen his face.

HOME BUILDING PLAN ATTACKED IN COURT

Declares Union Concern Seeks to Do Banking Business Without Proper Authority or Tax.

County Clerk William F. Schneider asked Supreme Court Justice Tierney yesterday for an order striking from the files of the County Clerk's office all papers referring to the Union Home Builders, said to be engaged in selling stock at 110 West Thirty-fourth Street, on the ground that the filing of the papers is made the basis for conducting a business without lawful authority. The concern defended its action in filing the papers. After hearing ex-Justice James A. Allen, counsel for the County Clerk, the Court reserved decision.

The documents which the County Clerk wants stricken from the records are an "agreement and declaration of trust" of the Union Home Builders, of which Claude Rothery, Fred C. Weeks and Willis B. Davidge are named as Trustees. The papers showed the object of the home builders was to do a general building and loan association business for its members in building homes in California, which, Mr. Allen contended, amounted to doing a banking business without proper authority and without paying a corporation tax, merely by paying a fee of 25 cents for the filing of the papers in the County Clerk's office. Mr. Allen contended that the buyers of shares are led to believe that the organization is authorized by the State of New York, "whereas the concern has merely filed the declaration of trust and holds the County Clerk's file number for it."

Mr. Schneider states that the declaration was first filed Nov. 11 last, and on the same day an amended declaration was offered. A second amended declaration was filed April 20 last, in which the purposes of the original declaration were amplified. The County Clerk states that all three documents were accepted for filing in violation of his instructions that such declarations of trust were not filiable.

The declarations filed by the Union Home Builders states that the Trustees are authorized to purchase lands in California and to erect buildings thereon, but are not to be held liable for any acts they may do collectively. They are authorized to raise $500,000 by selling 500,000 shares of stock at $1 a share, and may dispose of bonds, gold notes, debentures and other evidences of indebtedness. The agreement also provides that the "shareholders under the provisions of this agreement and declaration of trust do not hereby enter into co-partnership of any kind, nor do they render themselves subject to the laws governing co-partnerships," although the Trustees are authorized to adopt a seal.

House Refuses to Drop Free Seeds.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The House refused today, 204 to 107, to eliminate from the Agricultural Appropriation Bill $229,000 for distribution of free seeds and the bill went back to conference, the Senate having previously instructed its conferees not to accept the free seeds item.
